NOTE A NATURE OF BUSINESS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue Recognition

Revenue on time-and-material contracts is recognized based upon time (at established rates) and other direct costs incurred.

The Company recognizes revenues from long-term contracts on the percentage of completion method, measured by the percentage of costs incurred to date to estimated total costs for each contract. If actual and estimated costs to complete a contract indicate a loss, a provision is made currently for the anticipated loss on the contract.

Contract costs include all direct material, labor costs, and other direct costs related to contract performance. Overhead and general and administrative costs are charged to expense as incurred.

Revenues recognized in excess of amounts billed, is reported as an asset; Costs and Estimated Earnings in Excess of Billings on Uncompleted Contracts . Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts at high credit quality financial institutions. The balances, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses on such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash.

Income Taxes

Effective August 2, 1991, the Company elected under the Internal Revenue Code to be a Subchapter S Corporation. In lieu of corporation income taxes, the stockholders of an S Corporation are taxed on their proportionate share of the Company's taxable income, except for states that do not recognize the Subchapter S Corporation status.
