^A Rule 144a Security A security purchased pursuant to Rule 144a under the Securities Act of 1933 which may not be resold subject to that rule except to qualified institutional buyers. This security represents 0.3% of net assets.

^B Treasury Inflation-Protected Security Treasury security whose principal value is adjusted daily in accordance with changes to the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers. Interest is calculated on the basis of the current adjusted principal value.

- C Collateral to cover futures and options contracts.
- D Yankee Bond A dollar-denominated bond issued in the U.S. by foreign entities.
- E Stepped coupon security A security with a predetermined schedule of interest or dividend rate changes, at which time it begins to accrue interest or pay dividends.
- F Indexed security The rates of interest earned on these securities are tied to the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR), the Consumer Price Index (CPI), or the one-year Treasury Bill rate. The coupon rates are the rates as of March 31, 2005.
- G Par shown represents actual number of contracts

Security Valuation

Securities owned by the Fund for which market quotations are readily available are valued at current market value. Current market value means the last sale price of the day or, in the absence of any such sales, the bid price obtained from quotation reporting systems, pricing services or other approved methods. Other assets and securities for which no quotations are readily available are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board of Trustees or persons acting under their supervision. The factors considered in making such valuations are subject to change over time and are reviewed periodically. The values assigned to fair valued investments are based on available information and do not necessarily represent amounts that might ultimately be realized, since such amounts depend on future developments inherent in long-term investments. Further, because of the inherent uncertainty of valuation, such estimated values may differ significantly from the values that would have been used had a ready market for the investments existed, and the differences could be material. Securities with remaining maturities of 60 days or less are generally valued at a readily available market price, or, if a market price is not readily available, fair valued at amortized cost.

Options and Futures

The current market value of an exchange traded option is the last sale price or, in the absence of a sale, the price obtained by reference to broker-dealer quotations. Futures contracts are valued daily at the settlement price established by the board of trade or exchange on which they are traded. Futures contracts are marked-to-market on a daily basis. As the contract's value fluctuates, payments known as variation margin are made by or received by the Fund each day, depending on the daily fluctuations in the value of the contract. The daily changes in contract value are recorded as unrealized gains or losses, and the Fund recognizes a gain or loss when the contract is closed.

Other information regarding the Fund is available in the Fund's most recent Report to Shareholders. This information is available on the Securities and Exchange Commission's website (www.sec.gov).

Item 2 Controls and Procedures

- (a) The principal executive and principal financial officers of Western Asset/Claymore U.S. Treasury Inflation Protected Securities Fund (the Registrant) have concluded, based on their evaluation of the Registrant's disclosure controls and procedures as of a date within 90 days of the filing date of this report, that the Registrant's disclosure controls and procedures are reasonably designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the Registrant on Form N-Q is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the required time periods in the Securities and Exchange Commission's rules and forms and that information required to be disclosed by the Registrant in the reports that it files or submits on Form N-Q is accumulated and communicated to the Registrant's management, including its principal executive and principal financial officers, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

- (b) There were no changes in the Registrant's internal control over financial reporting during the Registrant's last fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the internal control over financial reporting.
