MERGER PROPOSED YOUR VOTE IS VERY IMPORTANT

The boards of directors of Provident Financial Services, Inc. and First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc. have both unanimously approved the merger agreement between Provident and First Sentinel pursuant to which First Sentinel will be merged with and into Provident.

First Sentinel stockholders will have the opportunity to elect to receive merger consideration in the form of 1.092 shares of Provident common stock, a cash payment of $22.25, or a combination of Provident common stock and cash for each of their shares of First Sentinel common stock. However, because First Sentinel and Provident have agreed that 60% of the total number of shares of First Sentinel common stock outstanding will be exchanged for Provident common stock, regardless of your election, you may receive a combination of cash and shares of Provident common stock for your First Sentinel shares different than what you elected depending on the elections made by other First Sentinel stockholders. Based on the closing price of $20.37 per share of Provident common stock on December 19, 2003 (the business day immediately preceding the public announcement of the proposed merger), each share of First Sentinel common stock that is exchanged solely for Provident common stock would be converted into 1.092 shares of Provident common stock having a value of $22.24. Based on the closing price of $18.00 per share of Provident common stock on April 30, 2004, each share of First Sentinel common stock that is exchanged solely for Provident common stock would be converted into 1.092 shares of Provident common stock having a value of $19.66. We cannot give you any assurance as to whether or when the merger will be completed, and you are advised to obtain current market quotations for Provident common stock. The market value of Provident common stock will fluctuate prior to the completion of the merger. Provident common stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol PFS. First Sentinel common stock is listed on the Nasdaq National Market under the symbol FSLA.

The merger cannot be completed unless the stockholders of both companies approve the merger agreement. First Sentinel has scheduled an annual meeting so its stockholders can vote on the merger agreement, as well as vote on the election of three directors and the ratification of the appointment of First Sentinel's independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004. Provident's stockholders will vote on the merger agreement at Provident's annual meeting, as well as vote on the election of four directors and the ratification of the appointment of Provident's independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004. Each board of directors unanimously recommends that its stockholders vote FOR the merger agreement. First Sentinel's board of directors also recommends that its stockholders vote FOR First Sentinel's three nominees to the First Sentinel board of directors and FOR the ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP as its independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004. Provident's board of directors recommends that its stockholders vote FOR Provident's four nominees to the Provident board of directors. Provident also recommends that its stockholders vote FOR the ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP as its independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004.

This document serves two purposes. It is the proxy statement being used by both the First Sentinel board of directors and the Provident board of directors to solicit proxies for use at their annual meetings. It is also the prospectus of Provident regarding the Provident common stock to be issued to First Sentinel stockholders if the merger is completed. This document describes the merger in detail and includes a copy of the merger agreement as Appendix A.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE VOTING

PROCEDURES FOR THE ANNUAL MEETINGS

Q: WHAT DO I NEED TO DO NOW?

A: After you have carefully read this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, indicate on your proxy card how you want your shares to be voted, then sign and mail it in the enclosed postage-paid envelope as soon as possible so that your shares may be represented and voted at the Provident annual meeting or the First Sentinel annual meeting. If you sign and send in your proxy card and do not indicate how you want to vote, we will count your proxy card as a vote in favor of the merger agreement and the other proposals to be voted on at your company's annual meeting.

Q: WHY IS MY VOTE IMPORTANT?

A: If you do not return your proxy card at or prior to the appropriate annual meeting, it will be more difficult for Provident and First Sentinel to obtain the necessary quorum to hold their annual meetings. In addition, if you fail to vote, by proxy or in person, it will have the same effect as a vote against the merger agreement. The merger must be approved by the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Provident common stock entitled to vote at the Provident annual meeting and by the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of First Sentinel common stock entitled to vote at the First Sentinel annual meeting.

Q: HOW DO I VOTE?

A: You can vote by mail. For this method you will need to complete, sign, date and return your proxy card in the postage-paid envelope provided. You can also vote in person at your company's annual meeting.

Q: IF MY SHARES ARE HELD IN STREET NAME BY MY BROKER, WILL MY BROKER VOTE MY SHARES FOR ME?

A: Your broker can not vote on the merger proposal on your behalf without specific instructions from you. Your broker will vote your shares on the merger proposal only if you provide instructions on how to vote. You should follow the directions provided by your broker. Your broker can vote your shares on all other proposals without your instructions.

Q: WHAT IF I FAIL TO INSTRUCT MY BROKER?

A: If you fail to instruct your broker how to vote your shares on the merger proposal and the broker submits an unvoted proxy, the resulting broker non-vote will be counted toward a quorum at your company's annual meeting, but it will have the same effect as a vote against the merger agreement.

Q. I OWN SHARES OF BOTH FIRST SENTINEL AND PROVIDENT. SHOULD I ONLY VOTE ONCE?

A. No. If you own shares of both companies, you will receive separate proxy cards for each annual meeting. It is important that you vote at both meetings, so please complete, sign, date and return both proxy cards as instructed.

Q. CAN I ATTEND THE ANNUAL MEETING AND VOTE MY SHARES IN PERSON?

A. Yes. All stockholders are invited to attend their company's annual meeting. Stockholders of record can vote in person at the annual meeting. If a broker holds your shares in street name, then you are not the stockholder of record and you must ask your broker how you can vote at the annual meeting in person.

Q: CAN I CHANGE MY VOTE AFTER I HAVE MAILED MY SIGNED PROXY CARD?

A: Yes. If you have not voted through your broker, there are three ways for you to revoke your proxy and change your vote. First, you may send written notice to the Corporate Secretary of your company stating that you would like to revoke your proxy. Second, you may complete and submit a new proxy card. Third, you may vote in person at your company's annual meeting. If you have instructed a broker to vote your shares, you must follow the directions you receive from your broker to change your vote. Your last vote will be the vote that is counted.

Q: I AM A FIRST SENTINEL STOCKHOLDER. SHOULD I SEND IN MY FIRST SENTINEL STOCK CERTIFICATES NOW?

A: No. You should not send in your stock certificates at this time. We will separately send you an election form with instructions for exchanging your First Sentinel stock certificates.

Q: I AM A PROVIDENT STOCKHOLDER. DO I NEED TO DO ANYTHING WITH MY PROVIDENT STOCK CERTIFICATES?

A: No. Provident stockholders will not exchange their certificates in the merger. The certificates currently representing shares of Provident common stock will represent an equal number of shares of common stock of the combined company after the merger.

Q: WHEN DO YOU EXPECT TO MERGE?

A: We are working toward completing the merger as quickly as possible. We expect to complete the merger on or about June 30, 2004. However, we cannot assure you when or if the merger will occur. We must first obtain the approvals of stockholders of both Provident and First Sentinel and all necessary regulatory approvals.

Q: WHOM SHOULD I CALL WITH QUESTIONS OR TO OBTAIN ADDITIONAL COPIES OF THIS JOINT PROXY STATEMENT/PROSPECTUS?

Provident stockholders should call Georgeson Shareholder Communications, Inc. at (800) 377-0321 with questions or to obtain additional copies of this document. First Sentinel stockholders should call Georgeson Shareholder Communication, Inc. at (800) 368-9818 with questions or to obtain additional copies of this document.

First Sentinel stockholders will be offered the opportunity to elect to receive merger consideration in the form of 1.092 shares of Provident common stock, $22.25 in cash or a combination of Provident common stock and cash in exchange for each of their shares of First Sentinel common stock. All elections will be subject to the allocation and proration procedures described in the merger agreement. These procedures are intended to ensure that 60% of the total number of shares of First Sentinel common stock outstanding at the closing will be converted into Provident common stock and the remaining outstanding shares will be converted into cash. Therefore, regardless of a First Sentinel stockholder's election, a

Table of Contents

First Sentinel stockholder may actually receive a combination of cash and shares of Provident common stock for his, her or its First Sentinel shares that is different than what such stockholder elected depending on the elections made by other First Sentinel stockholders.

Election of Cash or Stock Consideration

No later than 40 days before the expected date of completion of the merger, Provident will send an election form to First Sentinel stockholders that you may use to indicate whether your preference is to receive cash, Provident common stock or a combination of cash and Provident common stock, or whether you have no preference regarding the consideration you would like to receive for your shares of First Sentinel common stock.

FIRST SENTINEL STOCKHOLDERS SHOULD NOT SEND IN THEIR STOCK CERTIFICATES UNTIL THEY RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS FROM THE PROVIDENT EXCHANGE AGENT.

The merger agreement contains allocation and proration provisions that are designed to ensure that 60% of the outstanding shares of common stock of First Sentinel will be exchanged for shares of Provident common stock and the remaining outstanding shares of common stock of First Sentinel will be exchanged for cash.

Therefore, if the holders of more than 60% of the outstanding First Sentinel common stock elect to receive Provident common stock for such shares, the amount of Provident common stock that each such stockholder would receive from Provident will be reduced on a pro rata basis. As a result, these First Sentinel stockholders will receive cash consideration for any First Sentinel shares for which they do not receive Provident common stock.

Similarly, if the holders of more than 40% of the outstanding First Sentinel common stock elect to receive cash for such shares, the amount of cash that each such stockholder would receive from Provident will be reduced on a pro rata basis. As a result, such stockholders will receive Provident common stock for any First Sentinel shares for which they do not receive cash.

THE DEADLINE FOR RETURNING THE ELECTION FORM IS THE CLOSE OF BUSINESS ON THE TWENTIETH BUSINESS DAY FOLLOWING THE MAILING DATE OF THE ELECTION FORM, NOT INCLUDING THE DATE OF MAILING, UNLESS FIRST SENTINEL AND PROVIDENT MUTUALLY AGREE UPON ANOTHER DEADLINE DATE. IF YOU DO NOT MAKE AN ELECTION PRIOR TO THE

ELECTION DEADLINE, YOU WILL BE ALLOCATED EITHER CASH OR PROVIDENT COMMON STOCK, OR A COMBINATION OF CASH AND PROVIDENT COMMON STOCK, DEPENDING ON THE ELECTIONS MADE BY OTHER FIRST SENTINEL STOCKHOLDERS.

Cash in Lieu of Fractional Shares

First Sentinel stockholders will not receive fractional shares of Provident common stock in the merger. Instead, they will receive, without interest, a cash payment equal to the fractional share interest they otherwise would have received, multiplied by the value of a share of Provident common stock. For this purpose, a share of Provident common stock will be valued at the average of its daily closing sales prices during the five consecutive trading days immediately preceding the completion date of the merger.

Dissenters' Rights for First Sentinel

Stockholders

Under the Delaware General Corporation Law, holders of First Sentinel common stock have the right to obtain an appraisal of the value of their shares of First Sentinel common stock in connection with the merger. To perfect appraisal rights, a First Sentinel stockholder must not vote for the adoption of the merger agreement and must strictly comply with all of the procedures required under Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law. These procedures are described more fully beginning on page 80.

We have included a copy of Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law as Appendix D to this document.

Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Merger

Provident and First Sentinel will not be required to complete the merger unless they receive legal opinions to the effect that the merger constitutes a tax-free reorganization for United States federal income tax purposes. We expect that, for United States federal income tax purposes, First Sentinel stockholders will generally not recognize any taxable gain or loss with respect to the exchange of their First Sentinel shares if they receive only Provident common stock (except for cash received in lieu of any fractional shares). If you receive only cash in exchange for your First Sentinel common stock, you will recognize a taxable gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the amount of cash received and your tax basis in your shares of First Sentinel common stock exchanged.

If you receive a combination of Provident common stock and cash in exchange for your shares of First Sentinel common stock, you will generally recognize a taxable gain (but not loss) in an amount equal to the lesser of:

(a) the excess, if any of:

(1) the sum of the cash and the fair market value of the Provident common stock you receive; over

Table of Contents

(2) your tax basis in the First Sentinel common stock exchanged in the merger; or

(b) the cash that you receive in the merger.

Your tax basis in the Provident common stock that you receive in the merger will equal your tax basis in the First Sentinel common stock you exchange in the merger, increased by the amount of any taxable gain you recognize in the merger.

Your holding period for the Provident common stock that you receive in the merger will include your holding period for the shares of First Sentinel common stock that you exchange in the merger.

If you acquired different blocks of shares of First Sentinel common stock at different times and at different prices, any taxable gain or loss you recognize will be determined separately with respect to each block of shares of First Sentinel common stock, and the cash and Provident common stock you receive will be allocated pro rata to each such block of First Sentinel common stock. In addition, your basis and holding period in your Provident common stock may be determined with reference to each block of First Sentinel common stock exchanged.

FIRST SENTINEL STOCKHOLDERS ARE URGED TO READ THE MORE COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF THE MERGER'S MATERIAL UNITED STATES FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES ON PAGE 75 AND TO CONSULT THEIR OWN TAX ADVISORS AS TO THE SPECIFIC TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE MERGER TO THEM UNDER APPLICABLE LAWS.

Treatment of First Sentinel Stock Options

In the merger, the outstanding and unexercised options to acquire First Sentinel common stock will be cancelled and all rights under the options will be extinguished in exchange for a cash payment determined by multiplying the number of shares of First Sentinel common stock subject to the option by an amount equal to $22.25 less the exercise price per share of the option.

Reselling the Provident Stock You Receive in the Merger

The shares of Provident common stock to be issued in the merger will be registered under the Securities Act of 1933. Except as noted below, stockholders may freely transfer those shares after they receive them. First Sentinel has identified certain of its directors, executive officers and others who may be deemed affiliates of First Sentinel, and those persons have entered into agreements with Provident restricting their ability to transfer the shares they will receive in the merger.

Differences in Stockholders' Rights

In the merger, each First Sentinel stockholder who receives Provident common stock will become a Provident stockholder. The rights of First Sentinel stockholders are currently governed by the Delaware General Corporation Law and First Sentinel's certificate of incorporation and by-laws. The rights of Provident stockholders are currently governed by the Delaware General Corporation Law and Provident's certificate of incorporation and by-laws. There are no material differences in the rights of First Sentinel and Provident stockholders. See page 84.

Reasons for the Merger

On January 15, 2003, The Provident Bank completed its conversion from the mutual to stock form of ownership. As part of the conversion, Provident raised approximately $600 million in new capital. Over the last several years, Provident has expanded its operations through branching (de novo and through acquisition). Provident identified First Sentinel as a merger candidate that would add to its franchise by expanding its banking operations in the central New Jersey market area, primarily in Middlesex County, New Jersey, which Provident believes is an attractive market area.

First Sentinel entered into the merger agreement at the conclusion of a process in which First Sentinel determined that a merger with Provident was in the best interests of its stockholders. The First Sentinel board of directors believes that the merger is fair to First Sentinel stockholders and that the combined entity will be better positioned for future success than if First Sentinel remains independent.

Opinion of Provident's Financial Advisor

Lehman Brothers Inc., Provident's financial advisor, rendered its opinion orally on December 18, 2003, subsequently confirmed in writing on December 19, 2003, to Provident's board of directors that, as of December 19, 2003, and based upon and subject to the matters stated in its opinion, from a financial point of view, the consideration to be paid by Provident in the merger with First Sentinel was fair to Provident.

A copy of the full text of Lehman Brothers' opinion, dated December 19, 2003, which discusses the assumptions made, factors considered and limitations upon the review undertaken by Lehman Brothers in rendering its opinion, is included as Appendix B to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. For information on how Lehman Brothers arrived at its opinion, see page 53. Holders of Provident common stock are encouraged to carefully read Lehman Brothers' opinion in its entirety. Lehman Brothers provided its opinion for the information and assistance of Provident's board of directors in connection with its consideration of the merger with First Sentinel. Lehman Brothers' opinion is not intended to be and does not constitute a recommendation to any holder of Provident common stock as to how such holder should vote in connection with the merger transaction.

Table of Contents

Pursuant to an engagement letter between Provident and Lehman Brothers, Provident agreed to pay Lehman Brothers a fee, the substantial portion of which is payable upon completion of the merger.

Opinion of First Sentinel's Financial Advisor

Sandler O'Neill & Partners, L.P., First Sentinel's financial advisor, has rendered its written opinion to First Sentinel's board of directors that, as of the date of this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and based upon and subject to the assumptions made, matters considered and qualifications and limitations stated in its opinion, the consideration to be received by First Sentinel's stockholders in the merger with Provident is fair to such stockholders from a financial point of view. Holders of First Sentinel common stock are encouraged to carefully read Sandler O'Neill's opinion in its entirety. A copy of the full text of Sandler O'Neill's fairness opinion is included as Appendix C to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. For information on how Sandler O'Neill arrived at its opinion, see page 44. Sandler O'Neill's opinion is not intended to be and does not constitute a recommendation to any holder of First Sentinel common stock as to how such holder should vote in connection with the merger transaction.

Pursuant to an engagement letter between First Sentinel and Sandler O'Neill, First Sentinel agreed to pay Sandler O'Neill a fee, the substantial portion of which is payable upon completion of the merger.

Financial Interests of First Sentinel's Directors and Officers in the Merger

Some of First Sentinel's directors and executive officers have interests in the merger that are in addition to their interests as stockholders. The Provident and First Sentinel boards of directors considered these interests in deciding to approve the merger agreement.

Provident has agreed that two current directors of First Sentinel, John P. Mulkerin and Jeffries Shein, will be appointed as directors of Provident and The Provident Bank when the merger is completed. In addition, during calendar year 2005, the boards of directors of Provident and The Provident Bank shall appoint either Christopher Martin, First Sentinel's President and Chief Executive Officer, or one of the members of the advisory board established as part of the merger as a director of Provident and of The Provident Bank for a term of office expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held following the year ending December 31, 2005. Provident will also establish an advisory board consisting of those persons, other than Mr. Martin, who currently serve on the board of directors of First Sentinel but will not join the Provident board of directors.

Table of Contents

Mr. Martin will be appointed President of Provident and The Provident Bank at the time the merger is completed. Mr. Martin has entered into an employment agreement with Provident, effective only upon the closing of the merger, that provides for an initial base salary of $365,000 and the ability to participate in Provident's compensation and benefit plans. In addition, Thomas M. Lyons, Richard Spengler and Nancy E. Graves will be offered management level positions at Provident and/or The Provident Bank, and each of such officers has entered into a two-year change in control agreement with Provident, effective only upon the closing of the merger.

In addition, Mr. Martin will receive a payment in consideration of the termination of his existing employment agreement with First Sentinel, and certain other executive and non-executive officers will receive a payment in consideration of the termination of their existing change in control agreements with First Sentinel.

In addition, certain First Sentinel non-executive officers will receive severance payments upon the completion of the merger.

Provident has agreed to indemnify the directors and officers of First Sentinel against certain liabilities for a six-year period following the completion of the merger.

For additional information on the benefits of the merger to First Sentinel's management, see page 65.

Conditions to the Merger

Completion of the merger is contingent on a number of conditions, including approval of the merger agreement by First Sentinel and Provident stockholders at their annual meetings.

Regulatory Approval

The merger is subject to the approval of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance and the non-objection of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. We have filed the applications required to obtain the necessary regulatory approvals. As of the date of this document, we have received the approval of the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance. We will file a waiver notice with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York after we receive the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation approval. Approval does not constitute an endorsement of the merger or a determination that the terms of the merger are fair to First Sentinel stockholders or Provident stockholders. For additional information regarding the required regulatory approvals, see page 70.

Terminating the Merger Agreement

First Sentinel will be required to pay Provident a termination fee in the amount of $24.0 million if, among other things, in connection with First Sentinel's receipt of a superior proposal (as defined in the merger agreement), First Sentinel (i) enters into an acquisition agreement with respect to such superior proposal, (ii) terminates the merger agreement or (iii) withdraws or adversely modifies its recommendation to its stockholders to vote in favor of the merger agreement.

Table of Contents

Additionally, if the average of the daily closing sales prices of Provident common stock for the twenty consecutive trading days immediately preceding the first date on which all regulatory approvals have been received is less than $16.30 and the decline in value of Provident common stock relative to the change in value of an index of financial institution holding companies over a similar period exceeds 17.5%, then First Sentinel can terminate the merger agreement unless Provident increases the consideration to be received by the holders of First Sentinel common stock utilizing the formula agreed to in the merger agreement. See Section 11.1.9 of the merger agreement for the specific formula referenced above. The merger agreement also may be terminated by either First Sentinel or Provident if the merger has not occurred by September 30, 2004. First Sentinel will not be required to pay a termination fee in either circumstance. For a more complete description of these and other termination rights available to First Sentinel and Provident, see page 72.

Amending the Merger Agreement

The merger agreement may be amended by the written consent of Provident and First Sentinel at any time prior to the completion of the merger. However, under applicable law, an amendment that reduces the amount or value, or changes the form of, the merger consideration payable to First Sentinel stockholders cannot be made following adoption of the merger agreement by First Sentinel stockholders without their approval.

Purchase Accounting Treatment of the Merger

Provident will account for the merger as a purchase for financial reporting purposes.

First Sentinel has Agreed Not to Solicit Alternative Transactions

In the merger agreement, First Sentinel has agreed not to initiate, solicit or knowingly encourage, negotiate with, or provide any information to any person other than Provident concerning an acquisition transaction involving First Sentinel or First Savings Bank. This restriction may deter other potential acquirors of control of First Sentinel. However, First Sentinel may take certain of these actions if its board of directors determines that it should do so in order to fulfill its fiduciary duties. This determination by the First Sentinel board of directors must be made after the First Sentinel board of directors consults with its legal counsel.

