Domestic Market

Domestic supply in February recorded a substantial 19.2% year-on-year decline, chiefly due to the halting of operations with 737-300 aircraft (end of Webjet's activities) and the rerouting of domestic capacity to international operations.

The domestic market load factor declined by 0.9 percentage points (p.p.) over February 2012 to 64.9%. Demand dropped 20.3% from February 2012.

International Market

International market supply grew by 29.7% over February 2012, fueled by the daily operations to Santo Domingo and the United States (Miami and Orlando). In the same period, demand climbed by 10.1%.

The international load factor fell by 10.2 p.p., due to the maturation period of the new routes which began operating at the end of 2012.
