Item 8.01. Other Events.

We expect to announce our U.S. sales for the month of March 2010 on April 1, 2010. We presently expect that U.S. sales of Ford, Lincoln and Mercury brand vehicles in March 2010 will be higher than in March 2009 by a percentage amount that is consistent with the year-over-year percentage increases in sales we have experienced in the last few months. March is not yet complete, and our sales estimate is therefore preliminary, based on information available to us as of this date and subject to change.

As previously disclosed, due to concerns about instability in the capital markets and the uncertain state of the global economy, on February 3, 2009, we borrowed all available committed loans under our senior secured revolving credit facility to ensure access to these funds. At December 31, 2009, our revolving credit facility totaled $8.1 billion, of which $7.9 billion was utilized (including $418 million to support letters of credit). In light of the improved state of the capital markets and global economic conditions, we have notified JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., as administrative agent under our amended and restated credit agreement, that we will prepay $3 billion of revolving loans on April 6, 2010, although such amounts will remain available for borrowing as the commitments of the revolving lenders will not be reduced.