SELECTED CONSOLIDATED HISTORICAL FINANCIAL DATA OF PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES, INC.

On January 15, 2003, The Provident Bank completed its conversion from a mutual savings bank to a stock savings bank, and in connection with the conversion, Provident sold 59,618,300 shares of common stock at $10.00 per share, which resulted in $586.4 million of net proceeds, of which $293.1 million was used to acquire all of the outstanding common stock of The Provident Bank. In addition, Provident contributed $4.8 million in cash and 1,920,000 shares of its common stock to The Provident Bank Foundation. This information is only a summary, and you should read it in conjunction with Provident's consolidated financial statements and notes thereto contained in Provident's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003, which has been incorporated by reference into this document. UNAUDITED COMBINED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED PRO FORMA FINANCIAL DATA

(In thousands, except share and per share amounts)

The following table shows information regarding our financial condition and operations, including per share data and financial ratios, after giving effect to the merger. This information is called pro forma information in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. The table sets forth the information as if the merger had become effective on December 31, 2003, with respect to financial condition data, and at the beginning of the periods presented, with respect to operations data. The pro forma data in the tables assume that the merger is accounted for using the purchase method of accounting. The fair value adjustments contained in the pro forma financial data are preliminary estimates based on data as of December 31, 2003. Final fair value adjustments will be determined as of the closing date and could differ significantly. See Proposal I The Proposed Merger Accounting Treatment on page 79. This table should be read in conjunction with, and is qualified in its entirety by, the historical financial statements, including the notes thereto, of Provident and First Sentinel incorporated by reference in this document.

We anticipate that the merger will provide the combined company with financial benefits that include reduced operating expenses. The pro forma information, while helpful in illustrating the financial characteristics of the combined company under one set of assumptions, does not reflect the benefits of expected cost savings or opportunities to earn additional revenue and, accordingly, does not attempt to predict or suggest future results. It also does not necessarily reflect what the historical results of the combined company would have been had our companies been combined during these periods.

- (1) Assumes that the acquisition of First Sentinel Bancorp was completed at December 31, 2003 utilizing the purchase method of accounting. Estimated fair value adjustments for loans, premises and equipment, deposits, borrowed funds and the DDFP were determined by the management of Provident and First Sentinel with the assistance of certain valuation consultants. The resulting premiums and discounts for purposes of the Pro Forma Financial Statements, where appropriate, are being amortized and accreted into income as more fully described in the notes below. Actual fair value adjustments, where appropriate, will be determined as of the merger date and will be amortized and accreted into income.
- (2) Reflects the purchase accounting and acquisition adjustments related to the acquisition of First Sentinel for a price of $22.25 per share in cash and stock. Merger consideration assumes that 40 percent of the 28,241,399 First Sentinel shares receive cash of $22.25 per share and 60 percent of First Sentinel's shares are exchanged for 1.092 shares of Provident stock at a market value of $18.90 per share as of December 31, 2003. Cash consideration paid for 1,314,149 First Sentinel stock options amounted to $18.6 million, and is based on the difference between $22.25 and $8.10, the weighted average exercise price of the options. This assumes all First Sentinel stock options are exchanged for cash at the merger date. Purchase accounting adjustments assume that purchase price, goodwill and intangible assets are reflected on the financial statements of Provident pursuant to the application of purchase accounting.
- (3) Yield adjustment to reflect the difference between portfolio yields and market rates as of December 31, 2003 for loans acquired in the acquisition. The adjustment was calculated using present value analysis applied to the loan portfolio. Loans were segregated into pools of similar loans. Cash flow was projected using the loan data plus estimates of prepayment speeds. The resulting cash flow was discounted to present value using risk adjusted discount rates applied to each pool of loans. The difference between carrying value and the present value of future cash flows was the yield adjustment. The yield adjustments are amortized into expense on an accelerated basis over the estimated lives or repricing periods of the loans.
- (4) Reflects the difference between market values and net carrying values of fixed assets acquired in the acquisition. Adjustment is amortized as depreciation expense on a straight line basis.
- (5) A reconciliation of the excess consideration paid by Provident over First Sentinel's net assets acquired ("Goodwill") is as follows (in thousands):

- (6) Transaction costs associated with the merger are estimated to be $24.8 million, net of taxes. Estimated transaction costs have been recorded as a component of goodwill on the Pro Forma Financial Statements (see Note 5), based on Provident's and First Sentinel's preliminary estimates. A summary of these costs is as follows (in thousands):

Professional fees	$ 11,000
Merger related compensation and benefits	15,775
Facilities and systems	3,862
Other merger related expenses	1,770
	<hr/>
Estimated pre-tax transaction costs	32,407
Less related tax benefit	7,590
Estimated transaction costs, net of taxes	$ 24,817

Professional fees include investment banking, legal and other professional fees and expenses associated with stockholder and customer notifications. Merger related compensation and severance costs include employee severance, compensation arrangements, transitional staffing and related employee benefit expenses. Facilities and system costs include lease termination charges and equipment write-offs resulting from the consolidation of duplicate facilities. Other merger related expenses are associated with the integration of operations. The foregoing estimates may be refined subsequent to the completion of the merger.

- (7) Core deposit intangible is an identifiable intangible asset representing the economic value of the acquired deposit base, calculated as the present value benefit of funding operations with the acquired deposit base versus using an alternative wholesale funding source. The core deposit intangible asset is amortized into expense using the sum of the years digits method over 10 years. Deferred taxes related to the core deposit intangible amounted to $7.6 million, and were based on an assumed tax rate of 35%.
- (8) Deferred tax assets on the cash out of options and taxable transaction costs amounted to $14.1 million. Deferred tax assets on purchase accounting adjustments amounted to $5.2 million, and were based on an assumed tax rate of 35%.
- (9) Yield adjustment to reflect the difference between portfolio yields and market rates as of December 31, 2003 for time deposits acquired in the acquisition. Yield adjustments were calculated using present value analysis. Cash flow each month was the difference between projected interest costs of the remaining deposit base and hypothetical costs calculated using market rates based on a survey of competitor's rates. Cash flow was discounted to present value using market rates for similar deposits. The yield adjustment is the aggregate present value of the difference. The yield adjustment is accreted into income on an accelerated basis over the lives of the acquired time deposits.
- (10) Reflects yield adjustment of $13.8 million on repurchase agreements, $7.0 million on borrowed funds, and $1.2 million on subordinated debentures. Yield adjustments reflect the difference between portfolio yields and market rates as of December 31, 2003 for borrowings acquired in the acquisition. Yield adjustments were calculated using present value analysis. Cash flow for each month was the difference between projected interest costs of the remaining borrowings and hypothetical costs using current market rates based on advances from the FHLB of New York. Cash flow was discounted to present value using market rates. The yield adjustment is the aggregate present value of the difference. The yield adjustment is accreted into income on an accelerated basis over the lives of the acquired borrowings.
- (11) Reflects the issuance of 18,503,765 shares of Provident's common stock in the transaction and the elimination of First Sentinel's equity accounts.
- (12) Reflects the adjustment to record the DDFP at market value ($6.3 million) and to adjust the DDFP plan assets to market value ($13.3 million) and the elimination of the DDFP transitional differential ($7.7 million).
- (13) Interest income is reduced approximately $11.2 million on a pre tax basis, related to the portion of the purchase price that is paid in cash ($292.0 million) and the direct costs of the merger and liabilities assumed to be paid in cash. These funds were assumed to have yielded a pre-tax rate of 3.84% for the year ended December 31, 2003, which represents the actual yield earned on Provident's available for sale portfolio for the period.

(14) The following table summarizes the estimated full year impact of the amortization / (accretion) of the purchase accounting adjustments on the pro-forma statement of income.

Sum of the years digits (SYD) and straight line (SL) methods were utilized in preparing the pro forma statement of income for amortizing and/or accreting the related purchase accounting adjustments. Provident has determined that these methods approximate the level yield method that will be utilized for the merger for all adjustments.

The following table summarizes the estimated impact of the amortization / (accretion) of the purchase accounting adjustments made in connection with the merger on Provident's result of operations for the following years:

Projected Future Amounts for the Years Ended December 31,	Core Deposit Intangible	Net (Accretion) / Amortization	Net (Increase)/ Decrease in Income Before Taxes
2003	$ 3,934	($ 5,657)	($ 1,723)

2007	2,360	(95)	2,265
2008	1,967	160	2,127

(15) Provident Financial recorded a one time expense of $15.6 million, net of tax, as a result of the $24.0 million contribution to The Provident Bank Foundation made in the first quarter of 2003.

(16) Basic and fully diluted weighted average common shares outstanding was determined by adding 60 percent of First Sentinel's historical average basic outstanding common shares at the exchange ratio of 1.092 to Provident's historical average basic and diluted outstanding common shares. No common stock equivalents were considered as it is assumed all First Sentinel stock options are cashed out in the transaction.

Table of ContentsCOMPARATIVE PER SHARE DATA

The following table sets forth for Provident common stock and First Sentinel common stock certain historical, pro forma and pro forma-equivalent per share financial information. The pro forma and pro forma-equivalent per share information gives effect to the merger as if the merger had been effective on the dates presented, in the case of the book value data presented, and as if the merger had become effective at the beginning of the periods presented, in the case of the net income and dividends declared data presented. The pro forma data in the tables assume that the merger is accounted for using the purchase method of accounting. See Proposal I The Proposed Merger Accounting Treatment on page 79. The information in the following table is based on, and should be read together with, the historical financial information that we have presented in our prior filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission and the pro forma financial information that appears elsewhere in this document. See Where You Can Find More Information on page 131 and Unaudited Combined Condensed Consolidated Pro Forma Financial Data on page 19.

We anticipate that the merger will provide the combined company with financial benefits that include reduced operating expenses. The pro forma information, while helpful in illustrating the financial characteristics of the combined company under one set of assumptions, does not reflect the benefits of expected cost savings or opportunities to earn additional revenue and, accordingly, does not attempt to predict or suggest future results. It also does not necessarily reflect what the historical results of the combined company would have been had our companies been combined during these periods.

RISKS RELATED TO THE MERGER

In addition to the other information contained in or incorporated by reference into this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, including the matters addressed under the caption Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements, you should carefully consider the following risk factors in deciding whether to vote for approval of the merger agreement.

You May Not Receive the Form of Merger Consideration that You Elect.

The merger agreement contains allocation and proration provisions that are designed to ensure that 60% of the outstanding shares of common stock of First Sentinel will be exchanged for shares of Provident common stock and the remaining outstanding shares of common stock of First Sentinel will be exchanged for cash. Therefore, if the holders of more than 60% of the outstanding First Sentinel common stock elect to receive Provident common stock for such shares, the amount of Provident common stock that each such stockholder would receive from Provident will be reduced on a pro rata basis. As a result, these First Sentinel stockholders will receive cash consideration for any First Sentinel shares for which they do not receive Provident common stock. Similarly, if the holders of more than 40% of the outstanding First Sentinel common stock elect to receive cash for such shares, the amount of cash that each such stockholder would receive from Provident will be reduced on a pro rata basis. As a result, such stockholders will receive Provident common stock for any First Sentinel shares for which they do not receive cash. Accordingly, there is a risk that you will receive a portion of the merger consideration in a form that you did not elect, which could result in, among other things, tax consequences that differ from those that would have resulted had you received the form of consideration you elected (including the recognition of taxable gain to the extent cash is received).

Provident May Fail to Realize the Anticipated Benefits of the Merger.

The success of the merger will depend on, among other things, Provident's ability to realize anticipated cost savings and to combine the businesses of The Provident Bank and First Savings Bank in a manner that does not materially disrupt the existing customer relationships of First Savings Bank or The Provident Bank or result in decreased revenues from any loss of customers. If Provident is not able to successfully achieve these objectives, the anticipated benefits of the merger may not be realized fully or at all or may take longer to realize than expected.

Provident and First Sentinel have operated and, until the completion of the merger, will continue to operate, independently. It is possible that the integration process could result in the loss of key employees, the disruption of Provident's or First Sentinel's ongoing businesses or inconsistencies in standards, controls, procedures and policies that adversely affect Provident's ability to maintain relationships with customers and employees or to achieve the anticipated benefits of the merger.

Because the Market Price of Provident Common Stock May Fluctuate, You Cannot Be Sure of the Value of the Merger Consideration That You Will Receive.

Upon completion of the merger, each share of First Sentinel common stock will be converted into merger consideration consisting of shares of Provident common stock and/or cash pursuant to the terms of the merger agreement. The value of the merger consideration to be received by First Sentinel stockholders will be based on the price of Provident common stock immediately prior to the completion of the merger. Accordingly, at the time of the annual meetings, First Sentinel stockholders will not necessarily know or be able to calculate the value of the merger consideration they will receive upon completion of the merger.

Any change in the price of Provident common stock prior to completion of the merger will affect the value of the merger consideration that a First Sentinel stockholder will receive upon completion of the merger. Stock price changes may result from a variety of factors, including general market and economic conditions, changes in our respective businesses, operations and prospects, and regulatory considerations. Many of these factors are beyond our control.

First Sentinel Stockholders Will be Unable to Sell Their First Sentinel Shares in the Market After Making Their Election.

First Sentinel stockholders may elect to receive the merger consideration in the form of cash, Provident common stock or a combination of cash and Provident common stock. Stockholders making an election must turn in their First Sentinel stock certificates with their election form. During the time between when the election is made and the merger is completed, First Sentinel stockholders will be unable to sell their First Sentinel common stock, unless they revoke their election before the election deadline. If the merger is unexpectedly delayed, this period could extend for a significant period of time. First Sentinel stockholders can shorten the period during which they cannot sell their shares by delivering their election form shortly before the close of the election period. However, elections received after the close of the election period will not be accepted or honored.

First Sentinel Directors and Officers Have Interests in the Merger Besides Those of a Stockholder.

First Sentinel's executive officers negotiated the merger agreement with Provident, and the board of directors approved the merger agreement and is recommending that First Sentinel stockholders vote for the merger agreement. In considering these facts and the other information contained in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, you should be aware that First Sentinel's executive officers and directors have various interests in the merger besides being First Sentinel stockholders. See Proposal I The Proposed Merger Interests of Directors and Officers in the Merger.

Provident May be Subject to Adverse Regulatory Conditions.

Before the merger may be completed, various approvals must be obtained from, or notifications submitted to, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Some of the governmental authorities from whom those approvals must be obtained may impose conditions on the completion of the merger or require changes in the terms of the merger. These conditions or changes could have the effect of delaying the merger or imposing additional costs or limiting the possible revenues of the combined company. See Proposal I The Proposed Merger Regulatory Approvals Required for the Merger.

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This document contains or incorporates by reference a number of forward-looking statements regarding the financial condition, results of operations and business of Provident and First Sentinel, and may include statements for the period following the completion of the merger. You can find many of these statements by looking for words such as plan, believe, expect, intend, anticipate, estimate, project, potential similar expressions.

The ability of Provident and First Sentinel to predict results or the actual effects of its plans and strategies is inherently uncertain. Accordingly, actual results may differ materially from anticipated results. Some of the factors that may cause actual results to differ materially from those contemplated by the forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, the following:

The purpose of the Provident annual meeting of stockholders is to vote on a proposal to approve the merger agreement as well as vote on the election of four directors, the ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP as Provident's independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004 and the authorization of the board of directors to adjourn the annual meeting or vote on other matters properly before the annual meeting.

Proxies

Each copy of this document mailed to Provident stockholders is accompanied by a proxy card with voting instructions for submission by mail. You should complete and return the proxy card accompanying this document in order to ensure that your vote is counted at the Provident annual meeting, or at any adjournment or postponement of the meeting, regardless of whether you plan to attend the Provident annual meeting. You may revoke your proxy at any time before the vote is taken at the Provident annual meeting. If your shares are held in street name, your broker will vote your shares on Proposal I The Proposed Merger only if you provide instructions to your broker on how to vote. If you have not voted through your broker, you may revoke your proxy by:

submitting written notice of revocation to the Corporate Secretary of Provident prior to the voting of such proxy; submitting a properly executed proxy bearing a later date; or voting in person at the annual meeting; however, simply attending the annual meeting without voting will not revoke an earlier proxy.

Written notices of revocation and other communications regarding the revocation of your proxy should be addressed to:

If your shares are held in street name, you should follow your broker's instructions regarding the revocation of proxies.

Table of Contents

All shares represented by valid proxies that Provident receives through this solicitation, and that are not revoked, will be voted in accordance with the instructions on the proxy card. If you make no specification on your proxy card as to how you want your shares voted before signing and returning it, your proxy will be voted FOR approval of the merger agreement, FOR the election of the four nominees for director, FOR the ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP as Provident's independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004 and FOR the authorization of the board of directors to adjourn the annual meeting or vote on other matters properly before the annual meeting. The Provident board of directors is currently unaware of any other matters that may be presented for action at the annual meeting.

Provident stockholders should NOT send their stock certificates with their proxy cards. If the merger is completed, Provident stockholders will not need to exchange their current stock certificates.

Solicitation of Proxies

Provident will bear the entire cost of soliciting proxies from you. In addition to solicitation of proxies by mail, Provident will request that banks, brokers and other record holders send proxies and proxy material to the beneficial owners of Provident common stock and secure their voting instructions, if necessary. Provident will reimburse the record holders for their reasonable expenses in taking those actions. Provident has also made arrangements with Georgeson Shareholder Communications, Inc. to assist Provident in soliciting proxies and has agreed to pay them a fee of $12,500 plus reasonable expenses for these services. If necessary, Provident may also use several of its regular employees, who will not be specially compensated, to solicit proxies from Provident stockholders, either personally or by telephone, telegram, facsimile or letter.

Record Date

The Provident board of directors has fixed the close of business on April 30, 2004 as the record date for determining the Provident stockholders entitled to receive notice of and to vote at the Provident annual meeting of stockholders. On April 30, 2004, 60,149,600 shares of Provident common stock were outstanding and held by approximately 4,967 holders of record.

Voting Rights and Vote Required

The presence, in person or by properly executed proxy, of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Provident common stock is necessary to constitute a quorum at the annual meeting of stockholders. Abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted solely for the purpose of determining whether a quorum is present. An unvoted proxy submitted by a broker is sometimes referred to as a broker non-vote.

Adoption of the merger agreement requires the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Provident common stock entitled to vote at the Provident annual meeting. Directors are elected by a plurality of votes cast, without regard to either broker non-votes or proxies as to which the authority to vote for the nominees being proposed is withheld. The ratification of the appointment of the independent auditors and the authorization of the board of directors to adjourn the annual meeting or vote on other matters properly before the annual meeting are determined by a majority of the votes cast, without regard to broker non-votes or proxies marked Abstain. You are entitled to one vote for each share of Provident common stock you held as of the record date. However, Provident's certificate of incorporation provides that stockholders of record who beneficially own in excess of 10% of the then outstanding shares of common stock of Provident are not entitled to any vote with respect to the shares held in excess of the 10% limit. A person or entity is deemed to beneficially own shares that are owned by an affiliate as well as by any person acting in concert with such person or entity.

Because the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Provident common stock entitled to vote at the Provident annual meeting is needed for us to proceed with the merger, the failure to vote by proxy or in person will have the same effect as a vote against the merger agreement. Abstentions and broker non-votes also will have the same effect as a vote against the merger agreement. Accordingly, the Provident board of directors urges Provident stockholders to complete, date and sign the accompanying proxy card and return it promptly in the enclosed postage-paid envelope.

As of the record date, directors and executive officers of Provident and their affiliates had the right to vote 1,700,234 shares of Provident common stock, or 2.8% of the Provident common stock outstanding on that date.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

The Provident board of directors has unanimously approved the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated in the merger agreement. The Provident board of directors has determined that the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated in the merger agreement are advisable and in the best interests of Provident and its stockholders and unanimously recommends that you vote FOR approval of the merger agreement. The Provident board also unanimously recommends that you vote FOR each of the Provident nominees for director listed in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, FOR the ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP as independent auditors of Provident for the year ending December 31, 2004 and FOR the authorization of the board of directors to adjourn the annual meeting or vote on other matters properly before the annual meeting.

See Proposal I The Proposed Merger Recommendation of the Provident Board of Directors and Reasons for the Merger on page 51 for a more detailed discussion of the Provident board of directors' recommendation.

Attending the Provident Annual Meeting

If you want to vote your shares of Provident common stock held in street name in person at the annual meeting, you will have to get a written proxy in your name from the broker, bank or other nominee who holds your shares.

Participants in Provident Benefit Plans

If you are a participant in The Provident Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan or The Provident Bank Employee Savings Incentive Plan, or any other benefit plans through which you own shares of Provident common stock, you will have received with this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus voting instruction forms that reflect all shares you may vote under these plans. Under the terms of these plans, the trustee or administrator votes all shares held by the plan, but each participant may direct the trustee or administrator how to vote the shares of Provident common stock allocated to his or her plan account. If you own shares through any of these plans and do not vote, the respective plan trustees or administrators will vote the shares in accordance with the terms of the respective plans. The deadline for returning your voting instructions is June 16, 2004.

