MIND CTI Announces a Change in Cash Management Policy

MIND will record a one-time financial expense of approximately $1.3 million Investment strategy since March 2002 has resulted in surplus in net financial income of approximately $4 million

Yoqneam, Israel, June 8, 2006 - MIND C.T.I. LTD. (NASDAQ: MNDO), a leading provider of convergent end-to-end billing and customer care solutions for medium size service providers worldwide, today announced that it has withdrawn two of its three $10 million structured deposits and placed the cash in risk-free bank deposits. The financial expense arising from this transaction is expected to be approximately $1.3 million in this quarter. MIND's cash position remains strong with over $35 million.

Monica Eisinger, Chairperson and CEO, commented: "We believe that when the interest rates were at very low levels, our investment strategy was the right one. By investing in the structured deposits from March 2002 until now, we earned interest in the aggregate amount of approximately $8.5 million, which (after deducting the current one-time penalty for withdrawal at this time) is approximately $4 million more than we would have earned had we invested that cash in standard bank deposits during the same period. We now estimate that there is a risk that the long-term structured deposits will continue to bear no interest for the foreseeable future. Therefore, we have decided to reduce the risk by withdrawing two seven-year deposits and converting them to highly-liquid bank deposits."

Since March 2002, MIND has deposited most of its cash in structured, callable time deposits. Under the arrangements with the banks, whether or not the deposits bear interest depends upon the prevailing US dollar LIBOR rates. Interest is payable in respect of days during which the US dollar LIBOR is within a certain range and no interest is payable in respect of days during which it exceeds the range. The banks had the option to call the deposits periodically and new arrangements were reached every few months. In November 2004, MIND deposited three amounts of $10 million each, two of them for seven years and one for a ten-year period, with similar terms. Due to the increase in the six-month LIBOR, since May 20, 2005 these deposits have not earned any interest.

Ms. Eisinger added: "Regarding our business, as previously stated, we see a strong revival in the US markets and increased interest in the emerging markets. We are active in all these areas and since the beginning of the quarter we have won new business both in the US and in Eastern Europe. We believe that there are three major catalysts to our business: the MVNO market with new players surfacing, the replacement of old billing solutions driven by the multiple services offerings by carriers, which require new platforms for billing, and the Next Gen Networks that are being built by carriers in emerging markets. We believe that MIND is well positioned in these three niches, and we are focusing on forming more partnerships and on winning more significant deals."
