On November 16, 2010, the Board of Directors of Baldwin Technology Company, Inc. (the “Company”) unanimously elected Paul J. Griswold to fill a newly-created vacancy in Class III on the Company’s Board of Directors. As a Class III Director, his term will expire at the 2011 Annual Meeting of Stockholders. In addition, Mr. Griswold has been appointed to serve on the Audit, Compensation and Nominating Committees of the Board.

Mr. Griswold, age 58, currently has a private equity and board advisory practice specializing in developing strategic growth, margin improvement, supply chain channels and international business opportunities for middle market companies. From 2007 to 2009, Mr. Griswold was Chief Executive Officer of Havells-Sylvania Group, a $1.4 billion global electrical and lighting company. From 2004 to 2007, he served as CEO and a Director of SLI Holdings, a $850 million manufacturer of lamps and lighting fixtures. Mr. Griswold was a Director at Paxar Corporation, a global provider of printed bar codes, tracking solutions and radio frequency identification technology to the retail and apparel manufacturing industries, where he was President and COO from 2000 and 2001, and CEO from 2001 to 2003.

Mr. Griswold’s qualifications to serve as a Director include his extensive financial knowledge and education, his substantial international business experience in senior operational and management roles and his background in developing strategic growth plans for middle market companies with global operations.

As a non-employee Director of the Board, Mr. Griswold will be entitled to receive the same regular cash and equity compensation paid by the Company to each of its other non-employee Directors.