Table of ContentsSecurity Ownership of Certain Beneficial Owners of Provident

The following table sets forth, as of March 1, 2004, certain information as to those persons that Provident believes beneficially own more than five percent of Provident's issued and outstanding shares of common stock:

All shares represented by valid proxies First Sentinel receives through this solicitation that are not revoked will be voted in accordance with your instructions on the proxy card. If you make no specification on your proxy card as to how you want your shares voted before signing and returning it, your proxy will be voted FOR approval of the merger agreement, FOR the election of First Sentinel's three nominees for director, FOR the ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP as First Sentinel's independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004 and FOR the authorization of the board of directors to adjourn the annual meeting or vote on other matters properly before the annual meeting. The First Sentinel board of directors is presently unaware of any other matters that may be presented for action at the annual meeting.

First Sentinel stockholders should NOT send stock certificates with their proxy cards. First Sentinel stockholders will separately receive election forms and instructions, at which time they will be requested to submit their stock certificates. If the merger is completed, First Sentinel stockholders who did not make a timely or proper election will be mailed a transmittal form promptly following the completion of the merger with instructions on how to exchange their First Sentinel stock certificates for the merger consideration.

Solicitation of Proxies

First Sentinel will bear the entire cost of soliciting proxies from its stockholders. In addition to solicitation of proxies by mail, First Sentinel will request that banks, brokers and other record holders send proxies and proxy material to the beneficial owners of First Sentinel common stock and secure their voting instructions, if necessary. First Sentinel will reimburse the record holders for their reasonable expenses in taking those actions. First Sentinel has also made arrangements with Georgeson Shareholder Communications, Inc. to assist it in soliciting proxies and has agreed to pay them a fee of $10,000 plus reasonable expenses for these services. If necessary, First Sentinel may use several of its regular employees, who will not be specially compensated, to solicit proxies from First Sentinel stockholders, either personally or by telephone, telegram, facsimile or letter.

Record Date

The First Sentinel board of directors has fixed the close of business on April 30, 2004 as the record date for determining the First Sentinel stockholders entitled to receive notice of and to vote at the First Sentinel annual meeting of stockholders. On April 30, 2004, 28,299,252 shares of First Sentinel common stock were outstanding and held by approximately 2,486 holders of record.

Voting Rights and Vote Required

The presence, in person or by properly executed proxy, of a majority of the total number of outstanding shares of First Sentinel common stock entitled to vote (after giving effect to the 10% limit described below) is necessary to constitute a quorum at the First Sentinel annual meeting of stockholders. Abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted solely for the purpose of determining whether a quorum is present. An unvoted proxy submitted by a broker is sometimes referred to as a broker non-vote.

Adoption of the merger agreement requires the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of First Sentinel common stock entitled to vote at the First Sentinel annual meeting. Directors are elected by a plurality of votes cast, without regard to either broker non-votes or proxies as to which the authority to vote for the nominees being proposed is withheld. The ratification of the appointment of the independent auditors and the authorization of the board of directors to adjourn the annual meeting or vote on other matters properly before the annual meeting are determined by a majority of the votes cast, without regard to broker non-votes or proxies marked Abstain. You are entitled to one vote for each share of First Sentinel common stock you held as of the record date. However, First Sentinel's certificate of incorporation provides that stockholders of record who beneficially own in excess of 10% of the then-outstanding shares of common stock of First Sentinel are not entitled to any vote with respect to the shares held in excess of the 10% limit.

A person or entity is deemed to beneficially own shares owned by an affiliate of, as well as by persons acting in concert with, such person or entity. First Sentinel's certificate of incorporation authorizes its board of directors to make all determinations necessary to implement and apply the 10% limit, including determining the number of shares of First Sentinel common stock beneficially owned by any person and whether persons or entities are acting in concert. The First Sentinel board of directors is also authorized to demand that any person who is reasonably believed to beneficially own stock in excess of the 10% limit supply information to First Sentinel to enable its board of directors to implement and apply the 10% limit.

Because the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of First Sentinel common stock entitled to vote at the First Sentinel annual meeting is needed for us to proceed with the merger, the failure to vote by proxy or in person will have the same effect as a vote against the merger agreement. Abstentions and broker non-votes also will have the same effect as a vote against the merger agreement. Accordingly, the First Sentinel board of directors urges First Sentinel stockholders to complete, date and sign the accompanying proxy card and return it promptly in the enclosed postage-paid envelope.

As of the record date, directors and executive officers of First Sentinel and their affiliates had the right to vote 5,380,311 shares of First Sentinel common stock, or 18.33% of the outstanding First Sentinel common stock on that date.

At the time the merger agreement with Provident was signed, each director of First Sentinel and Ms. Nancy E. Graves, Mr. Thomas M. Lyons and Mr. Richard Spengler, all of whom are executive officers of First Sentinel or First Savings Bank, entered into a separate letter agreement with Provident, pursuant to which, among other things, they agreed to vote or cause to be voted all shares over which they maintain sole or shared voting power in favor of approval and adoption of the merger agreement.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

The First Sentinel board of directors has unanimously approved the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated in the merger agreement. The First Sentinel board of directors has determined that the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated in the merger agreement are advisable and in the best interests of First Sentinel and its stockholders and unanimously recommends that you vote FOR approval of the merger agreement. The First Sentinel board of directors also recommends that you vote FOR each of the First Sentinel nominees for director listed in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, FOR the ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP as independent auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004 and FOR the authorization of the board of directors to adjourn the annual meeting or vote on other matters properly before the annual meeting.

See Proposal I The Proposed Merger Recommendation of First Sentinel's Board of Directors and Reasons for the Merger on page 43 for a more detailed discussion of the First Sentinel board of directors' recommendation.

Attending the First Sentinel Annual Meeting

If you want to vote your shares of First Sentinel common stock held in street name in person at the annual meeting, you will have to get a written proxy in your name from the broker, bank or other nominee who holds your shares.

Participants in First Sentinel's and First Savings Bank's Benefit Plans

PROPOSAL I THE PROPOSED MERGER

(FOR CONSIDERATION AND VOTE BY PROVIDENT AND FIRST SENTINEL STOCKHOLDERS)

The description of the merger and the merger agreement contained in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus describes the material terms of the merger agreement; however, it does not purport to be complete. It is qualified in its entirety by reference to the merger agreement. We have attached a copy of the merger agreement as Appendix A.

We encourage you to read the merger agreement.

General

Pursuant to the merger agreement, First Sentinel will merge into Provident, with Provident as the surviving entity. Outstanding shares of First Sentinel common stock will be converted into the right to receive cash, shares of Provident common stock or a combination of cash and shares of Provident common stock. Cash will be paid in lieu of any fractional share of Provident common stock. See Merger Consideration; Cash or Stock Election below. As a result of the merger, the separate corporate existence of First Sentinel will cease and Provident will succeed to all of the rights and be responsible for all of the obligations of First Sentinel. Following the merger of First Sentinel into Provident, First Savings Bank will merge into The Provident Bank and the separate corporate existence of First Savings Bank shall cease.

Background of the Merger

Since First Sentinel's conversion from the mutual holding company form of organization to a fully public company in 1998, the board of directors of First Sentinel has endeavored to enhance stockholder value by pursuing the strategy of operating as an independent community bank. In doing so, the board of directors periodically evaluated First Sentinel's business plan as compared to other strategic alternatives, including acquisitions of other institutions and strategic combinations. From time to time, management of First Sentinel received expressions of interest from other financial institutions that were pursuing aggressive growth strategies in the context of a continuously consolidating financial services industry.

In connection with the mutual to stock conversion of The Provident Bank in January 2003, Provident disclosed that conversion proceeds would be deployed for, among other things, an expansion of Provident's retail banking franchise through de novo branching and by acquiring other financial institutions. From time to time, Provident's management evaluates potential acquisition targets with a view to expanding Provident's market presence and franchise.

On April 14, 2003, Mr. Christopher Martin, First Sentinel's Chief Executive Officer, met with the Chief Executive Officer of another financial institution (the Other Institution) at First Sentinel's offices in Woodbridge, New Jersey at the request of such Other Institution. During the meeting, the Chief Executive Officer of the Other Institution indicated that the Other Institution was interested in a possible strategic combination with First Sentinel. After the meeting, Mr. Martin advised each First Sentinel board member of the details of his conversation with the Chief Executive Officer of the Other Institution.

Independent of this expression of interest, in April 2003, First Sentinel's board of directors and management had begun to re-evaluate First Sentinel's business plan in response to First Sentinel's operating, market and financial performance relative to its peer group, particularly taking into account the impact of the then-current interest rate levels, which had not risen as previously anticipated. At a regularly scheduled meeting of First Sentinel's board held on April 28, 2003, the board, having been advised of both management's ongoing evaluation of the business plan and the oral expression of interest from the Other Institution, determined to have an investment banking firm perform a market analysis of First Sentinel.

At a special meeting of First Sentinel's board held on May 12, 2003, which was attended by members of Lehman Brothers and First Sentinel's outside legal counsel, Thacher Proffitt & Wood LLP, the board discussed the business plan, including modifications to the business plan to enhance First Sentinel's transition to a community bank, various strategic alternatives that were available at that time and the Other Institution's oral indication of interest. Following discussions with First Sentinel's management and financial and legal advisors, the board determined to explore the possibility of a business combination with the Other Institution and requested that Lehman Brothers present an analysis of the Other Institution at a subsequent board meeting. In addition, Mr. Martin was requested by the board to ask whether the Other Institution could provide a non-binding preliminary indication of the range of consideration that the Other Institution would offer to First Sentinel's stockholders in a possible combination.

During a telephone conversation between Mr. Martin and the Chief Executive Officer of the Other Institution on May 12, 2003, the Other Institution indicated to Mr. Martin that it was considering a possible price range of $17.50 to $18.50 for each share of First Sentinel's outstanding common stock.

At a special meeting of First Sentinel's board of directors held on June 5, 2003, Lehman Brothers presented a detailed analysis of the Other Institution's operations and financial and market performance. Lehman Brothers also presented an extensive valuation analysis of First Sentinel on both a stand-alone basis and a general acquisition basis, as well as a pro forma analysis of a combination between the Other Institution and First Sentinel. During discussions, members of the board expressed concerns that an analysis of alternatives was difficult because of the negative impact of the current interest rate environment on First Sentinel's short-term prospects, and that the combined institution's prospects were speculative, thereby providing no assurance that the combined institution would outperform First Sentinel on a stand-alone basis over the long term. At the conclusion of the meeting, the board determined to follow First Sentinel's business plan and not to pursue a possible strategic combination with the Other Institution. First Sentinel and Lehman Brothers did not enter into a formal engagement letter with respect to the services provided by Lehman Brothers in connection with First Sentinel's consideration of a possible strategic combination with the Other Institution, and Lehman Brothers did not receive any fees for such services to First Sentinel.

Approximately three months later, on September 25, 2003, while attending a management conference sponsored by the New Jersey League, a trade association of community banks in New Jersey, Mr. Martin and Mr. Paul M. Pantozzi, the Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and President of Provident, engaged in a conversation, during which Mr. Pantozzi asked Mr. Martin if First Sentinel was considering any strategic business combinations. Mr. Martin responded by saying that First Sentinel's board was not thinking along those lines at that time.

During meetings held on September 29, 2003, as part of First Sentinel's annual board retreat, representatives from three investment banking firms, Sandler O'Neill & Partners, L.P., Friedman, Billings, Ramsey & Co., Inc. and Lehman Brothers, made presentations to the board regarding a variety of topics including (i) a current market analysis and overview of First Sentinel's performance, (ii) potential acquisitions by First Sentinel of selected target companies, (iii) merger of equals opportunities and (iv) affiliation options with companies who might have an interest in First Sentinel. The representatives from each of these firms stressed that the alternatives and analyses presented were based upon publicly available information and proprietary modeling analyses and not on discussions with any other financial institution. One of the companies mentioned as an affiliation option was Provident. During a board meeting held the following day, First Sentinel's board reviewed the various strategic alternatives presented during the board retreat and determined to continue to execute First Sentinel's community banking strategy as set forth in its business plan.

At an off-site board retreat held on October 29 and 30, 2003, presentations were made to the Provident board regarding the capital markets landscape and various capital deployment opportunities available to Provident. The presentations included analyses of franchise expansion opportunities in New Jersey. These presentations discussed a number of acquisition opportunities that may be of consideration to Provident, including First Sentinel.

At a financial services investor conference sponsored by Sandler O'Neill and held from November 12, 2003 through November 14, 2003, representatives of Sandler O'Neill discussed with Mr. Martin the possibility of a potential business combination between Provident and First Sentinel. Mr. Martin met with Mr. Pantozzi (who was also attending the conference) on November 13, 2003, at which time they engaged in a broad discussion regarding Provident's business and overall business philosophy. During this meeting, Mr. Pantozzi informed Mr. Martin that he was enthusiastic over a potential business combination between First Sentinel and Provident and wished to continue a dialogue regarding a strategic combination. Mr. Martin told Mr. Pantozzi that he would inform First Sentinel's board of Provident's interest in a combination.

Mr. Martin reported his conversations with Sandler O'Neill and Mr. Pantozzi to First Sentinel's board at a regularly scheduled meeting held on November 19, 2003. First Sentinel's board discussed Provident's interest in a transaction, the various strategic alternatives presented during the board retreat, First Sentinel's financial projections, the elevated trading levels of First Sentinel's common stock, the current economic environment and First Sentinel's future prospects, and the board determined it would be appropriate to further investigate Provident's interest in a possible business combination. The board also decided that, in order to do so, it would need detailed information on Provident's operations, financial condition and management structure and requested that Sandler O'Neill prepare a presentation of such information.

At a special meeting of First Sentinel's board held on November 24, 2003 and attended by representatives of Sandler O'Neill and Thacher Proffitt, the board considered the strategic opportunities available to First Sentinel, including remaining independent and exploring a possible business combination with Provident. The board received a presentation from Sandler O'Neill consisting of a detailed analysis of Provident and a projected financial analysis of First Sentinel and Provident on a combined basis, including an analysis of what each company would contribute to the financial makeup of the combined organization, focusing on loans, deposits, assets, borrowings, capital, the last twelve months' income, projected income and market capitalization. During discussions following Sandler O'Neill's presentation, the board noted the following: Provident appeared to be further ahead of First Sentinel in implementing the commercial banking aspect of its community banking strategy; Provident had a variety of strategies available to it as a recently converted institution to increase returns to stockholders; Provident's trading multiples reflected its large capital base and that potential existed for earnings growth as that capital base became more fully utilized, which could result in enhancements to stockholder value; the existence of opportunities for improved efficiencies at Provident through economies of scale that a strategic combination with First Sentinel would bring; efforts taken by Provident in recent years to enhance the depth and strength of its management team and board of directors; and Provident's balance sheet composition and capital base could provide a unique opportunity for a transaction that could result in significant value to First Sentinel's stockholders, both short and long term, assuming all or a portion of the consideration Provident would offer consists of Provident stock. After extensive discussions, the First Sentinel board determined that a possible transaction with Provident could be a viable alternative for enhancing stockholder value, but that more information was needed with respect to the possible transaction. The board authorized Mr. Martin to further discuss with Mr. Pantozzi various issues related to a possible combination of operations and alternatives for structuring the management team and board of directors of a combined entity. In addition, First Sentinel's board retained Sandler O'Neill as its independent financial advisor and authorized Sandler O'Neill to contact Provident to request a non-binding indication of interest as to the level of consideration that Provident would offer to First Sentinel's stockholders in a possible transaction with Provident.

On November 25, 2003, Mr. Martin and Mr. Pantozzi had a telephone conversation during which they discussed continuing their dialogue with respect to a possible business combination, and Provident executed a confidentiality agreement as a prelude to receiving non-public confidential information regarding First Sentinel. On November 26, 2003, during a special meeting of The Provident Bank's Executive Committee, Mr. Pantozzi reported that he had preliminary discussions with Mr. Martin regarding a proposed business combination between First Sentinel and Provident. On November 29, 2003, Mr. Martin met with Mr. Pantozzi and discussed various issues, including (i) the operations of First Sentinel and Provident, (ii) why the proposed business combination would benefit both institutions and their stockholders and (iii) various issues related to management and the board of directors of a combined entity.

During the following week, Mr. Martin and Mr. Pantozzi had several telephone conversations regarding the potential business combination between First Sentinel and Provident, and Provident retained Lehman Brothers as its financial advisor. At a special meeting of Provident's board held on December 4, 2003, the board discussed and analyzed the potential business combination with First Sentinel, including a detailed presentation and analysis by Lehman Brothers of the business operations, financial condition and prospects of First Sentinel, as well as the pro forma financial impact of a proposed acquisition of First Sentinel. After lengthy deliberations, Provident's board authorized Mr. Pantozzi to submit a preliminary, non-binding indication of interest regarding a possible business combination with First Sentinel. On the following day, Provident submitted to Sandler O'Neill a letter setting forth Provident's non-binding indication of interest to engage in a business combination with First Sentinel, including the proposed consideration to be received by First Sentinel's stockholders with a value ranging from $21.75 to $22.25 per share of First Sentinel common stock, as well as other proposed terms and conditions.

Following discussions between First Sentinel and Sandler O'Neill, Sandler O'Neill requested that Provident submit a revised non-binding indication of interest to further clarify the proposed terms with respect to the combination of the senior management and boards of directors of the two companies. On December 8, 2003, Provident submitted to Sandler O'Neill a revised letter setting forth its revised non-binding indication of interest regarding a potential merger with First Sentinel. At a special meeting held that same day, the First Sentinel board reviewed and considered the events that had transpired during the previous two weeks and considered the proposed terms outlined in Provident's letter. During the meeting, Mr. Martin discussed the results of his recent meetings with Mr. Pantozzi. In addition, Sandler O'Neill presented a detailed overview of both First Sentinel and Provident along with a pro forma analysis of a strategic combination between the two entities. Sandler O'Neill's presentation also included an analysis of the financial impact of the proposed strategic combination based on the deal prices outlined in the letter received from Provident. Thacher Proffitt then reviewed with the board its fiduciary duties with respect to the proposed transaction. At the conclusion of the meeting, First Sentinel's board voted to continue negotiations with Provident with the goal of presenting to the board for its consideration a negotiated draft definitive agreement with respect to the strategic combination. First Sentinel executed a confidentiality agreement with Provident the following day so that First Sentinel could begin reviewing non-public information regarding Provident.

On December 12, 2003, First Sentinel received the first draft of a proposed merger agreement from Provident's outside legal counsel, Luse Gorman Pomerenk & Schick, P.C. During the weekend beginning Friday, December 12, 2003, First Sentinel commenced its due diligence review of Provident and Provident continued its due diligence review of First Sentinel. At the same time, First Sentinel, Provident and their respective legal and financial advisors began to negotiate the terms of the definitive transaction documents.

At a regularly scheduled meeting of First Sentinel's board held on December 17, 2003, the board discussed and reviewed with management, Sandler O'Neill and Thacher Proffitt the results of their respective due diligence reviews of Provident. Thacher Proffitt also provided the board with an update on the status of the negotiations with respect to reaching a definitive agreement and a term sheet describing the primary terms of the proposed strategic combination. Following the presentations, First Sentinel's board had a lengthy discussion regarding the results of the due diligence, Provident's proposed terms and the remaining issues that needed to be resolved, after which the board authorized First Sentinel's management and legal and financial advisors to continue negotiating the terms of a strategic combination with Provident, with the objective of reaching a fully negotiated agreement to be presented to the board for its approval.

On December 18, 2003, a special meeting of Provident's board was held to consider and vote on the terms and conditions of a proposed merger agreement with First Sentinel. At the meeting, Lehman Brothers presented its financial analyses with respect to the proposed merger consideration and delivered its oral opinion, subsequently confirmed in writing on December 19, 2003, as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the merger consideration to Provident. Luse Gorman Pomerenk & Schick, P.C. discussed the terms and conditions of the merger agreement, the commitment to add First Sentinel directors to the Provident board, the proposed employment agreement with Mr. Martin, and the board's fiduciary duties in connection with its evaluation of the proposed transaction. In addition, management provided to the board a favorable report concerning due diligence of the operations of First Sentinel conducted on December 13 and 14, 2003. Following the presentations and a lengthy discussion among the members of the board of directors, the Provident board unanimously approved the merger agreement.

On December 19, 2003, a special meeting of First Sentinel's board was held to consider and vote on the terms and conditions of the proposed merger agreement. At the meeting, Sandler O'Neill presented a detailed evaluation of the merger consideration and its opinion regarding the fairness of the merger consideration, from a financial point of view, to First Sentinel's stockholders. Thacher Proffitt discussed the terms and conditions of the merger agreement and the board's fiduciary duties in connection with its evaluation. In addition, the board discussed with Sandler O'Neill and Thacher Proffitt the merits of conducting a market check at that time with respect to the consideration being offered by Provident and the flexibility provided by the merger agreement to the First Sentinel board to consider unsolicited proposals from other institutions. Following the presentations and a lengthy discussion among the board members, the First Sentinel board unanimously approved the merger agreement.

