Part III - Narrative

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q,10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

On February 7, 2017, the Indiana Court of Appeals affirmed summary judgment in the matter of Wilmoth et al v. Celadon Trucking Services, Inc., a subsidiary of the registrant, regarding a complaint that was originally filed in 2013. As previously disclosed in the registrant's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, this matter was a contingency with no reserve accrued because an unfavorable result was not deemed probable. Although the registrant intends to further appeal the matter, there is no assurance the Indiana Supreme Court would accept the appeal. Accordingly, the registrant assessed that the likelihood of a favorable outcome has now decreased and anticipates accruing between approximately $4.5 million and $5.0 million, pretax, in respect of this matter. Due to the timing of the Indiana Court of Appeals decision, and the need to determine the amount of, and record, the accrual in the registrant's financial statements, as well as update related disclosures, the registrant's filing of its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for its second fiscal quarter ended December 31, 2016 will be delayed.

Yes No

If answer is no, identify report(s).

3. Is it anticipated that any significant change in results of operations from the corresponding period for the last fiscal year will be reflected by the earnings statements to be included in the subject report or portion thereof?

Other than the accrual and related expenses, including income taxes, in respect of the judgment described above, the registrant presently expects that the statement of operations to be included in the Form 10-Q will be consistent with the statement of operations accompanying the registrant's press release dated February 1, 2017, attached as Exhibit 99.1 to its Form 8-K furnished to the Securities and Exchange Commission on February 2, 2017.
