Dividends are taxable as "qualified dividend income" to the extent paid out of a stockholder's pro rata share of PriceSmart's current or accumulated earnings and profits for U.S. tax purposes. Any portion of the distribution in excess of each holder's pro rata share of PriceSmart's earnings and profits will be treated first as a tax-free return of capital to the extent of each stockholders' tax basis in his, her or its shares of PriceSmart common stock, with any remaining portion treated as capital gain.

The Company has updated its determination of the tax treatment for the distributions referenced above, as follows:

Payment Date	Qualified Dividend Income	Return of Capital or Capital Gain
April 30, 2008	24.37%	75.63%
October 31, 2008	4.48%	95.52%
February 27, 2009	4.48%	95.52%

February 26, 2010	82.69%	17.31%
August 31, 2010	82.69%	17.31%

With respect to the distribution on April 30, 2008, stockholders received Forms 1099-DIV indicating that 54.22% of the distribution was qualified dividend income, as originally disclosed in the Form 8-K filed on March 9, 2009. However, PriceSmart has subsequently determined that only 24.37% of the distribution was qualified dividend income. The Company will advise its transfer agent and request that amended Forms 1099-DIV be issued to stockholders in order to reflect the updated portion of the April 30, 2008 distribution that is to be treated as qualified dividend income as detailed above.

With respect to the distribution on October 31, 2008, stockholders initially received Forms 1099-DIV indicating that 100% of the distribution was qualified dividend income. As disclosed in the Form 8-K filed on May 3, 2010, PriceSmart requested its transfer agent to amend Forms 1099-DIV to indicate that only 18.56% of this distribution was qualified dividend income. However, PriceSmart has subsequently determined that only 4.48% of the distribution was qualified dividend income. The Company will advise its transfer agent and request that amended Forms 1099-DIV be issued to stockholders in order to reflect the updated portion of the October 31, 2008 distribution that is to be treated as qualified dividend income as detailed above.

With respect to the distributions on February 27, 2009 and August 31, 2009, stockholders initially received Forms 1099-DIV indicating that 20% of the distribution was qualified dividend income. As disclosed in the Form 8-K filed on May 3, 2010, PriceSmart requested its transfer agent to amend Forms 1099-DIV to indicate that only 18.56% of this distribution was qualified dividend income. However, PriceSmart has subsequently determined that only 4.48% of these distributions were qualified dividend income. The Company will advise its transfer agent and request that amended Forms 1099-DIV be issued to stockholders in order to reflect the updated portion of the February 27, 2009 and August 31, 2009 distributions that is to be treated as qualified dividend income as detailed above.

With respect to the distributions on February 26, 2010 and August 31, 2010, stockholders initially received Forms 1099-DIV indicating that 100% of the distribution was qualified dividend income. However, PriceSmart has subsequently determined that only 82.69% of these distributions were qualified dividend income. The Company will advise its transfer agent and request that amended Forms 1099-DIV be issued to stockholders in order to reflect the updated portion of the February 26, 2010 and August 31, 2010 distributions that is to be treated as qualified dividend income as detailed above.

The determination of the portion of the dividends that will be treated as taxable dividends does not impact the Company's ability to pay dividends to stockholders, nor does it impact the Company's reported earnings.

Stockholders are urged to consult with their own tax advisors to determine the basis in their shares of common stock and the tax consequences of the distribution, including any state, local or foreign tax considerations.