Immediately after the meeting, the senior management, legal and financial advisors and independent auditors for both parties participated in a conference call to discuss First Sentinel's pending restatement of financial results for the accounting of First Sentinel's Directors' Deferred Fee Plan, which had also been discussed extensively during First Sentinel's board meeting. Over the following weekend, First Sentinel provided Provident with detailed information regarding the restatement and a draft press release announcing the restatement. After Provident reviewed this information with its independent auditors, the parties exchanged signature pages for the merger agreement. On December 22, 2003, First Sentinel and Provident issued a joint press release announcing the execution of the merger agreement.

Recommendation of First Sentinel's Board of Directors and Reasons for the Merger

First Sentinel's board of directors believes that the merger is in the best interests of First Sentinel and its stockholders. Accordingly, First Sentinel's board of directors has approved the merger agreement and recommends that stockholders vote FOR the approval of the merger agreement.

In reaching its decision to approve the merger agreement, First Sentinel's board of directors consulted with its outside legal counsel and its financial advisor and considered a variety of factors, including the following:

- (i) The First Sentinel board's familiarity with and review of First Sentinel's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects, including, but not limited to, its potential growth, development, productivity and profitability;
- (ii) The current and prospective environment in which First Sentinel operates, including national and local economic conditions, the competitive environment for financial institutions generally, the increased regulatory burden on financial institutions generally and the trend toward consolidation in the financial services industry;
- (iii) The First Sentinel board's review with its legal and financial advisors of strategic alternatives to the merger, including potential acquisitions of selected target companies, the proposal of the Other Institution received in May 2003 and the possibility of remaining independent and transitioning from a traditional thrift to a community bank;
- (iv)

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

The First Sentinel board's review, based in part on presentations by First Sentinel's management and advisors, of Provident's business, financial condition, results of operations and management and the recent performance of Provident's common stock on both a historical and prospective basis, the strategic fit between the parties, the potential synergies expected from the merger and the business risks associated with the merger;

- (v) The expectation that the merger will provide holders of First Sentinel common stock with the opportunity to receive a substantial premium over the historical trading prices for their shares and that a portion of the consideration received will be tax-free for federal income tax purposes;
- (vi) The cash/stock combination feature of the merger consideration offers First Sentinel stockholders both the opportunity to participate in the growth and opportunities of Provident through the stock component and to realize cash for the value of their shares through the cash component, subject to the allocation procedures in the merger agreement;
- (vii) The First Sentinel board's review with its legal and financial advisors of the provisions of the merger agreement, including the flexibility of the First Sentinel board to consider unsolicited proposals from other institutions after the execution of the merger agreement and the $24.0 million termination fee in favor of Provident in the event the merger agreement is terminated under certain specified circumstances;
- (viii) The opinion of Sandler O'Neill that the consideration to be received by First Sentinel's stockholders is fair to those stockholders from a financial point of view;
- (ix) The similarity between First Sentinel's and Provident's management philosophies, approaches and commitments to the communities, customers and stockholders they each serve and their respective employees;
- (x) The impact of the merger on depositors, customers, employees and communities served by First Sentinel and the expectation that the combined entity will continue to provide quality service to the communities and customers currently served by First Sentinel;
- (xi) Provident's agreement, upon the closing of the merger, to appoint two persons who are directors of First Sentinel as directors of Provident and The Provident Bank, to establish an advisory board consisting of the remaining members of First Sentinel's board, other than Mr. Martin, and to appoint during the calendar year 2005 either Mr. Martin or one of the members of the advisory board as a director of Provident and The Provident Bank, all of which are expected to provide a degree of continuity and involvement by First Sentinel following the merger; and
- (xii) Provident's agreement to appoint Mr. Martin as President of Provident and The Provident Bank and to appoint Mr. Lyons, Ms. Graves and Mr. Spengler to management level positions, all of which are also expected to provide a degree of continuity and involvement by First Sentinel following the merger.

In reaching its determination to approve and recommend the merger, First Sentinel's board did not assign any specific or relative weights to the factors under consideration, and individual directors may have given different weights to different factors.

On the basis of these considerations, First Sentinel's board of directors unanimously approved the merger agreement.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT THE STOCKHOLDERS OF FIRST SENTINEL APPROVE THE MERGER AGREEMENT.

Opinion of First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc.'s Financial Advisor

By letter dated as of November 25, 2003, First Sentinel retained Sandler O'Neill to act as its financial advisor in connection with a possible strategic business combination with Provident. Sandler O'Neill is a nationally-recognized investment banking firm whose principal business specialty is financial institutions. In the ordinary course of its investment banking business, Sandler O'Neill is regularly engaged in the valuation of financial institutions and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions and other corporate transactions.

Sandler O'Neill acted as financial advisor to First Sentinel in connection with the proposed merger and participated in certain of the negotiations leading up to the execution of the merger agreement. At the December 19, 2003 meeting at which First Sentinel's board considered and approved the merger agreement, Sandler O'Neill delivered to the board its oral opinion, which it also confirmed in writing, that, as of such date, the merger consideration to be received by First Sentinel's stockholders was fair to such stockholders from a financial point of view. Sandler O'Neill has confirmed its December 19, 2003 opinion by delivering to the First Sentinel board a written opinion dated the date of this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. In rendering its updated opinion, Sandler O'Neill confirmed the appropriateness of its reliance on the analyses used to render its earlier opinion by reviewing the assumptions upon which its analyses were based, performing procedures to update certain of its analyses and reviewing the other factors considered in rendering its opinion. Sandler O'Neill also reviewed the impact on its analyses of the restatement of First Sentinel's financial statements as filed by First Sentinel on Forms 10-Q/A and 10-K/A on January 28, 2004. The full text of Sandler O'Neill's updated opinion is attached as Appendix C to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. The opinion outlines the procedures followed, assumptions made, matters considered and qualifications and limitations on the review undertaken by Sandler O'Neill in rendering its opinion. The description of the opinion set forth below is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the opinion attached as Appendix C. We urge you to read the entire opinion carefully in connection with your consideration of the proposed merger.

Sandler O'Neill's opinion speaks only as of the date of the opinion. The opinion was directed to the First Sentinel board and is directed only to the fairness of the merger consideration to First Sentinel's stockholders from a financial point of view. It does not address the underlying business decision of First Sentinel to engage in the merger or any other aspect of the merger and is not a recommendation to any First Sentinel stockholder as to how such stockholder should vote at the First Sentinel annual meeting with respect to the merger, the form of consideration a stockholder should elect to receive in the merger or any other matter.

In connection with rendering its opinion, Sandler O'Neill reviewed and considered, among other things:

- (1) the merger agreement;
- (2) certain publicly available financial statements and other historical financial information of First Sentinel that it deemed relevant;
- (3) certain publicly available financial statements and other historical financial information of Provident that it deemed relevant;
- (4) internal financial projections for First Sentinel for the year ending December 31, 2004 prepared by management of First Sentinel and the views of certain members of senior management of First Sentinel, based on discussions with them, regarding First Sentinel's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects;
- (5) internal financial projections for Provident for the year ending December 31, 2004 prepared by management of Provident, earnings per share estimates for Provident for the year ending December 31, 2004 published by I/B/E/S and the views of certain members of senior management of Provident, based on discussions with them, regarding Provident's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects;
- (6) the pro forma financial impact of the merger on Provident, based on assumptions relating to transaction expenses and cost savings determined by senior management of Provident;
- (7) the publicly-reported historical price and trading activity for First Sentinel's and Provident's common stock, including a comparison of certain financial and stock market information for First Sentinel and Provident with similar publicly available information for certain other companies the securities of which are publicly traded;

- (8) the financial terms of certain recent business combinations in the savings institutions industry, to the extent publicly available;
- (9) the current market environment generally and the banking environment in particular; and
- (10) such other information, financial studies, analyses and investigations and financial, economic and market criteria as Sandler O'Neill considered relevant.

In performing its reviews and analyses and in rendering its opinion, Sandler O'Neill assumed and relied upon the accuracy and completeness of all the financial information, analyses and other information that was publicly available or otherwise furnished to, reviewed by or discussed with it and further relied on the assurances of management of First Sentinel and Provident that they were not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make such information inaccurate or misleading. Sandler O'Neill was not asked to and did not independently verify the accuracy or completeness of any of such information, and Sandler O'Neill did not assume any responsibility or liability for the accuracy or completeness of any of such information. Sandler O'Neill did not make an independent evaluation or appraisal of the assets, the collateral securing the assets or the liabilities, contingent or otherwise, of First Sentinel or Provident or any of their respective subsidiaries, or the collectibility of any such assets, nor was it furnished with any such evaluations or appraisals. Sandler O'Neill is not an expert in the evaluation of allowances for loan losses, and it did not make an independent evaluation of the adequacy of the allowance for loan losses of First Sentinel or Provident, nor did it review any individual credit files relating to First Sentinel or Provident. With First Sentinel's consent, Sandler O'Neill assumed that the respective allowances for loan losses for both First Sentinel and Provident were adequate to cover such losses and would be adequate on a pro forma basis for the combined entity. In addition, Sandler O'Neill did not conduct any physical inspection of the properties or facilities of First Sentinel or Provident. Sandler O'Neill's opinion was necessarily based upon market, economic and other conditions as they existed on, and could be evaluated as of, the date of its opinion. Sandler O'Neill assumed, in all respects material to its analyses, that all of the representations and warranties contained in the merger agreement and all related agreements were true and correct, that each party to such agreements would perform all of the covenants required to be performed by such party under such agreements and that the conditions precedent in the merger agreement were not waived. Sandler O'Neill also assumed, with First Sentinel's consent, that there had been no material change in First Sentinel's and Provident's assets, financial condition, results of operations, business or prospects since the date of the last financial statements made available to them; that First Sentinel and Provident would remain as going concerns for all periods relevant to its analyses; and that the merger would qualify as a tax-free reorganization for federal income tax purposes. With First Sentinel's consent, Sandler O'Neill also relied upon the advice First Sentinel received from its legal, accounting and tax advisors as to all legal, accounting and tax matters relating to the merger and the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement prepared and furnished by the managements of First Sentinel and Provident.

Sandler O'Neill was not asked to, and did not, solicit indications of interest in a potential transaction with First Sentinel from other third parties. First Sentinel's board of directors did not otherwise limit the investigations made or the procedures followed by Sandler O'Neill in giving its opinion.

In rendering its opinion, Sandler O'Neill performed a variety of financial analyses. The following is a summary of the material analyses performed by Sandler O'Neill, but is not a complete description of all the analyses underlying Sandler O'Neill's opinion. The summary includes information presented in tabular format. In order to fully understand the financial analyses, these tables must be read together with the accompanying text. The tables alone do not constitute a complete description of the financial analyses performed by Sandler O'Neill. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex process involving subjective judgments as to the most appropriate and relevant methods of financial analysis and the application of those methods to the particular circumstances. The process, therefore, is not necessarily susceptible to a partial analysis or summary description. Sandler O'Neill believes that its analyses must be considered as a whole and that selecting portions of the factors and analyses without considering all factors and analyses, or attempting to ascribe relative weights to some or all such factors and analyses, could create an incomplete view of the evaluation process underlying its opinion. Also, no company included in Sandler O'Neill's comparative analyses described below is identical to First Sentinel or Provident, and no transaction is identical to the merger. Accordingly, an analysis of comparable companies or transactions involves complex considerations and judgments concerning differences in financial and operating characteristics of the companies and other factors that could affect the public trading values or merger transaction values, as the case may be, of First Sentinel or Provident and the companies to which they are being compared.

The earnings projections used and relied upon by Sandler O'Neill for First Sentinel and Provident in its analyses were based upon internal financial projections for the respective companies. With respect to such financial projections and all projections of transaction costs, purchase accounting adjustments and expected cost savings relating to the merger, First Sentinel's and Provident's managements confirmed to Sandler O'Neill that they reflected the best currently available estimates and judgments of such managements of the future financial performance of First Sentinel and Provident, respectively, and Sandler O'Neill assumed for purposes of its analyses that such performances would be achieved. Sandler O'Neill expressed no opinion as to such financial projections or the assumptions on which they were based. The financial projections for First Sentinel and Provident were prepared for internal purposes only and not with a view towards public disclosure. These projections, as well as the other estimates used by Sandler O'Neill in its analyses, were based on numerous variables and assumptions which are inherently uncertain and, accordingly, actual results could vary materially from those set forth in such projections.

In performing its analyses, Sandler O'Neill also made numerous assumptions with respect to industry performance, business and economic conditions and various other matters, many of which cannot be predicted and are beyond the control of First Sentinel, Provident and Sandler O'Neill. The analyses performed by Sandler O'Neill are not necessarily indicative of actual values or future results, which may be significantly more or less favorable than suggested by such analyses. Sandler O'Neill prepared its analyses solely for purposes of rendering its opinion and provided such analyses to the First Sentinel board at the December 19, 2003 meeting. Estimates on the values of companies do not purport to be appraisals or necessarily reflect the prices at which companies or their securities may actually be sold. Such estimates are inherently subject to uncertainty and actual values may be materially different. Accordingly, Sandler O'Neill's analyses do not necessarily reflect the value of First Sentinel's common stock or Provident's common stock or the prices at which First Sentinel's or Provident's common stock may be sold at any time.

Summary of Proposal. Sandler O'Neill reviewed the financial terms of the proposed transaction. Based upon the average closing price of Provident's common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the 20 trading days ending on December 18, 2003 ($20.3755) and assuming 60% of First Sentinel's shares are converted into Provident common stock and the remaining 40% are converted into cash in the merger, Sandler O'Neill calculated an implied transaction value of $22.25 per share. Based upon First Sentinel's September 30, 2003 financial information (as reported prior to a restatement of financial results that included results for that period), Sandler O'Neill calculated the following ratios:

Transaction Ratios

Deal price / last twelve months' earnings per share	23.9x
Deal price / management's 2004 earnings per share estimate	21.6x
Deal price / stated book value per share	283.1%
Deal price / tangible book value per share	288.2%
Tangible book premium / core deposits (1)	32.7%

(1) Assumes First Sentinel's total core deposits are $1.31 billion (excluding approximately $74 million of certificates of deposit having a face amount greater than $100,000).

For purposes of Sandler O'Neill's analyses, earnings per share were based on fully diluted earnings per share. The aggregate transaction value was approximately $641.9 million, based upon 27,671,281 shares of First Sentinel common stock outstanding plus the intrinsic value of outstanding options to purchase 1,874,838 shares of First Sentinel common stock having a weighted average exercise price of $8.26. Sandler O'Neill noted that the transaction value represented a 20.6% premium over the December 18, 2003 closing price of First Sentinel's common stock.

Table of Contents

Stock Trading History. Sandler O'Neill reviewed the history of the reported trading prices and volume of First Sentinel's common stock and Provident's common stock and the relationship between the movements in the prices of First Sentinel's common stock and Provident's common stock, respectively, to movements in certain stock indices, including the Standard & Poor's 500 Index, the Standard & Poor's Bank Index, the Nasdaq Bank Index and the median performance of a composite peer group of publicly traded savings institutions for First Sentinel and Provident selected by Sandler O'Neill. The composition of the peer groups is discussed under "Comparable Company Analysis" below.

During the one-year period ended December 18, 2003, First Sentinel's common stock outperformed all indices to which it was compared, except that it under-performed the regional peer group.

Sandler O Neill also reviewed 15 merger transactions announced during the same period involving savings institutions in the mid-Atlantic region of the United States with transaction values greater than $30 million. share, transaction price to tangible book value per share, tangible book premium to core deposits and premium to the seller's market price one month before the announcement of the transaction and computed median multiples and premiums for both groups of transactions. These median multiples were applied to First Sentinel's financial information as of and for the twelve months ended September 30, 2003 (prior to the restatement of such information). As illustrated in the following table, Sandler O Neill derived an imputed range of values per share of First Sentinel common stock of $13.98 to $22.73 based upon the median multiples for nationwide savings institution transactions and $17.24 to $22.58 based upon the median multiples for the mid-Atlantic savings institution transactions. The implied transaction value of the merger as calculated by Sandler O Neill was $22.25 per share.

Discounted Dividend Stream and Terminal Value Analysis. Sandler O Neill performed an analysis that estimated the future stream of after-tax dividend flows of First Sentinel through December 31, 2006 under various circumstances, assuming First Sentinel's projected dividend stream and that First Sentinel performed in accordance with the earnings projections reviewed with First Sentinel's management. For periods after 2004, Sandler O Neill assumed an annual growth rate of earnings per share of approximately 7%. To approximate the terminal value of First Sentinel common stock at December 31, 2006, Sandler O Neill applied price/earnings multiples ranging from 10x to 25x. The dividend income streams and terminal values were then discounted to present values using different discount rates ranging from 9% to 15%, chosen to reflect different assumptions regarding required rates of return of holders or prospective buyers of First Sentinel common stock. As illustrated in the following table, this analysis indicated an imputed range of present values per share of First Sentinel common stock of $8.73 to $23.76. The implied transaction value of the merger as calculated by Sandler O Neill was $22.25 per share.

Sandler O'Neill performed a similar analysis that estimated the future stream of after-tax dividend flows of Provident through December 31, 2006 under various circumstances, assuming Provident's projected dividend stream and that Provident performed in accordance with the earnings projections reviewed with Provident's management. For periods after 2004, Sandler O'Neill assumed an annual growth rate of earnings per share of approximately 10% in 2005 and approximately 9.6% in 2006. To approximate the terminal value of Provident common stock at December 31, 2006, Sandler O'Neill applied price/earnings multiples ranging from 10x to 30x. The dividend income streams and terminal values were then discounted to present values using different discount rates ranging from 9% to 15%, chosen to reflect different assumptions regarding required rates of return of holders or prospective buyers of Provident common stock. As illustrated in the following table, this analysis indicated an imputed range of present values per share of Provident common stock of $6.53 to $21.66. The average closing price of Provident's common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the twenty-day period ending December 18, 2003 was $20.3755.

In connection with its analyses, Sandler O'Neill considered and discussed with the First Sentinel board how the present value analyses would be affected by changes in the underlying assumptions, including variations with respect to net income and dividend payout ratio. Sandler O'Neill noted that the discounted dividend stream and terminal value analysis is a widely used valuation methodology, but the results of such methodology are highly dependent upon the numerous assumptions that must be made, and the results of such analysis are not necessarily indicative of actual values or future results.

Pro Forma Merger Analysis. Sandler O'Neill analyzed certain potential pro forma effects of the merger, assuming the following: (1) the merger closes in the second quarter of 2004; (2) 40% of the First Sentinel shares are exchanged for cash at a value of $22.25 per share; (3) 60% of the First Sentinel shares are exchanged for Provident common stock at an exchange ratio of 1.092; (4) stock options are cashed out at their intrinsic value based on a weighted average exercise price; and (5) purchase accounting adjustments, charges and transaction costs associated with the merger and cost savings determined by the senior managements of First Sentinel and Provident. The financial information for First Sentinel used in this analysis for the period ending September 30, 2003 does not reflect the restatement announced on December 22, 2003. The analysis indicated that, for the year ending December 31, 2004, the merger would be accretive to Provident's projected earnings per share and that at closing, the merger would be dilutive to Provident's tangible book value per share. The actual results achieved by the combined company may vary from projected results and the variations may be material.

First Sentinel has agreed to pay Sandler O'Neill a transaction fee in connection with the merger equal to 0.80% of the aggregate transaction value, of which $1,227,076 (including a fee of $200,000 for rendering its opinion) has been paid, with the remainder being payable and contingent upon closing of the merger. Based upon the closing price of Provident's common stock on May 5, 2004, the fee to be paid to Sandler O'Neill at closing would be approximately $3.7 million. First Sentinel has also agreed to reimburse certain of Sandler O'Neill's reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with its engagement up to $15,000 and to indemnify Sandler O'Neill and its affiliates and their respective partners, directors, officers, employees, agents and controlling persons against certain expenses and liabilities, including liabilities under securities laws.

Sandler O'Neill has in the past provided certain investment banking services to Provident, including managing The Provident Bank's conversion to stock form and Provident's related public offering completed in January 2003, as well as to First Sentinel, and has received compensation for such services, and Sandler O'Neill may provide, and receive compensation for, services to Provident and First Sentinel in the future, including during the pendency of the merger. In the ordinary course of its business as a broker-dealer, Sandler O'Neill may purchase securities from and sell securities to First Sentinel and Provident and their respective affiliates and may actively trade the debt and/or equity securities of First Sentinel and Provident and their respective affiliates for its own account and for the accounts of customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

Recommendation of the Provident Board of Directors and Reasons for the Merger

The Provident board of directors expects the merger to enhance Provident's banking franchise and competitive position in central New Jersey, in particular in Middlesex County, one of New Jersey's most attractive banking markets. The merger also increases Provident's operating and marketing scale. In addition, the merger is consistent with Provident's plans to deploy the capital raised in The Provident Bank's recent mutual to stock conversion.

