RYANAIR CELEBRATES 1.6 MILLION FRENCH PASSENGERS WITH EUR 19.99 SEAT SALE

Ryanair, Europe's largest low fares airline today (Wednesday, 27th November 2002) announced that it will carry over 1.6 million passengers on its 14 routes to/from France this year making Ryanair the largest low fares airline in France. To celebrate this new milestone Ryanair announced that it would offer all of its seats for sale in the month of January at an amazing low fare of EUR 19.99 one way including tax.

Edgar Filing: RYANAIR HOLDINGS PLC - Form 6-K

Launching the seat sale in Paris today, Ryanair's Chief Executive, Michael O'Leary said:

"France was the first continental European country that Ryanair flew to in 1997 with our route from Dublin to Paris Beauvais. Since then the number passengers travelling between these two cities has more than doubled with Ryanair leading the way with its widely available low fares. With this firm foundation of massive success on our initial route, Ryanair has today built a network of 15 international routes to France and this year will carry over 1.6 million passengers in and out of the country. In particular, Ryanair has revived international links from many provincial airports which otherwise would only have Air France services to Paris.

"Ryanair's success is built on offering the lowest fares on every route with fare differentials of up to 90% against fares charged by Air France on the same route. On our newest route from Strasburg to London we have sold over 75% of the seats in the first month at fares which are 90% lower than those originally quoted by Air France. Already Air France have reduced their fares by EUR 500, but their fares still remain 3 to 4 times those of Ryanair. This is even more evidence that Ryanair is bringing choice, competition and a general reduction in airfares on every route that it flies.

"In order to celebrate the landmark of flying 1.6 million passengers in and out of France this year, we are announcing that we will offer every seat for sale for flying in January for EUR 19.99 one way including tax. When it comes to offering low fares on a widely available basis there is only one low fares airline and that is clearly Ryanair. We are not offering you 20% or even 50% of our seats at a low fare - we are offering every one of these seats, so book now as demand is going to be phenomenal and booking must end midnight on Friday the 28th of November'.
