Dear Investor,

I am writing to you today about your investment in GE Interest Plus. On February 14, 2011, GE Interest Plus will be introducing a new lower rate tier for investments that exceed $5 million. Because you maintain more than $5 million in your investment account, this change will impact you.

GE Interest Plus is designed for individuals and small businesses and provides General Electric Capital Corporation (GE Capital) with an additional source of funds. In recent years, GE Interest Plus has attracted some high dollar investments, which tend to be volatile. Such volatility increases the concentration risk of the GE Interest Plus pool and dictates an increase in liquidity reserves. GE Capital is making this change to continue to attract investment, while mitigating concentration risk and reducing liquidity reserve requirements.

The new rate tier is designed to encourage investors to maintain investments in amounts below $5 million and will only apply to the portion of your investment that is greater than $5 million. The first $5 million of your personal or business investment will continue to earn the highest GE Interest Plus rate available for such investments. Current rates appear at our website, www.geinterestplus.com.

The GE Interest Plus rate committee will set the rate tier applicable to investment amounts greater than $5 million on February 14, 2011. Revised rates will be posted to our website on the same day and will also be reflected on your February 25, 2011 statement.

Thank you for your continued investment in GE Interest Plus.

Sincerely,

GE Interest Plus