Table of Contents

The Provident board of directors consulted with Provident's management as well as its financial and legal advisors and determined that the merger is in the best interest of Provident and Provident's stockholders. In reaching its conclusion to approve the merger agreement, the Provident board considered the following factors as generally supporting its decision to enter into the merger agreement:

- (i) The effectiveness of the merger as a method of implementing and accelerating Provident's strategies for expanding Provident's franchise in one of the most desirable banking markets in New Jersey;
- (ii) The effectiveness of the merger as a means of deploying a portion of the conversion proceeds of The Provident Bank's mutual to stock conversion and the strong pro forma tangible common equity of the combined company;
- (iii) Its understanding of Provident's business, operations, financial condition, earnings and prospects and of First Sentinel's business, operations, financial condition, earnings and prospects, including First Sentinel's strong franchise in the central New Jersey market in which it operates;
- (iv) The reports of Provident's management and the financial presentation by Lehman Brothers to Provident's board of directors concerning the operations, financial condition and prospects of First Sentinel and the expected financial impact of the merger on the combined company;
- (v) The similarity between Provident's and First Sentinel's management, philosophies, approaches and commitments to the communities and customers they serve and their respective employees;
- (vi) The proposed retention of key First Sentinel senior executives which would help assure the continuity of management, the likelihood of successful integration and the successful operation of the combined companies;
- (vii) The opinion delivered to the Provident board of directors by Lehman Brothers to the effect that, as of the date of the opinion and based upon and subject to the conditions described in the opinion and other matters as Lehman Brothers considered relevant, the merger consideration to be paid by Provident was fair, from a financial point of view, to Provident.

The Provident board of directors also considered potential risks associated with the merger in connection with its deliberations of the proposed transaction, including the challenges of integrating First Sentinel's business, operations and workforce with those of Provident, the need to obtain stockholder and regulatory approvals in order to complete the transaction, and the risks associated with achieving the anticipated cost savings.

The Provident board of directors considered all of these factors as a whole and, on balance, concluded that they supported a favorable determination to enter into the merger agreement.

The foregoing discussion of the information and factors considered by the Provident board of directors is not exhaustive, but includes the material factors considered by the Provident board of directors. In view of the wide variety of factors considered by the Provident board of directors in connection with its evaluation of the merger and the complexity of these matters, the Provident board of directors did not consider it practical to, nor did it attempt to, quantify, rank or otherwise assign relative weights to the specific factors that it considered in reaching its decision. In considering the factors described above, individual members of the Provident board of directors may have given different weights to different factors.

On the basis of these considerations, the merger agreement was unanimously approved by Provident's board of directors.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT THE STOCKHOLDERS OF PROVIDENT APPROVE THE MERGER AGREEMENT.

Opinion of Provident's Financial Advisor

Provident engaged Lehman Brothers to act as its financial advisor and render its opinion to Provident's board of directors with respect to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to Provident of the consideration to be paid by Provident in connection with the merger with First Sentinel. Lehman Brothers rendered its oral opinion on December 18, 2003, subsequently confirmed in writing on December 19, 2003, to Provident's board of directors that as of December 19, 2003, and based upon and subject to certain matters stated in its opinion, from a financial point of view, the consideration to be paid by Provident in the merger with First Sentinel was fair to Provident.

Subsequent to December 19, 2003, Provident informed Lehman Brothers that First Sentinel intended to announce on December 22, 2003 a restatement of certain historical financial information for the accounting of First Sentinel's Directors' Deferred Fee Plan and a related amendment to that plan. On December 21, 2003, Lehman Brothers, after evaluating the impact of the financial restatement on its financial analyses, advised Provident that the financial restatement by First Sentinel would not change Lehman Brothers' conclusions as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to Provident of the consideration to be paid by Provident in the merger.

The full text of the Lehman Brothers opinion is attached as Appendix B to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. Holders of Provident common stock are encouraged to read Lehman Brothers' opinion carefully in its entirety for a discussion of the assumptions made, procedures followed, factors considered and limitations upon the review undertaken by Lehman Brothers in connection with the rendering of that opinion.

The Lehman Brothers opinion was provided for the information and assistance of Provident's board of directors in connection with its evaluation of the consideration to be paid by Provident in the merger. The Lehman Brothers opinion does not address any other aspect of the transaction and is not intended to be and does not constitute a recommendation to any stockholder of Provident as to how a stockholder should vote in connection with the merger. Lehman Brothers was not requested to opine as to, and the Lehman Brothers opinion does not address, Provident's underlying business decision to proceed with or reject the merger or any potential adjustment to the exchange ratio pursuant to the termination provisions of the merger agreement.

In arriving at its opinion, Lehman Brothers reviewed and analyzed:

the merger agreement and the specific terms of the proposed transaction; publicly available information concerning Provident that Lehman Brothers believed to be relevant to its analysis, including Provident's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002 and Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended March 31, 2003, June 30, 2003 and September 30, 2003;

publicly available information concerning First Sentinel that Lehman Brothers believed to be relevant to its analysis, including First Sentinel's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002 and Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended March 31, 2003, June 30, 2003 and September 30, 2003;

financial and operating information with respect to the business, operations and prospects of First Sentinel furnished to Lehman Brothers by First Sentinel, including financial projections of First Sentinel prepared by management of First Sentinel;

independent research analysts estimates of the future financial performance of First Sentinel published by I/B/E/S;

financial and operating information with respect to the business, operations and prospects of Provident furnished to Lehman Brothers by Provident;

independent research analysts' estimates of the future financial performance of Provident published by I/B/E/S, which we refer to below as the Provident research estimates;

a trading history of First Sentinel common stock from December 18, 1998 to December 17, 2003 and a comparison of that trading history with those of other companies that Lehman Brothers deemed relevant;

a trading history of Provident common stock from January 16, 2003 to December 17, 2003 and a comparison of that trading history with those of other companies that Lehman Brothers deemed relevant;

a comparison of the historical financial results and present financial condition of Provident with those of other companies that Lehman Brothers deemed relevant;

a comparison of the historical financial results and present financial condition of First Sentinel with those of other companies that Lehman Brothers deemed relevant;

the potential pro forma impact on Provident of the proposed transaction, including (1) the cost savings which management of Provident expects to result from a combination of the businesses of Provident and First Sentinel and (2) the effect on Provident's pro forma earnings per share; and a comparison of the financial terms of the proposed transaction with the financial terms of certain other recent transactions that Lehman Brothers deemed relevant.

In addition, Lehman Brothers had discussions with the managements of Provident and First Sentinel concerning their respective businesses, operations, assets, liabilities, financial condition and prospects and the strategic benefits expected by the managements of Provident and First Sentinel to result from a combination of the businesses of Provident and First Sentinel. Lehman Brothers also undertook such other studies, analyses and investigations as Lehman Brothers deemed appropriate.

In arriving at its opinion, Lehman Brothers assumed and relied upon the accuracy and completeness of the financial and other information used by it without assuming any responsibility for independent verification of such information and further relied upon the assurances of the management of Provident and First Sentinel that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make such information inaccurate or misleading. With respect to the First Sentinel projections referenced above, upon advice of First Sentinel, Lehman Brothers assumed that such projections were reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of First Sentinel's management as to the future performance of First Sentinel, and following discussions with the management of Provident, Lehman Brothers further assumed that First Sentinel would perform substantially in accordance with these projections. Lehman Brothers was not provided with any financial projections of Provident prepared by management of Provident. Accordingly, upon advice of Provident, Lehman Brothers assumed that the Provident research estimates referenced above are a reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the future financial performance of Provident and that Provident would perform substantially in accordance with such estimates. Upon advice of Provident, Lehman Brothers also assumed that the expected cost savings would be realized substantially in accordance with Provident's expectations.

In arriving at its opinion, Lehman Brothers did not conduct a physical inspection of the properties and facilities of Provident or First Sentinel and did not make or obtain any evaluations or appraisals of the assets or liabilities of Provident or First Sentinel. In addition, Lehman Brothers is not an expert in the evaluation of loan portfolios or allowances for loan losses and, upon advice of Provident, it assumed that First Sentinel's current allowances for loan losses will be in the aggregate adequate to cover all such losses. The Lehman Brothers opinion was necessarily based upon market, economic and other conditions as they existed on, and could be evaluated as of, the date of the Lehman Brothers opinion.

The following is a summary of the material financial analyses used by Lehman Brothers in connection with providing its opinion to Provident's board of directors on December 19, 2003. Certain of the summaries of financial analyses include information presented in tabular format. In order to fully understand the financial analyses used by Lehman Brothers, the tables must be read together with the text of each summary. The tables alone do not constitute a complete description of the financial analyses. Accordingly, the analyses listed in the tables and described below must be considered as a whole. Considering any portion of such analyses and of the factors considered, without considering all analyses and factors, could create a misleading or incomplete view of the process underlying the Lehman Brothers opinion.

Valuation Analysis

Lehman Brothers performed a valuation analysis of Provident and First Sentinel using the following methodologies: comparable transaction analysis; comparable company analysis; and discounted cash flow analysis. Each of these methodologies was used to generate a reference implied value range for First Sentinel common stock. These values were compared to an implied value of per share merger consideration of $22.25. The implied values for First Sentinel common stock derived from those analyses are as follows:

Methodology	Implied Value Per Share
Comparable Transactions Analysis	$20.27 - $25.96
Comparable Company Analysis (with 25% control premium)	$18.60 - $24.13
Discounted Cash Flow Analysis	$19.20 - $22.78
Implied Transaction Price	$22.25

Comparable Transactions Analysis

Lehman Brothers reviewed publicly available information for eight transactions involving, as acquired institutions, publicly traded banks and thrifts based in the mid-Atlantic region of the United States that were announced from January 1, 2002 to December 17, 2003 with transaction values between $200 million and $1 billion. The selected transactions considered by Lehman Brothers included (in each case, the first named company was the acquirer and the second named company was the acquired company in the transactions):

North Fork Bancorporation, Inc. / The Trust Company of New Jersey

Susquehanna Bancshares, Inc. / Patriot Bank Corp.

Provident Bankshares Corporation / Southern Financial Bancorp

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

FleetBoston Financial Corporation / Progress Financial Corporation

The PNC Financial Services Group, Inc. / United National Bancorp

First Niagara Financial Group, Inc. / Troy Financial Corporation

Mercantile Bankshares Corporation / F&M Bancorp

The Royal Bank of Scotland Group / Commonwealth Bancorp. Inc.

Table of Contents

For these selected merger transactions, Lehman Brothers used publicly available financial information, including information obtained from SNL Financial's online databases to determine:

The multiples of the transaction price per share to the median of earnings per share for the last twelve months (LTM) at the time of announcement;

The multiples of the transaction price per share to the median forward consensus of earnings estimates per share at the time of announcement;

The multiples of the transaction price per share to both the book value per share and the tangible book value per share using the acquired companies' most recent financial reports at the time of announcement of the transactions;

The implied tangible book premium to core deposits (defined as total deposits less certificates of deposit greater than $100,000); and

The premiums per share paid by the acquirer compared to the share price of the acquired company prevailing one day prior to the announcement of those transactions.

Lehman Brothers considered these selected merger transactions to be reasonably similar, but not identical, to the proposed merger of First Sentinel and Provident. A complete analysis involves complex considerations and judgments concerning differences in the selected merger transactions and other factors that could affect the premiums paid in such comparable transactions to which the merger is being compared; mathematical analysis (such as determining the median) is not by itself a meaningful method of using selected merger transaction data. SNL Financial is a recognized data service that collects, standardizes and disseminates relevant corporate, financial, market and merger and acquisitions data for companies in the industries it covers.

The following table summarizes the results from the comparable transaction analysis:

Metric	High	Median	Low
Price to:
LTM EPS	52.3x	23.6x	19.7x
Current estimated EPS	25.5x	22.2x	18.5x
Book value	3.15x	2.74x	2.12x
Tangible book value	3.83x	3.36x	2.58x
Implied tangible book premium to core deposits	74.0%	26.5%	17.3%
One-day market premium	65.4%	26.8%	6.1%

Lehman Brothers then applied these median multiples and premiums to the corresponding financial data for First Sentinel (using market data as of December 17, 2003). This analysis yielded a range of implied values for First Sentinel common stock of $20.27 to $25.96.

Comparable Companies Analysis

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

Lehman Brothers analyzed the public market statistics of certain comparable companies to each of First Sentinel and Provident, and examined various trading statistics and information. As part of this comparable companies analysis, Lehman Brothers examined public market data, including market multiples, including:

The multiple of market price per share to median estimated 2003 earnings per share;

The multiple of market price per share to median estimated 2004 earnings per share;

The multiple of market price per share to book value per share; and

The multiple of market price per share to tangible book value per share.

Table of Contents

For each of the multiples analyzed, Lehman Brothers determined a range of those multiples, centered around the mean, that Lehman Brothers determined to be the relevant range of those multiples. The estimated 2003 and 2004 earnings per share were obtained from I/B/E/S and the remaining information was obtained from publicly available financial information at or for the quarter ended September 30, 2003 and SNL Financial's online database. The stock price data used for this analysis was the closing price for the selected companies on December 17, 2003.

Lehman Brothers selected the companies below because their businesses and operating profiles are reasonably similar to that of First Sentinel and Provident, respectively. No comparable company identified below is identical to either First Sentinel or Provident, respectively. A complete analysis involves complex considerations and qualitative judgments concerning differences in financial and operating characteristics of the comparable companies and other factors that could affect public trading values of such comparable companies; mathematical analysis (such as determining the median) is not by itself a meaningful method of using selected company data.

First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc. In choosing comparable companies to analyze, Lehman Brothers selected a peer group of publicly traded thrifts operating in the mid-Atlantic region of the United States with a market capitalization of between $200 million and $800 million. Discounted Cash Flow Analysis Lehman Brothers performed a discounted cash flow analysis to estimate a range of implied present values per share of the common stock for each of First Sentinel and Provident.

First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc. For First Sentinel, Lehman Brothers, at the discretion of the management of Provident, assumed I/B/E/S earnings estimates for 2004 and an annual growth of earnings at the long-term growth rate of 10%. The cash flows were modeled assuming the cost savings and operating synergies which management of Provident expects from the merger are realized and that management's estimates of one-time costs resulting from the merger are accurate. The valuation range was determined by adding (i) the present value of First Sentinel's dividendable earnings, net of earnings necessary to maintain a tangible common equity to tangible assets ratio of 5.5%, from June 30, 2004 through December 31, 2008 and (ii) the present value of the terminal value of First Sentinel common stock.

Table of Contents

In calculating the terminal value of First Sentinel common stock, Lehman Brothers applied multiples ranging from 14.0x to 16.0x to 2009 forecasted earnings. The dividend stream and the terminal value were then discounted back to December 17, 2003 using discount rates ranging from 11.0% to 13.0%, which rates Lehman Brothers viewed as the appropriate range for a company with First Sentinel's risk characteristics. Based on the above assumptions, Lehman Brothers calculated a range of implied present values for First Sentinel common stock from $19.20 to $22.78.

Provident Financial Services, Inc. For Provident, Lehman Brothers, after discussions with the management of Provident, assumed I/B/E/S earnings estimates for 2004 and an annual growth of earnings at the long-term growth rate of 10% as provided by the management of Provident. The valuation range was determined by adding (i) the present value of Provident's dividendable earnings, net of earnings necessary to maintain a tangible common equity to tangible assets ratio of 6.0%, from June 30, 2004 through December 31, 2008 and (ii) the present value of the terminal value of Provident common stock.

In calculating the terminal value of Provident common stock, Lehman Brothers applied multiples ranging from 14.0x to 16.0x to 2009 forecasted earnings. The dividend stream and the terminal value were then discounted back to December 17, 2003 using discount rates ranging from 11.0% to 13.0%, which rates Lehman Brothers viewed as the appropriate range for a company with Provident's risk characteristics. Based on the above assumptions, Lehman Brothers calculated a range of implied present values for Provident common stock from $18.92 to $20.92.

Pro Forma Analysis

Lehman Brothers performed an illustrative pro forma analysis of the financial impact of the merger on Provident, using I/B/E/S earnings estimates for 2004 for First Sentinel and Provident. Lehman Brothers assumed net income growth rates after 2004 were 10% for First Sentinel and Provident, based on I/B/E/S estimates for First Sentinel and management's estimates for Provident. In calculating the impact of the merger on the pro forma income statement of the combined entity, the following assumptions were made:

the consideration paid to the First Sentinel stockholders in the merger would be equal to 60% stock and 40% cash; deposit intangibles of 3% of core deposits amortized on a straight-line basis over 10 years;

a 35.0% tax rate;

a pre-tax restructuring charge of $30.0 million;

3.00% cost of cash; and a transaction closing date of June 30, 2004.

Based on these assumptions, taking into account certain after-tax projected expense savings, but not potential after-tax mark-to-market purchase accounting adjustments, the merger would be accretive to Provident's earnings per share by 11.3% in 2004 and 21.5% in 2005. The financial forecasts and estimates underlying this analysis are subject to substantial uncertainty and, therefore, actual results may be substantially different.

General

In rendering its opinion, Lehman Brothers performed a variety of financial and comparable analyses. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex process and is not susceptible to partial analysis or summary description. In arriving at its opinion, Lehman Brothers considered the results of all of its analyses as a whole and did not attribute any particular weight to any analysis or factor considered by them. Furthermore, Lehman Brothers believes that the summary provided and the analyses described above must be considered as a whole and that selecting any portion of their analyses, without considering all of them, would create an incomplete view of the process underlying their analyses and opinions. As a result, the ranges of valuations resulting from any particular analysis or combination of analyses described above were merely utilized to create points of reference for analytical purposes and should not be taken to be the view of Lehman Brothers with respect to the actual value of Provident, First Sentinel or the combined entity.

In performing its analyses, Lehman Brothers made numerous assumptions with respect to industry performance, general business and economic conditions and other matters, many of which are beyond the control of Lehman Brothers, Provident or First Sentinel. Any estimates contained in the analyses of Lehman Brothers are not necessarily indicative of future results or actual values, which may be significantly more or less favorable than those suggested by those estimates. The analyses performed were prepared solely as part of the analyses of Lehman Brothers of the fairness to Provident of the consideration to be paid to the stockholders of First Sentinel in the merger with Provident and were prepared in connection with the delivery by Lehman Brothers of its opinion to Provident's board of directors. The analyses do not purport to be appraisals or to reflect the prices at which the shares of Provident common stock will trade following the announcement or completion of the merger. The consideration to be paid to the stockholders of First Sentinel in the merger and other terms of the merger were determined through arms-length negotiations between Provident and First Sentinel and were approved by Provident's board of directors. Lehman Brothers provided advice to Provident during those negotiations. However, Lehman Brothers did not recommend any specific exchange ratio or other form of consideration to Provident or that any specific exchange ratio or other form of consideration constituted the only appropriate consideration for the merger. The opinion of Lehman Brothers was one of many factors taken into consideration by Provident's board of directors in making its determination to approve the merger. The analyses of Lehman Brothers summarized above should not be viewed as determinative of the opinion of Provident's board of directors with respect to the value of Provident, First Sentinel or the combined entity or of whether Provident's board of directors would have been willing to agree to a different exchange ratio or other forms of consideration.

Provident engaged Lehman Brothers as its financial advisor because of its reputation as an internationally recognized investment banking and advisory firm with substantial experience in transactions similar to the merger and because Lehman Brothers is familiar with Provident and its business.

As part of its investment banking and financial advisory business, Lehman Brothers is continually engaged in the valuation of businesses and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions, negotiated underwritings, competitive biddings, secondary distributions of listed and unlisted securities, private placements and valuations for corporate and other purposes. Lehman Brothers provides a full range of financial advisory and securities services. In the past, Lehman Brothers has provided various investment banking and other services to First Sentinel and has received customary fees for the rendering of brokerage services. Lehman Brothers also may provide services to Provident, First Sentinel or the combined entity in the future for which it would expect to receive fees. In the ordinary course of its business, Lehman Brothers (or its affiliates) may actively trade the debt and equity securities of Provident or First Sentinel for its own accounts or for the accounts of its customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold long or short positions in those securities.

Provident has agreed to pay Lehman Brothers a fee of $750,000 upon execution of the merger agreement and an additional fee of $2,450,000 contingent on the closing of the transaction. Provident has also agreed to reimburse Lehman Brothers for its reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with the engagement and to indemnify Lehman Brothers from and against certain liabilities that may arise out of its engagement and the rendering of its opinion, including liabilities under the federal securities laws.

Merger Consideration; Cash or Stock Election

Under the terms of the merger agreement, at the effective time of the merger each outstanding share of First Sentinel common stock (other than dissenting shares and shares held by Provident and First Sentinel) will be converted into the right to receive, at the election of the holder of such shares and subject to the proration and allocation procedures described below, either:

$22.25 in cash (without interest), assuming payment solely of cash in exchange for First Sentinel common stock; or

1.092 shares of Provident common stock, assuming payment solely of Provident common stock in exchange for a share of First Sentinel common stock; or a combination of cash plus shares of Provident common stock.

No fractional shares of Provident common stock will be issued in connection with the merger. Instead, First Sentinel stockholders will receive, without interest, a cash payment from Provident equal to the fractional share interest they otherwise would have received, multiplied by the value of Provident common stock. For this purpose, Provident common stock will be valued at the average of its daily closing sales prices during the five consecutive trading days immediately preceding the completion date of the merger.

First Sentinel stockholders, including employee stock ownership plan participants with respect to shares allocated to their accounts, have the right to dissent from the merger and to receive payment in cash for the fair value of their shares of First Sentinel common stock instead of the merger consideration. For a description of these dissenters' rights, see page 80.

Based on the closing price of $18.00 per share of Provident common stock on April 30, 2004, each share of First Sentinel common stock that is exchanged solely for Provident common stock would be converted into 1.092 shares of Provident common stock having a value of $19.66. We cannot give you any assurance as to whether or when the merger will be completed, and you are advised to obtain current market quotations for Provident common stock.

All elections by First Sentinel stockholders are subject to the allocation and proration procedures described in the merger agreement. These procedures are intended to ensure that 60% of the outstanding shares of First Sentinel common stock will be converted into the right to receive Provident common stock, and the remaining outstanding shares of First Sentinel common stock will be converted into the right to receive cash.

It is unlikely that elections will be made in the exact proportions provided for in the merger agreement. As a result, the merger agreement describes procedures to be followed if First Sentinel stockholders in the aggregate elect to receive more or less of Provident common stock than Provident has agreed to issue. These procedures are summarized below.

If Provident common stock is oversubscribed: If First Sentinel stockholders elect to receive more Provident common stock than Provident has agreed to issue in the merger, then all First Sentinel stockholders who have elected to receive cash or who have made no election will receive cash for their First Sentinel shares and all stockholders who elected to receive Provident common stock will receive a pro rata portion of the available Provident shares plus cash for those shares not converted into Provident common stock.

If Provident common stock is undersubscribed: If First Sentinel stockholders elect to receive fewer shares of Provident common stock than Provident has agreed to issue in the merger, and if the number of shares as to which First Sentinel stockholders have made no election is less than or equal to this shortfall, then all First Sentinel stockholders who have elected to receive Provident common stock or who have made no election will receive Provident common stock, and all First Sentinel stockholders who have elected to receive cash will receive a pro rata portion of the available cash consideration plus Provident shares for those First Sentinel shares not converted into cash; or if the number of no election shares is greater than the shortfall, then all First Sentinel stockholders who have elected to receive Provident common stock will receive Provident common stock, all First Sentinel stockholders who have elected to receive cash will receive cash, and all First Sentinel stockholders who made no election will receive a pro rata portion of the remaining available cash consideration plus Provident shares for those First Sentinel shares not converted into cash.

Notwithstanding these allocation procedures, in order to help assure that the transaction will qualify as a tax-free reorganization, if the aggregate value of the stock consideration less the amount of cash paid in lieu of fractional shares is less than 42.5% of the sum of (i) the aggregate value of all of the merger consideration; (ii) the value of any consideration described in Department of Treasury Regulation Section 1.368-1(e)(ii); (iii) cash paid to dissenting stockholders; and (iv) the value of the consideration paid by Provident to acquire First Sentinel common stock prior to the closing of the merger, Provident shall increase the number of shares of Provident common stock, and correspondingly decrease the amount of cash, that First Sentinel stockholders will receive upon the exchange of their shares, such that the aggregate value of the stock consideration to be delivered at the closing of the merger shall equal 42.5% of the sum described above. If this adjustment is necessary, stockholders who elect to receive cash or a combination of cash and stock may be required to receive a greater amount of Provident common stock than they otherwise would have received.

Neither First Sentinel nor Provident is making any recommendation as to whether First Sentinel stockholders should elect to receive cash or Provident common stock in the merger. You must make your own decision with respect to such election.

No guarantee can be made that you will receive the amounts of cash or stock you elect. As a result of the allocation procedures and other limitations outlined in this document and in the merger agreement, you may receive Provident common stock or cash in amounts that vary from the amounts you elect to receive.

Employees who hold allocated shares of First Sentinel common stock in their employee stock ownership plan accounts will be able to direct the employee stock ownership plan trustee to make an election to receive cash, Provident common stock or a combination of cash and Provident common stock for their accounts. The employee stock ownership plan trustee, as directed by the employee stock ownership plan administrator, will make an election to receive cash, Provident common stock or a combination of cash and Provident common stock for the unallocated shares of First Sentinel common stock held in the employee stock ownership plan, and for any shares for which no directions are received. The election to receive cash, Provident common stock or a combination of cash and Provident common stock for unallocated shares of First Sentinel common stock in the employee stock ownership plan will be made in a manner intended to produce as nearly as possible, after repayment of the employee stock ownership plan loan incurred to acquire First Sentinel common stock, the same net percentage of cash and common stock of Provident as the aggregate percentages of cash and common stock elected by participating employees with respect to their allocated employee stock ownership plan shares. Similarly, employees who hold shares of First Sentinel common stock in their 401(k) plan accounts will be able to direct the 401(k) plan trustee to make an election to receive cash, Provident common stock or a combination of cash and Provident common stock for their accounts.

Election Procedures; Surrender of Stock Certificates

If you are a record holder of First Sentinel common stock, an election form will be provided to you under separate cover. The election form will entitle you to elect to receive cash, Provident common stock, or a combination of cash and Provident common stock, or elect no preference with respect to the merger consideration that you wish to receive.

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

To make a valid election, you must submit a properly completed election form to Registrar and Transfer Company, which will be acting as the exchange agent, on or before 5:00 p.m., New York time, on the twentieth business day following the mailing of the election form unless such deadline is extended by Provident and First Sentinel. Registrar and Transfer Company, as exchange agent, will process the exchange of First Sentinel common stock certificates for cash and/or Provident common stock. Shortly after the election deadline, the exchange agent will allocate cash and shares of Provident common stock among First Sentinel stockholders, consistent with their elections and the allocation and proration procedures set forth in the merger agreement. If you do not submit an election form, you will receive instructions from the exchange agent as to where to surrender your First Sentinel stock certificates after the merger is completed. Please do not forward your First Sentinel stock certificates and election form with your proxy cards. Stock certificates and election forms should be returned to the exchange agent in accordance with the instructions contained in the election form.

An election form will be deemed properly completed only if accompanied by stock certificates representing all shares of First Sentinel common stock covered by the election form (or an appropriate guarantee of delivery). You may change your election at any time prior to the election deadline by written notice accompanied by a properly completed and signed, revised election form received by the exchange agent prior to the election deadline. You may revoke your election by written notice received by the exchange agent prior to the election deadline. All elections will be revoked automatically if the merger agreement is terminated. If you have a preference for receiving either Provident common stock and/or cash for your First Sentinel common stock, you should complete and return the election form. If you do not make an election, you will be allocated Provident common stock and/or cash depending on the elections made by other First Sentinel stockholders.

If stock certificates for First Sentinel common stock are not immediately available or time will not permit the election form and other required documents to reach the exchange agent prior to the election deadline, a valid election may be made provided that:

1. elections are made by or through a member firm of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., or another registered national securities exchange, or by a commercial bank or trust company having an office, branch or agency in the United States;
2. the exchange agent receives, prior to the election deadline, a properly completed and duly executed notice of guaranteed delivery substantially in the form provided with the election form (delivered by hand, mail, overnight courier or facsimile transmission); and
3. the exchange agent receives, prior to the third business day after the election deadline, the certificates for all exchanged First Sentinel shares, or confirmation of the delivery of all such certificates into the exchange agent's account with the Depository Trust Company in accordance with the proper procedures for such transfer, together with a properly completed and duly executed election form and any other documents required by the election form.

First Sentinel stockholders who do not submit a properly completed election form or revoke their election form prior to the election deadline will have their shares of First Sentinel common stock designated as non-election shares.

First Sentinel stockholders who hold their shares of common stock in street name through a bank, broker or other financial institution, and who wish to make an election, should seek instructions from the institution holding their shares concerning how to make the election.

Provident will deposit with the exchange agent the shares representing Provident's common stock and cash to be issued to First Sentinel stockholders in exchange for their shares of First Sentinel common stock. Within five business days after the completion of the merger, the exchange agent will mail to First Sentinel stockholders who do not submit election forms or who have revoked such forms a letter of transmittal, together with instructions for the exchange of their First Sentinel stock certificates for the merger consideration. Upon surrendering his or her certificate(s) representing shares of First Sentinel common stock, together with the signed letter of transmittal, the First Sentinel stockholder shall be entitled to receive, as applicable (i) certificate(s) representing a number of whole shares of Provident common stock (if any) determined in accordance with the exchange ratio or (ii) a check representing the amount of cash (if any) to which such holder shall have become entitled to and (iii) a check representing the amount of cash in lieu of fractional shares, if any. Until you surrender your First Sentinel stock certificates for exchange after completion of the merger, you will not be paid dividends or other distributions declared after the merger with respect to any Provident common stock into which your shares have been exchanged. No interest will be paid or accrued to First Sentinel stockholders on the cash consideration, cash in lieu of fractional shares or unpaid dividends and distributions, if any. After the completion of the merger, there will be no further transfers of First Sentinel common stock. First Sentinel stock certificates presented for transfer will be canceled and exchanged for the merger consideration.

If your stock certificates have been lost, stolen or destroyed, you will have to prove your ownership of these certificates and that they were lost, stolen or destroyed before you receive any consideration for your shares. Upon request, Registrar and Transfer Company will send you instructions on how to provide evidence of ownership.

If any certificate representing shares of Provident's common stock is to be issued in a name other than that in which the certificate for shares surrendered in exchange is registered, or cash is to be paid to a person other than the registered holder, it will be a condition of issuance or payment that the certificate so surrendered be properly endorsed or otherwise be in proper form for transfer and that the person requesting the exchange either:

pay to the exchange agent in advance any transfer or other taxes required by reason of the issuance of a certificate or payment to a person other than the registered holder of the certificate surrendered; or establish to the satisfaction of the exchange agent that the tax has been paid or is not payable.

Any portion of the cash or shares of Provident common stock made available to the exchange agent that remains unclaimed by First Sentinel stockholders for six months after the effective time of the merger will be returned to Provident. Any First Sentinel stockholder who has not exchanged shares of First Sentinel common stock for the merger consideration in accordance with the merger agreement before that time may look only to Provident for payment of the merger consideration for these shares and any unpaid dividends or distributions after that time. Nonetheless, Provident, First Sentinel, the exchange agent or any other person will not be liable to any First Sentinel stockholder for any amount properly delivered to a public official under applicable abandoned property, escheat or similar laws.

Treatment of First Sentinel Stock Options

Each option to purchase shares of First Sentinel common stock outstanding and unexercised immediately prior to the effective time of the merger will be cancelled and all rights under such option will be extinguished in exchange for a cash payment equal to $22.25 less the exercise price per share of the stock option, multiplied by the number of shares of First Sentinel common stock subject to the stock option, less any required tax withholding.

Provident will be entitled to deduct and withhold from the consideration otherwise payable pursuant to the merger agreement to any First Sentinel optionholder any amount that Provident is required to deduct and withhold under any provision of federal, state, local or foreign tax law. Any withheld amounts will be treated for all purposes of the merger agreement as having been paid to the First Sentinel optionholder from whom the amount was withheld by Provident.

Employee Matters

The First Sentinel employee stock ownership plan will be terminated upon consummation of the merger. The employee stock ownership plan loan will be paid in full and the remaining assets of the employee stock ownership plan will be allocated and distributed to the employee stock ownership plan participants in cash or shares of Provident common stock, in accordance with their elections and the allocation and proration procedures set forth in the merger agreement. Provident will review all other First Sentinel compensation and employee benefit plans that do not otherwise terminate (whether pursuant to the terms of any such plan or the merger agreement) to determine whether to maintain, terminate or continue such plans. Each person who is an employee of First Savings Bank as of the closing of the merger (whose employment is not specifically terminated upon the closing) will become an employee of Provident. In the event employee compensation or benefits as currently provided by First Sentinel or First Savings Bank are changed or terminated by Provident, Provident has agreed to provide compensation and benefits that are, in the aggregate, substantially similar to the compensation and benefits provided to similarly situated Provident employees.

All First Sentinel employees who become employees of Provident at the effective time generally will be given credit for service at First Sentinel or its subsidiaries for eligibility to participate in and the satisfaction of vesting requirements (but not for pension benefit accrual purposes) under Provident's compensation and benefit plans (but not for any purpose under the Provident employee stock ownership plan). Provident has also agreed to honor the First Savings Bank Employee Severance Plan.

See Interests of Directors and Officers In the Merger below for a discussion of employment agreements.

Interests of Directors and Officers In the Merger

Employment Agreements. The existing employment agreements First Sentinel and First Savings Bank have entered into with its President and Chief Executive Officer, Christopher Martin, will be honored by Provident. The consummation of the merger constitutes a change in control under the employment agreements. The employment agreements provide that, in the event of termination of employment following a change in control, the covered executive will be entitled to a payment in an amount equal to the greater of: (1) the payments and benefits due for the remaining term of the agreement (including, among other things, salary, bonus, tax-qualified and non-qualified benefit plan payments and accruals) and (2) three times the average of the three preceding years' compensation (excluding compensation attributable to the exercise of stock options). In addition, the employment agreements with First Sentinel also contain provisions that would increase Mr. Martin's payment to cover any excise and other taxes that may be incurred if Mr. Martin's payments under the employment agreements are considered excess parachute payments under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code. First Sentinel, First Savings Bank, Provident and Mr. Martin have agreed that Mr. Martin will receive, upon the consummation of the merger, a cash severance payment of $2,488,932 and continued life, medical, health, disability and dental insurance coverage for 36 months in full settlement of his rights. It was agreed that such payment would be made to Mr. Martin regardless of whether Mr. Martin's employment is terminated as an inducement to Mr. Martin to play a role in the combined company following the merger. Mr. Martin has waived his rights to receive a tax indemnity payment under his employment agreements. Mr. Martin has also agreed that if he has an excess parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code, he will reduce a portion of the cash severance payment payable to him in 2004 to an amount sufficient to avoid such excess parachute payment.

In connection with the merger, Provident has asked Mr. Martin to serve as President of Provident and The Provident Bank and Provident has entered into an employment agreement with Mr. Martin, effective as of the merger closing date. Under the terms of the employment agreement, Mr. Martin will receive an annual base salary of $365,000. In addition, the agreement provides for participation in bonus programs and other employee pension benefit and fringe benefit plans applicable to executive employees, reasonable vacation and sick leave, reimbursement of certain club membership fees, the use of a company-owned automobile and reimbursement of costs associated with the use of such automobile. In the event Mr. Martin's employment is terminated for reasons other than for cause, for retirement or for disability or following a change in control, he would be entitled to a cash amount equal to the greater of: the payments due for the remaining term of the employment agreement, or three times the sum of (i) the highest annual rate of base salary and (ii) the greater of (x) the average cash bonus paid over the last three years or (y) the cash bonus paid in the year ended prior to the event of termination, as well as the continuation of life, medical, dental and disability insurance coverage for three years. Mr. Martin may resign from employment and receive the benefits described above as a result of (i) a material change in the nature or scope of his function, duties or responsibilities, (ii) a material reduction in benefits and perquisites, including base salary, from those being provided immediately following the effective date of the employment agreement, (iii) a relocation of where he is required to perform services to a location more than 25 miles from The Provident Bank's principal executive offices, (iv) a failure to elect or reelect or to appoint or reappoint him to the position of President of The Provident Bank or Provident, (v) a liquidation or dissolution of The Provident Bank or Provident, or (vi) a material breach of the employment agreement by The Provident Bank or Provident. The employment agreement with Provident provides that following a change in control (as defined in the agreement), Mr. Martin will receive the severance payments and insurance benefits described above if he resigns during the one-year period following the change in control or if he is terminated during the remaining term of the employment.

Change in Control Agreements. First Savings Bank has entered into three-year and two-year change in control agreements with twelve of its officers other than Mr. Martin. Each of Messrs. Richard Spengler and Thomas M. Lyons and Ms. Ann C. Clancy, Ms. Nancy E. Graves and Ms. Karen Iacullo-Martino, executive officers of First Sentinel or First Savings Bank, is a party to a three-year change in control agreement. Certain other three-year and the two-year change in control agreements are with non-executive officers of First Sentinel. The three-year change in control agreements contain daily renewal provisions while the two-year change in control agreements contain annual renewal provisions. Both the three-year and two-year change in control agreements contain double-triggers requiring both a change in control and an executive's subsequent termination of employment due to dismissal or voluntary resignation following a demotion, loss of title, office or significant authority, reduction in benefits or annual compensation or if the executive's office is relocated by more than 25 miles. In such case, the executive will be paid an amount either in a lump sum, or at the executive's election in three equal annual installments, equal to three times the executive's average annual compensation (defined as base salary, income related to granting or vesting of restricted stock, commissions, bonuses, contributions to pensions and profit sharing plans, severance, directors and committee fees, and fringe benefits) for the three preceding taxable years. The executive will also be provided, at no cost to the executive, with continued life, medical and disability coverage for thirty-six months or twenty-four months following termination, based on the term of the agreement.

If each person covered by a three-year change in control agreement was terminated, the aggregate change in control cash severance payment under the change in control agreements would be approximately $5,100,128. Of this amount, the cash severance payments to each of Messrs. Spengler and Lyons and Ms. Clancy, Ms. Graves and Ms. Iacullo-Martino would be approximately $1,119,517, $587,404, $729,717, $806,031 and $696,097, respectively. If each person covered by a two-year change in control agreement was terminated, the aggregate change in control cash severance payment to such persons would be approximately $1,479,710. Both the three-year change in control agreements and the two-year change in control agreements require a cut-back in the severance benefit payments to the covered executive to the extent necessary to avoid an excess parachute payment. First Sentinel, First Savings Bank, Provident and each of the 12 individuals who have change in control agreements with First Savings Bank have agreed that the change in control severance payments described above will be paid on consummation of the merger whether or not his or her employment terminates. Such payments are intended as an inducement to these individuals to consider possible offers of employment with Provident after the merger without regard to the effect of such employment on their existing contract rights.

In connection with the merger, each of Richard Spengler, Nancy E. Graves and Thomas M. Lyons will be offered management level positions at Provident and/or The Provident Bank and each of them have entered into two-year change in control agreements with Provident to be effective as of the merger closing date.

Supplemental Executive Retirement Plans. First Savings Bank has adopted two supplemental executive retirement plans (SERP I and SERP II). A participant's benefit under SERP I is equal to (i) the excess of 75% of the participant's base salary payments during the 12 consecutive months in which he received the greatest amount of payments over (ii) the amount of the participant's Pension Plan Annual Benefit and Primary Social Security Benefit. The SERP I benefit is reduced by 4% for each year of benefit service less than 25. In the event of a change in control, the SERP I benefit is not subject to reduction based on years of service or early payment. The SERP I benefits First Sentinel's former Chief Executive Officer, John P. Mulkerin, who retired in 2002, and First Sentinel's current Chief Executive Officer, Christopher Martin. Under the terms of the merger agreement and SERP I, all benefits under SERP I were paid in full to the plan's two beneficiaries as of December 31, 2003. Mr. Mulkerin received a payment of $1,318,362 and Mr. Martin received $2,560,807, each in satisfaction of all unpaid benefits due under SERP I, and SERP I was terminated.

Under SERP II, Mr. Martin is entitled to receive additional retirement benefits that cannot be provided under the First Savings Bank 401(k) plan and employee stock ownership plan due to tax law limitations. SERP II also makes up for benefits lost under the employee stock ownership plan if a participant retires or otherwise terminates employment before the employee stock ownership plan loan is repaid. For these purposes, a change in control is deemed to result in a termination of employment regardless of whether the employee's employment is actually terminated. Under the terms of the merger agreement and SERP II, all benefits under SERP II were paid in full to the plan's only participant as of December 31, 2003. Mr. Martin received a payment of $466,517 in satisfaction of all unpaid benefits due under SERP II, and SERP II was terminated.

Indemnification. Pursuant to the merger agreement, Provident has agreed that, for a period of six years after the effective date of the merger, it will indemnify, defend and hold harmless each present and former officer or director of First Sentinel or any of its subsidiaries against all losses, claims, damages, costs, expenses (including attorneys' fees), liabilities, judgments and amounts that are paid in settlement (with the approval of Provident, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld) of or in connection with any claim, action, suit, proceeding or investigation, based in whole or in part on, or arising in whole or in part out of, the fact that such person is or was a director or officer of First Sentinel or any of its subsidiaries if such action or proceeding pertains to any matter of fact arising, existing or occurring before the closing date of the merger to the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, First Sentinel's certificate of incorporation and bylaws, and Provident's certificate of incorporation and bylaws. Provident will pay expenses in advance of the final disposition of any such action or proceeding to the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, provided that the person to whom such expenses are advanced agrees to repay such expenses if it is ultimately determined that such person is not entitled to indemnification.

Directors and Officers Insurance. Provident has further agreed, for a period of six years after the effective date of the merger, to cause the persons serving as officers and directors of First Sentinel immediately prior to the effective date to continue to be covered by First Sentinel's current directors' and officers' liability insurance policies (provided that Provident may substitute policies of at least the same coverage and amounts containing terms and conditions which are not materially less favorable than First Sentinel's current policies) with respect to acts or omissions occurring prior to the effective date which were committed by such officers and directors in their capacity as such. Provident is not required to spend more than 150% of the annual cost currently incurred by First Sentinel for its insurance coverage.

Appointment of Three First Sentinel Board Members to the Boards of Directors of Provident and The Provident Bank. As of the closing of the merger, the number of persons constituting the boards of directors of Provident and The Provident Bank will be increased by two persons, and John P. Mulkerin and Jeffries Shein, who are directors of First Sentinel and who have been designated by First Sentinel and approved by the board of directors of Provident, shall be appointed and elected to the Provident and The Provident Bank boards, one to serve for a term of office expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held following the year ending December 31, 2005 and the other to serve for a term of office expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held following the year ending December 31, 2006. The boards of directors of Provident and The Provident Bank, or their nominating/governance committees, shall consider nominating such persons for an additional three-year term in a manner consistent with its consideration of other incumbent directors, if these persons continue to meet the qualifications for election as a director of Provident and The Provident Bank. In addition, during the calendar year 2005, the boards of directors of Provident and The Provident Bank, or their nominating/governance committees, will appoint either Mr. Martin or one of the members of the advisory board established as part of the merger as a director of Provident and The Provident Bank, for a term of office expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held following the year ending December 31, 2005.

Appointment to Advisory Board. Effective as of the closing of the merger, Provident shall establish an advisory board. Each person who served on the board of directors of First Sentinel or First Savings Bank as of December 19, 2003 as well as immediately prior to the closing of the merger will be appointed to the advisory board, except for Mr. Martin and those First Sentinel board members who join the Provident board. The advisory board will meet quarterly, and each advisory board member will receive health insurance coverage and an annual advisory board fee, the aggregate cost of which will not exceed $24,000 per year per advisory board member. The advisory board shall be continued for a period of three years.

First Savings Bank Non-Employee Director Retirement Plan. The First Savings Bank Non-Employee Director Retirement Plan will be terminated immediately prior to the consummation of the merger, and the benefits under the Plan will be paid, in cash, in accordance with the terms of the plan.

Summary of Payments and Benefits. The following table summarizes, for the individuals and groups specified, the estimated value of payments and benefits (other than insurance continuation) the payment of which is contingent on, or accelerated by, the merger:

Conduct of Business Pending the Merger

The merger agreement contains various restrictions on the operations of First Sentinel and Provident before the effective time of the merger. In general, the merger agreement obligates First Sentinel and Provident to conduct their businesses in the usual, regular and ordinary course of business and to use reasonable efforts to preserve intact their business organizations and assets and maintain their rights and franchises. In addition, First Sentinel has agreed that, except as expressly contemplated by the merger agreement or specified in a schedule to the merger agreement, without the prior written consent of Provident, it will not, among other things:

change or waive any provision of its certificate of incorporation or bylaws, except as required by law;

enter into, amend in any material respect or terminate any material contract or agreement;

except for prior commitments previously disclosed to Provident, make any new loan or other credit facility commitment to any borrower or group of affiliated borrowers in excess of $10,000,000 for a commercial real estate loan, $5,000,000 for a construction loan, $1,000,000 for a commercial business loan or $1,000,000 for a residential loan; or make or change any material banking policies.

Provident has also agreed that, without the prior written consent of First Sentinel, it will not, among other things:

change or waive any provision of its certificate of incorporation or bylaws, except as required by law; or change any accounting method or practice, except as required by generally accepted accounting principles in the United States.

In addition to these covenants, the merger agreement contains various other customary covenants, including, among other things, access to information, maintenance of insurance, each party's efforts to cause its representations and warranties to be true and correct on the closing date; and each party's agreement to use its reasonable best efforts to cause the merger to qualify as a tax-free reorganization.

Representations and Warranties

The merger agreement contains a number of representations and warranties by Provident and First Sentinel regarding aspects of their respective businesses, financial condition, structure and other facts pertinent to the merger that are customary for a transaction of this kind. They include, among other things, representations as to:

the organization, existence, corporate power and authority and capitalization of each of the companies;

the absence of conflicts with and violations of law and various documents, contracts and agreements;

the absence of any event or circumstance which is reasonably likely to be materially adverse to the companies;

the absence of materially adverse litigation;

the accuracy of reports and financial statements filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission; required consents and filings with governmental entities and other approvals required for the merger;

the existence, performance and legal effect of certain contracts;

compliance with applicable laws;

the filing of tax returns, payment of taxes and other tax matters;

loan and investment portfolio matters;

labor and employee benefit matters; and compliance with applicable environmental laws.

All representations, warranties and covenants of the parties, other than the covenants in specified sections which relate to continuing matters, terminate upon the closing of the merger.

Conditions to the Merger

The respective obligations of Provident and First Sentinel to complete the merger are subject to various conditions prior to the merger. The conditions include the following:

the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation approval or non-objection of the merger and the bank merger and the expiration of all statutory waiting periods; and no such regulatory approval shall include any non-standard condition or requirement that would, in the good faith reasonable judgment of the board of directors of Provident, materially and adversely affect the business, operations, financial condition, property or assets of the combined entity or otherwise materially impair the value of First Sentinel or First Savings Bank to Provident.

approval of the merger agreement by the affirmative vote of a majority of the issued and outstanding shares of First Sentinel and Provident;

the absence of any litigation, statute, law, regulation, order or decree which would enjoin or prohibit the merger;

the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the parties, and the performance by the parties of all agreements and covenants, set forth in the merger agreement;

the receipt of tax opinions delivered by counsel to Provident and First Sentinel to the effect that the merger will qualify as a tax-free reorganization under United States federal income tax laws;

obtaining any necessary third party consents; listing with the New York Stock Exchange of the additional shares of Provident common stock to be issued to First Sentinel stockholders; and no stop order being issued suspending the effectiveness of the Registration Statement of which this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus is a part.

The parties may waive certain conditions to their obligations unless they are legally prohibited from doing so. Stockholder and regulatory approvals may not be legally waived.

Regulatory Approvals Required for the Merger

General. First Sentinel and Provident have agreed to use all reasonable efforts to obtain all permits, consents, approvals, non-objections and authorizations of all third parties and governmental entities that are necessary or advisable to consummate the merger. This includes the approval of the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the non-objection of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Provident has filed the application materials necessary to obtain the required approvals. Provident will file a waiver notice with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York after the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation approval is obtained. The merger cannot be completed without such approvals and non-objections. We cannot assure you that we will obtain the required regulatory approvals and non-objections, when they will be received or whether there will be conditions in the approvals or any litigation challenging the approvals. We also cannot assure you that the United States Department of Justice or any state attorney general will not attempt to challenge the merger on antitrust grounds, or what the outcome will be if such a challenge is made.

We are not aware of any material governmental approvals or actions that are required prior to the merger other than those described in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. We presently contemplate that we will seek any additional governmental approvals or actions that may be required in addition to those requests for approval currently pending; however, we cannot assure you that we will obtain any such additional approvals or actions.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The merger is subject to approval by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. We have filed the required application, but we have not yet received the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's approval.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation may not approve any transaction that would result in a monopoly or otherwise substantially lessen competition or restrain trade, unless it finds that the anti-competitive effects of the transaction are clearly outweighed by the public interest. In addition, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation considers the financial and managerial resources of the companies, their subsidiary institutions and the convenience and needs of the communities to be served. Under the Community Reinvestment Act, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation must take into account the record of performance of each company in meeting the credit needs of its entire communities, including low and moderate income neighborhoods, served by each company. Both The Provident Bank and First Savings Bank have a satisfactory CRA rating. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation also must consider the effectiveness of each company involved in the proposed transaction in combating money laundering activities. In this regard, and in connection with the application for approval of the merger filed with the FDIC, Provident has committed to take additional corrective actions to enhance and monitor its compliance under the Bank Secrecy Act. In addition, FDIC approval of the merger could be conditioned on Provident's compliance with these and other commitments. Failure to take the actions as committed or to comply with any conditions to the FDIC's approval could result in further regulatory action, including limitations on future expansion through acquisition.

Federal law requires publication of notice of, and the opportunity for public comment on, the applications submitted by Provident and The Provident Bank for approval of the merger and authorizes the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to hold a public hearing in connection with the application if it determines that such a hearing would be appropriate. Any such hearing or comments provided by third parties could prolong the period during which the application is subject to review. In addition, under federal law, a period of 30 days must expire following approval by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, within which period the Department of Justice may file objections to the merger under the federal antitrust laws. This waiting period may be reduced to 15 days if the Department of Justice has not provided any adverse comments relating to the competitive factors of the transaction. If the Department of Justice were to commence an antitrust action, that action would stay the effectiveness of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's approval of the merger unless a court specifically orders otherwise. In reviewing the merger, the Department of Justice could analyze the merger's effect on competition differently than the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and thus it is possible that the Department of Justice could reach a different conclusion than the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation regarding the merger's competitive effects.

New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance. The bank merger is also subject to the prior approval of the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance under certain provisions of the New Jersey Banking Act of 1948. We filed an application with the New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance in March, 2004 for approval of the bank merger and received approval on May 7, 2004.

No Solicitation

Until the merger is completed or the merger agreement is terminated, First Sentinel has agreed that it, its subsidiaries, its officers and its directors will not:

initiate, solicit or knowingly encourage any inquiries or the making of any proposal to acquire First Sentinel, whether by merger, acquisition of 25% or more of First Sentinel's stock or otherwise;

enter into, maintain or continue any discussions or negotiations regarding any such acquisition proposal; or agree to or endorse any such other acquisition proposal.

First Sentinel may, however, furnish information regarding First Sentinel to, or enter into discussions or negotiations with, any person or entity in response to an unsolicited acquisition proposal by such person or entity if:

First Sentinel's board of directors determines in good faith, after consultation with its financial and legal advisors, that such proposal, if consummated, is reasonably likely to result in a transaction more favorable to First Sentinel's stockholders from a financial point of view than the merger with Provident;

Table of Contents

First Sentinel's board of directors determines in good faith, after consultation with its financial and legal advisors, that the failure to take such actions would likely cause First Sentinel's directors to breach their fiduciary obligations under applicable law;

First Sentinel promptly notifies Provident of such inquiries, proposals or offers, the material terms of such inquiries, proposals or offers and the identity of the person making such inquiry, proposal or offer; and the First Sentinel annual meeting of stockholders has not yet occurred.

Termination; Amendment; Waiver

The merger agreement may be terminated prior to the closing, before or after approval by First Sentinel's stockholders, as follows:

by mutual written agreement of Provident and First Sentinel;

by either Provident or First Sentinel if the closing of the merger has not occurred on or before September 30, 2004, and such failure to close is not due to the terminating party's material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained in the merger agreement;

by Provident or First Sentinel if the stockholders of Provident or First Sentinel do not approve the merger agreement;

by a non-breaching party if the other party materially breaches any covenants, agreements, representations or warranties contained in the merger agreement, if such breach has not been cured within thirty days after notice from the terminating party or is not curable prior to September 30, 2004;

by either party if any required regulatory approvals for consummation of the merger or the bank merger are not obtained or any court or other governmental authority issues a final order or other action prohibiting the merger;

by either party if any condition to the obligation of such party to complete the merger cannot be satisfied or fulfilled by September 30, 2004;

by Provident if First Sentinel shall have received a superior proposal, as defined in the merger agreement, and the First Sentinel board of directors shall have entered into an acquisition agreement with respect to the superior proposal and terminates the merger agreement, or fails to recommend that the stockholders of First Sentinel approve the merger agreement, or withdraws, modifies or changes such recommendation in a manner which is adverse to Provident; or by First Sentinel in order to accept a superior proposal, as defined in the merger agreement, which has been received and considered by First Sentinel in compliance with the applicable terms of the merger agreement, provided that First Sentinel has notified Provident at least five business days in advance of any such action and has given Provident the opportunity during such period, if Provident elects in its sole discretion, to negotiate amendments to the merger agreement which would permit First Sentinel to proceed with the proposed merger with Provident.

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

If the merger agreement is terminated under either of the latter two scenarios described above, First Sentinel shall pay to Provident a fee of $24,000,000. The fee would also be payable to Provident if First Sentinel enters into a merger agreement with a third party within twelve months of the termination of the merger agreement by Provident due to a willful breach of a representation, warranty, covenant or agreement by First Sentinel or the failure of the stockholders of First Sentinel to approve the merger agreement after First Sentinel's receipt of a third party acquisition proposal.

Table of Contents

Additionally, First Sentinel may terminate the merger agreement at any time during the five business-day period commencing on the first date on which all regulatory approvals and non-objections (and waivers, if applicable) necessary for consummation of this merger have been received (disregarding any waiting period) (the determination date) if both of the following conditions are satisfied:

the average of the daily closing sales prices of Provident common stock for the twenty consecutive trading days immediately preceding the determination date (the Provident market value) is less than $16.30; and the number obtained by dividing the Provident market value by the average of the daily closing sales prices of Provident common stock for the twenty consecutive trading days immediately preceding the public announcement of the merger agreement (the initial Provident market value) is less than the quotient (the index ratio) obtained by dividing (i) the sum of the average of the daily closing sales prices for the twenty consecutive trading days immediately preceding the determination date of the common stock of a group of financial institution holding companies listed in the merger agreement (the index group) multiplied by the appropriate weighting included in the merger agreement (the final index price), by (ii) the sum of the daily closing sales prices of the common stock of those financial institution holding companies on the trading day immediately preceding the public announcement of the merger agreement multiplied by the appropriate weighting (the initial index price), minus 0.175.

If First Sentinel elects to exercise its termination right as described above, it must give prompt written notice to Provident. During the five business-day period commencing with its receipt of such notice, Provident shall have the option to increase the consideration to be received by the holders of First Sentinel common stock who elect to receive Provident common stock by adjusting the exchange ratio from 1.092 to one of the following quotients at its sole discretion: (i) a quotient, the numerator of which is equal to the product of the initial Provident market value, 1.092 and the index ratio minus 0.175 and the denominator of which is equal to the Provident market value on the determination date; or (ii) a quotient determined by dividing the initial Provident market value by the Provident market value on the determination date, and multiplying the quotient by the product of 1.092 and 0.80. If Provident elects, it shall give, within such five business-day period, written notice to First Sentinel of such election and the revised exchange ratio, whereupon no termination shall be deemed to have occurred and the merger agreement shall remain in full force and effect in accordance with its terms (except as the exchange ratio shall have been so modified).

Because the formula is dependent on the future price of Provident's common stock and that of the index group, it is not possible to determine what the adjusted exchange ratio would be at this time, but, in general, the ratio would be increased and, consequently, more shares of Provident common stock issued, to take into account the extent of the decline in the value of Provident's common stock as compared to the changes in the value of the common stock of the index group.

The merger agreement may be amended by the parties at any time before or after approval of the merger agreement by the First Sentinel stockholders. However, after such approval, no amendment may be made without the approval of First Sentinel's stockholders if it reduces the amount or value, or changes the form of, the merger consideration to be delivered to First Sentinel stockholders pursuant to the merger agreement.

Management and Operations After the Merger

Upon closing of the merger between First Sentinel and Provident, First Savings Bank will be merged into The Provident Bank and the separate existence of First Sentinel will cease. The directors and officers of Provident and The Provident Bank immediately prior to the merger will continue as directors and officers of Provident and The Provident Bank after the merger. Upon the closing of the merger, Mr. Martin will become

Table of Contents

President of Provident and The Provident Bank and two current directors of First Sentinel, John P. Mulkerin and Jeffries Shein, will be added to the boards of Provident and The Provident Bank. In addition, Richard Spengler, Nancy E. Graves and Thomas M. Lyons, officers of First Sentinel or First Savings Bank, will be offered management level positions at Provident or The Provident Bank.

Effective Date of Merger

The parties expect that the merger will be effective on or about June 30, 2004 or as soon as possible after the receipt of all regulatory and stockholder approvals and all regulatory waiting periods expire. The merger will be legally completed by the filing of a certificate of merger with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware. If the merger is not consummated by September 30, 2004, the merger agreement may be terminated by either First Sentinel or Provident, unless the failure to consummate the merger by this date is due to the breach by the party seeking to terminate the merger agreement of any of its obligations under the merger agreement. See Conditions to the Merger on page 70.

Under the terms of the merger agreement, the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of Provident will be the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of the combined entity which will retain the name of Provident Financial Services, Inc. Provident, as the resulting entity, will continue to operate under the policies, practices and procedures currently in place. All assets and property owned by First Sentinel will immediately become the property of Provident. Pursuant to the Plan of Bank Merger entered into by The Provident Bank and First Savings Bank, immediately following consummation of the merger, First Savings Bank will merge with and into The Provident Bank, with The Provident Bank surviving the bank merger. Provident does not currently anticipate closing any branches of either bank. The net result of the merger will be a greater number of branches, a stronger presence in existing markets and the addition of new market areas for Provident. Provident will also recognize cost savings through consolidation of back office functions.

Public Trading Markets

Provident common stock is currently traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol PFS. First Sentinel common stock is currently traded on the Nasdaq National Market under the symbol FSLA. Upon completion of the merger, First Sentinel common stock will be delisted from the Nasdaq National Market and deregistered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The shares of Provident common stock issued pursuant to the merger agreement will be traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

The shares of Provident common stock to be issued in connection with the merger will be freely transferable under the Securities Act of 1933, except for shares issued to any stockholder who may be deemed to be an affiliate of First Sentinel, as discussed in Resale of Provident Common Stock on page 79.

Provident may from time to time repurchase shares of Provident common stock and purchase shares of First Sentinel common stock, and, if consented to by Provident, First Sentinel may from time to time repurchase shares of First Sentinel common stock and purchase shares of Provident common stock. During the course of the solicitation being made by this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, Provident may be bidding for and purchasing shares of First Sentinel common stock, but not for Provident common stock.

First Sentinel Rights Agreement

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

On December 19, 2001, First Sentinel entered into a rights agreement with Registrar and Transfer Company, as rights agent, pursuant to which First Sentinel's stockholders of record as of January 1, 2002 each received a dividend of one preferred share purchase right for each outstanding share of First Sentinel common stock. In connection with the execution of the merger agreement, First Sentinel's board of directors determined that Provident will not be an acquiring person, as defined in the rights agreement, by virtue of entering into the merger agreement.

Provident Dividends

Provident currently pays a quarterly dividend of $0.06 per share, which is expected to continue, although the Provident board of directors may change this dividend policy at any time. First Sentinel currently pays a quarterly dividend of $0.105 per share, which is expected to continue but may not be increased without Provident's prior approval. During 2003, First Sentinel paid cash dividends totaling $0.42 per share, and Provident paid cash dividends totaling $0.14 per share.

Provident stockholders will be entitled to receive dividends when and if declared by the Provident board of directors out of funds legally available for dividends. The Provident board of directors will periodically consider the payment of dividends, taking into account Provident's financial condition and level of net income, Provident's future prospects, economic conditions, industry practices and other factors, including applicable banking laws and regulations.

Fees and Expenses

Provident and First Sentinel will each pay its own costs and expenses in connection with the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement except for the payment by First Sentinel to Provident of a termination fee in certain circumstances, as described above.

In addition, if either party willfully breaches the merger agreement, such party will be liable for all damages, costs and expenses sustained by the other party as a result of such breach.

Material United States Federal Income Tax Consequences of The Merger

General. The following discussion sets forth the material United States federal income tax consequences of the merger to U.S. holders (as defined below) of First Sentinel common stock. This discussion does not address any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, locality or foreign jurisdiction. This discussion is based upon the Internal Revenue Code, the regulations of the U.S. Treasury Department and court and administrative rulings and decisions in effect on the date of this document. These laws may change, possibly retroactively, and any change could affect the continuing validity of this discussion.

For purposes of this discussion, the term "U.S. holder" means:

a citizen or resident of the United States;

a corporation created or organized under the laws of the United States or any of its political subdivisions;

a trust that (1) is subject to the supervision of a court within the United States and the control of one or more United States persons or (2) has a valid election in effect under applicable United States Treasury regulations to be treated as a United States person; or an estate that is subject to United States federal income tax on its income regardless of its source.

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

This discussion assumes that you hold your shares of First Sentinel common stock as a capital asset within the meaning of Section 1221 of the Internal Revenue Code. Further, the discussion does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be relevant to you in light of your particular circumstances or that may be applicable to you if you are subject to special treatment under the United States federal income tax laws, including if you are:

a financial institution;

a tax-exempt organization;

an S corporation or other pass-through entity;

an insurance company;

a mutual fund;

a dealer in securities or foreign currencies;

a trader in securities who elects the mark-to-market method of accounting for your securities;

a First Sentinel stockholder who holds First Sentinel common stock as part of a hedge, straddle or a constructive sale or conversion transaction.

If a partnership (including an entity treated as a partnership for United States federal income tax purposes) holds First Sentinel common stock, the tax treatment of a partner in the partnership will generally depend on the status of such partner and the activities of the partnership.

Based on representations contained in letters provided by Provident and First Sentinel and on certain customary factual assumptions, all of which must continue to be true and accurate in all material respects as of the effective time of the merger, it is the opinion of Luse Gorman Pomerenk & Schick, P.C., counsel to Provident, and Thacher Proffitt & Wood LLP, counsel to First Sentinel, that the material United States federal income tax consequences of the merger are as follows:

the merger will constitute a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code or will be treated as part of a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, and the merger of First Savings Bank into The Provident Bank will not adversely affect this result;

no gain or loss will be recognized by Provident or its subsidiaries or First Sentinel or First Savings Bank by reason of the merger;

you will not recognize gain or loss if you exchange your First Sentinel common stock solely for Provident common stock, except to the extent of any cash received in lieu of a fractional share of Provident common stock;

you will recognize gain or loss if you exchange your First Sentinel common stock solely for cash in the merger (or receive cash in lieu of fractional shares) in an amount equal to the difference between the amount of cash you receive and your tax basis in your shares of First Sentinel common stock; subject to the following paragraph, you will recognize gain (but not loss) if you exchange your First Sentinel common stock for a combination of Provident common stock and cash in an amount equal to the lesser of:

the excess, if any, of:

the sum of the cash (excluding any cash received in lieu of a fractional share of Provident common stock) and the fair market value of the Provident common stock you receive (including any fractional share of Provident common stock you are deemed to receive and exchange for cash); over your tax basis in the First Sentinel common stock surrendered in the merger; or the cash that you receive in the merger.

your tax basis in the Provident common stock that you receive in the merger (including any fractional share interest you are deemed to receive and exchange for cash), will equal your tax basis in the First Sentinel common stock you exchange in the merger, increased by the amount of taxable gain, if any, you recognize on the exchange and decreased by the amount of any cash received by you in the merger; and your holding period for the Provident common stock that you receive in the merger will include your holding period for the shares of First Sentinel common stock that you exchange in the merger.

If you acquired different blocks of First Sentinel common stock at different times and at different prices, any gain or loss you recognize will be determined separately with respect to each block of First Sentinel common stock, and the cash and Provident common stock you receive will be allocated pro rata to each such block of common stock. In addition, your basis and holding period in your Provident common stock may be determined with reference to each block of First Sentinel common stock exchanged.

Additional Considerations Recharacterization of Gain as a Dividend. All or part of the gain you recognize could be treated as ordinary dividend income rather than capital gain if (i) you are a significant stockholder of Provident or (ii) if taking into account constructive ownership rules, your percentage ownership in Provident after the merger is not less than 80% of what your percentage ownership would have been if you had received Provident common stock rather than cash in the merger. This could happen, for example, because of your purchase of additional Provident common stock, a purchase of Provident common stock by a person related to you or a share repurchase by Provident from other Provident stockholders. The test for dividend treatment is made as though you received solely Provident common stock in the exchange, and subsequently had a portion of such stock redeemed for cash. If this redemption (i) does not result in a meaningful reduction in your interest in the company (which should not be the case as long as you are a minority stockholder, taking into account the attribution rules under Section 318 of the Internal Revenue Code) or (ii) decreases your stock ownership in Provident by 20% or less, dividend treatment could apply. Because the possibility of dividend treatment depends upon your particular circumstances, including the application of certain constructive ownership rules, you should consult your own tax advisor regarding the potential tax consequences of the merger to you.

Cash in Lieu of Fractional Shares. You will generally recognize capital gain or loss on any cash received in lieu of a fractional share of Provident common stock equal to the difference between the amount of cash received and the basis allocated to such fractional share.

Dissenting Stockholders. Holders of First Sentinel common stock who dissent with respect to the merger as discussed in Dissenters Rights of Appraisal beginning on page 80, and who receive cash in respect of their shares of First Sentinel common stock will recognize capital gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount of cash received and their aggregate tax basis in their shares.

Taxation of Capital Gain. Any gain or loss that you recognize in connection with the merger will generally constitute capital gain or loss and will constitute long-term capital gain or loss if your holding period in your First Sentinel common stock is greater than one year as of the date of the merger. For the rate of tax on capital gains, see below under Tax Rate Changes. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

Holding Provident Common Stock. The following discussion describes the U.S. federal income tax consequences to a holder of Provident common stock after the merger. Any cash distribution paid by Provident out of earnings and profits, as determined under U.S. federal income tax law, will be subject to tax as ordinary dividend income and will be includible in your gross income in accordance with your method of accounting. See below under Tax Rate Changes for information regarding the rate of tax on dividends. Cash distributions paid by Provident in excess of its earnings and profits will be treated as (i) a tax-free return of capital to the extent of your adjusted basis in your Provident common stock (reducing such adjusted basis, but not below zero), and (ii) thereafter as gain from the sale or exchange of a capital asset.

Upon the sale, exchange or other disposition of Provident common stock, you will generally recognize gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized upon the disposition and your adjusted tax basis in the shares of Provident common stock surrendered. Any such gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if your holding period with respect to the Provident common stock surrendered is more than one year at the time of the disposition. For the rate of tax on capital gains, see below under Tax Rate Changes.

Tax Rate Changes. Under the recently enacted Jobs and Growth Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2003, the individual tax rates on long-term capital gains and dividend income have been reduced. The top individual rate for long-term capital gains from sales or exchanges on or after May 6, 2003 is 15%. The top individual rate for qualified dividend income received after December 31, 2002 is also 15%. To be considered qualified dividend income to a particular holder, the holder must have held the common stock for more than 60 days during the 120 day period beginning 60 days before the ex-dividend period as measured under Section 246(a) of the Internal Revenue Code. Dividend income that is not qualified dividend income will be taxed at ordinary income rates. You are urged to consult your tax advisor to determine whether a dividend, if any, would be treated as qualified dividend income.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding. Unless an exemption applies, the exchange agent will be required to withhold, and will withhold, 28% of any cash payments to which a holder of First Sentinel common stock or other payee is entitled pursuant to the merger, unless the stockholder or other payee provides his or her tax identification number (social security number or employer identification number) and certifies that the number is correct. Each First Sentinel stockholder and, if applicable, each other payee, is required to complete and sign the Substitute Form W-9 that will be included as part of the election form to avoid being subject to backup withholding, unless an applicable exemption exists and is proved in a manner satisfactory to Provident and the exchange agent.

First Savings Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan and 401(k) Plan. Under the First Savings Bank employee stock ownership plan, participant accounts are invested in First Sentinel common stock, and under the First Savings Bank 401(k) plan, participant accounts may be invested in First Sentinel common stock. The instruction by a participant in the 401(k) plan to convert the common stock into cash, into Provident common stock, or partly into cash and partly into Provident common stock pursuant to the merger will not result in a taxable event for the plan participant at the time of the merger. However, the decision may have a long-term tax impact on the plan participant. The employee stock ownership plan will be terminated upon consummation of the merger. Participants will be able to take a distribution of their employee stock ownership plan account in cash or shares of Provident common stock or a combination of cash and Provident common stock, in accordance with their elections.

Under the terms of the plans, the common stock may be distributed in kind at the election of the plan participant. In the event that the common stock is distributed in kind as part of a benefit payment which qualifies as a lump sum distribution and the participant so elects, only the plans original cost or basis of the common stock will be taxed at that time to the participant; any unrealized appreciation will not be taxed until such time as the common stock is disposed of by the participant in a subsequent taxable transaction. To the extent that gain recognized from the disposition does not exceed the net unrealized appreciation at the time of the distribution from the plan, the gain recognized will be taxed as long-term capital gain, even if the disposition occurs shortly after the distribution from the plan. Any additional unrealized appreciation, such as growth in value subsequent to the distribution, will also be taxed as a long-term capital gain if the stock has been held for more than one year after the distribution date.

The net unrealized appreciation rules provide a tax planning opportunity for a plan participant who receives common stock in a lump sum distribution. For any participant interested in maximizing the portion of share value that is attributed to appreciation as opposed to basis in the common stock, the instruction to the plan trustee concerning the election to exchange the First Sentinel common stock into cash or Provident common stock will be important. In the case of the 401(k) plan, an exchange into cash and subsequent investment by the participant in Provident common stock will result in a new, presumably higher, basis and lower future appreciation. An exchange into Provident common stock will result in the transfer in basis by the plan trustee from the participant's allocable interest in First Sentinel common stock to the participant's allocable interest in Provident common stock.

Limitations on Tax Opinion and Discussion. As noted earlier, the tax opinion is subject to certain assumptions, relating to, among other things, the truth and accuracy of certain representations made by Provident and First Sentinel, the consummation of the merger in accordance with the terms of the merger agreement and applicable state law. Furthermore, the tax opinion will not bind the Internal Revenue Service and, therefore, the IRS is not precluded from asserting a contrary position. The tax opinion and this discussion are based on currently existing provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, existing and proposed Treasury regulations, and current administrative rulings and court decisions. There can be no assurance that future legislative, judicial or administrative changes or interpretations will not adversely affect the accuracy of the tax opinion or the statements and conclusions set forth herein. Any such changes or interpretations could be applied retroactively and could affect the tax consequences of the merger.

The preceding discussion is intended only as a summary of material United States federal income tax consequences of the merger. It is not a complete analysis or discussion of all potential tax effects that may be important to you. Thus, we urge First Sentinel stockholders to consult their own tax advisors as to the specific tax consequences to them resulting from the merger, including tax return reporting requirements, the applicability and effect of federal, state, local, and other applicable tax laws and the effect of any proposed changes in the tax laws.

Resale of Provident Common Stock

All shares of Provident common stock received by First Sentinel stockholders in the merger will be registered under the Securities Act of 1933 and will be freely transferable, except that shares of Provident common stock received by persons who are deemed to be affiliates, as the term is defined under the Securities Act of 1933, may be resold by them only in transactions permitted by the resale provisions of Rule 145 under the Securities Act of 1933 or as otherwise permitted under the Securities Act of 1933. Persons who may be deemed to be affiliates of Provident or First Sentinel generally include individuals or entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with, the party and may include certain officers and directors of such party as well as principal stockholders of such party. Affiliates of both parties have previously been notified of their status. The merger agreement requires First Sentinel to use reasonable efforts to receive a letter agreement from each person who is an affiliate of First Sentinel restricting the transferability of any shares of Provident common stock received in the merger.

This Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus does not cover resales of Provident common stock received by any person who may be deemed to be an affiliate of First Sentinel or Provident.

Accounting Treatment

In accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the merger will be accounted for using the purchase method. As a result, the recorded assets and liabilities of Provident will be carried forward at their recorded amounts, the historical operating results will be unchanged for the prior periods being reported on and that the assets and liabilities from the acquisition of First Sentinel will be adjusted to fair value at the date of completion of the merger. In addition, all identified intangibles, which presently consists of a core deposit intangible, will be recorded at fair value and included as part of the net assets acquired. To the extent that the purchase price, consisting of cash plus the number of shares of Provident common stock to be issued to former First Sentinel stockholders at fair value and amounts paid for merger and closing costs, exceeds the fair value of the net assets including identifiable intangibles of First Sentinel at the merger date, that amount will be reported as goodwill. In accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets, goodwill will not be amortized but will be evaluated for impairment annually. Identified intangibles will be amortized over their estimated lives. Further, the purchase accounting method results in the operating results of First Sentinel being included in the consolidated income of Provident beginning from the date of consummation of the merger.

Dissenters Rights of Appraisal

Under Delaware law, stockholders of First Sentinel, including employee stock ownership plan participants with respect to the shares allocated to their accounts, have the right to dissent from the merger and to receive payment in cash for the fair value of their shares of First Sentinel common stock instead of the merger consideration. First Sentinel stockholders electing to do so must comply with the provisions of Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law in order to perfect their rights of appraisal. A copy of the applicable Delaware statute is attached as Appendix D of this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

Ensuring perfection of appraisal rights can be complicated. The procedural rules are specific and must be followed precisely. A First Sentinel stockholder's failure to comply with these procedural rules may result in such stockholder becoming ineligible to pursue appraisal rights.

Dissenting stockholders who withdraw or lose their appraisal rights after the deadline for submitting election forms to the exchange agent, but before the merger is completed, will be allocated merger consideration depending on the elections made by other First Sentinel stockholders. Dissenting stockholders who withdraw or lose their appraisal rights after the merger has been completed will be allocated merger consideration in the form of cash.

The following is intended as a brief summary of the material provisions of the Delaware statutory procedures that a First Sentinel stockholder must follow in order to dissent from the merger and obtain payment of the fair value of his or her shares of First Sentinel common stock instead of the merger consideration. This summary, however, is not a complete statement of all applicable requirements and is qualified in its entirety by reference to Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law, the full text of which appears in Appendix D of this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. Under Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law, not less than 20 days before First Sentinel's annual meeting of stockholders, First Sentinel must notify each of the holders of record of its capital stock that appraisal rights are available and include in the notice a copy of Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law. First Sentinel intends that this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus constitutes this notice.

If you are a First Sentinel stockholder and you wish to exercise your appraisal rights, you must satisfy the provisions of Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law. Section 262 requires the following:

You must make a written demand for appraisal: You must deliver a written demand for appraisal to First Sentinel before the vote on the merger agreement is taken at the First Sentinel annual meeting of stockholders. This written demand for appraisal must be separate from your proxy card. A vote against the merger agreement alone will not constitute a demand for appraisal.

You must refrain from voting for adoption of the merger agreement: You must not vote for adoption of the merger agreement. If you vote, by proxy or in person, in favor of the merger agreement, this will terminate your right to appraisal. You can also terminate your right to appraisal if you return a signed proxy card and:

fail to vote against adoption of the merger agreement; or fail to note that you are abstaining from voting.

If you do either of these two things, your appraisal rights will terminate even if you previously filed a written demand for appraisal.

You must continuously hold your First Sentinel common stock: You must continuously hold your shares of First Sentinel common stock from the date you make the demand for appraisal through the effective date of the merger. If you are the record holder of First Sentinel common stock on the date the written demand for appraisal is made but thereafter transfer the shares prior to the effective date of the merger, you will lose any right to appraisal for those shares.

A written demand for appraisal of First Sentinel common stock is only effective if it is signed by, or for, the stockholder of record who owns such shares at the time the demand is made. The demand must also be signed precisely as the stockholder's name appears on his or her stock certificate. If you are the beneficial owner of First Sentinel common stock, but not the stockholder of record, you must have the stockholder of record sign any demand for appraisal.

If you own First Sentinel common stock in a fiduciary capacity, such as a trustee, guardian or custodian, you must disclose the fact that you are signing the demand for appraisal in that capacity.

If you own First Sentinel common stock with more than one person, such as in a joint tenancy or tenancy in common, all the owners must sign, or have signed for them, the demand for appraisal. An authorized agent, including an agent for one or more of the joint owners, may sign the demand for appraisal for a stockholder of record; however, the agent must expressly disclose who the stockholder of record is and that the agent is signing the demand as that stockholder's agent.

If you are a record owner, such as a broker, who holds First Sentinel common stock as a nominee for others, you may exercise a right of appraisal with respect to the shares of First Sentinel common stock held for one or more beneficial owners, while not exercising such right for other beneficial owners. In such a case, you should specify in the written demand the number of shares of First Sentinel common stock as to which you wish to demand appraisal. If you do not expressly specify the number of shares, the demand will be presumed to cover all the shares of First Sentinel common stock that are in your name.

If you are a First Sentinel stockholder who elects to exercise appraisal rights, you should mail or deliver a written demand to: First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc., 1000 Woodbridge Center Drive, Woodbridge, New Jersey 07095, Attention: Ann C. Clancy, Esq., Corporate Secretary.

It is important that First Sentinel receive all written demands for appraisal before the vote concerning the merger agreement is taken at the First Sentinel annual meeting of stockholders. As explained above, this written demand would be signed by, or on behalf of, the stockholder of record. The written demand for appraisal should specify the stockholder's name and mailing address, the number of shares of common stock owned, and that the stockholder is demanding appraisal of such stockholder's shares.

If the merger is completed, each holder of First Sentinel common stock who has perfected appraisal rights in accordance with Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law will be entitled to be paid by Provident for such stockholder's shares of First Sentinel common stock the fair value in cash of those shares. The Delaware Court of Chancery will determine the fair value of the shares, exclusive of any element of value arising from the completion or expectation of the merger, together with a fair rate of interest, if any, to be paid upon the amount determined to be the fair value. In determining such fair value, the court may take into account all relevant factors and upon such determination will then direct the payment of the fair value of the shares, together with any interest, to the holders of First Sentinel common stock who have perfected their appraisal rights. The shares of First Sentinel common stock with respect to which holders have perfected their appraisal rights in accordance with Section 262 and have not effectively withdrawn or lost their appraisal rights are referred to in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus as the dissenting shares.

Stockholders considering seeking appraisal for their shares should note that the fair value of their shares determined under Section 262 of Delaware law could be more, the same, or less than the consideration they would receive pursuant to the merger agreement if they did not seek appraisal of their shares. The Delaware Court of Chancery may determine the costs of the appraisal proceeding and allocate them among the parties as the court deems equitable under the circumstances. Upon application of a stockholder, the court may order all or a portion of the expenses incurred by any stockholder in connection with the appraisal proceeding, including reasonable attorneys' fees and the fees and expenses of experts, to be charged pro rata.

against the value of all shares entitled to appraisal. In the absence of such determination or assessment, each stockholder bears its own expenses.

If you fail to comply with any of these conditions and the merger becomes effective, you will only be entitled to receive the consideration provided in the merger agreement for your shares.

Within ten days after the effective date of the merger, Provident must give written notice that the merger has become effective to each stockholder who has fully complied with the conditions of Section 262 of the Delaware General Corporation Law.

Within 120 days after the effective date of the merger, either Provident or any stockholder who has complied with the conditions of Section 262 may file a petition in the Delaware Court of Chancery. This petition should request that the Delaware Court of Chancery determine the value of the shares of First Sentinel common stock held by all the stockholders who are entitled to appraisal rights. If you intend to exercise your appraisal rights, you should file this petition in the Delaware Court of Chancery. Provident has no obligation to file this petition, and if you do not file this petition within 120 days after the effective date of the merger, you will lose your rights of appraisal. A dissenting stockholder must also serve a copy of the petition on Provident.

If you change your mind and decide you no longer wish to exercise your appraisal rights, you may withdraw your demand for appraisal rights at any time within 60 days after the effective date of the merger. A withdrawal request received more than 60 days after the effective date of the merger is effective only with the written consent of Provident. If you effectively withdraw your demand for appraisal rights, you will receive the merger consideration provided in the merger agreement.

If you have complied with the conditions of Section 262, you are entitled to receive a statement from Provident. This statement will set forth the number of shares not voted in favor of the merger agreement and that have demanded appraisal rights and the number of stockholders who own those shares. In order to receive this statement you must send a written request to Provident within 120 days after the effective date of the merger. Provident must mail this statement within ten days after it receives the written request or within ten days after the expiration of the period for the delivery of demands, whichever is later.

If you properly file a petition for appraisal in the Chancery Court and deliver a copy to Provident, Provident will then have 20 days to provide the Chancery Court with a list of the names and addresses of all stockholders who have demanded appraisal rights and have not reached an agreement with Provident as to the value of their shares. The Registry in the Court of Chancery, if so ordered by the Court of Chancery, will give notice of the time and place fixed for the hearing of such petition to the stockholders on the list. At the hearing, the Chancery Court will determine the stockholders who have complied with Section 262 and are entitled to appraisal rights. The Chancery Court may also require you to submit your stock certificates to the Registry in the Court of Chancery so that it can note on the certificates that an appraisal proceeding is pending. If you do not follow the Chancery Court's directions, you may be dismissed from the proceeding.

After the Chancery Court determines which stockholders are entitled to appraisal rights, the Chancery Court will appraise the shares of stock that are the subject of the demand for appraisal. To determine the fair value of the shares, the Chancery Court will consider all relevant factors except for any appreciation or depreciation due to the anticipation or accomplishment of the merger. After the Chancery Court determines the fair value of the shares, it will direct Provident to pay that value to the stockholders who have successfully sought appraisal rights. The Chancery Court can also direct Provident to pay interest, simple or compound, on that value if the Chancery Court determines that interest is appropriate. In order to receive payment for your shares under an appraisal procedure, you must surrender your stock certificates to Provident.

If you demand appraisal rights, after the effective date of the merger you will not be entitled:

to vote the shares of common stock for which you have demanded appraisal rights for any purpose; to receive payment of dividends or any other distribution with respect to the shares of common stock for which you have demanded appraisal, except for dividends or distributions, if any, that are payable to holders of record as of a record date prior to the effective date of the merger; or to receive the payment of the consideration provided for in the merger agreement (unless you properly withdraw your demand for appraisal).

If you do not file a petition for an appraisal within 120 days after the effective date of the merger, your right to an appraisal will terminate. You may withdraw your demand for appraisal and accept the merger consideration by delivering to Provident a written withdrawal of your demand, except that:

any attempt to withdraw made more than 60 days after the effective date of the merger will require the written approval of Provident; and an appraisal proceeding in the Chancery Court cannot be dismissed unless the Chancery Court approves.

IF YOU FAIL TO COMPLY STRICTLY WITH THE PROCEDURES DESCRIBED ABOVE YOU WILL LOSE YOUR APPRAISAL RIGHTS. CONSEQUENTLY, IF YOU WISH TO EXERCISE YOUR APPRAISAL RIGHTS, WE STRONGLY URGE YOU TO CONSULT A LEGAL ADVISOR BEFORE ATTEMPTING TO DO SO.

Comparison of Stockholders Rights

Provident and First Sentinel are incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware and, accordingly, the rights of Provident stockholders and First Sentinel stockholders are governed by the laws of the State of Delaware. As a result of the merger, First Sentinel stockholders who receive shares of Provident common stock will become stockholders of Provident. Thus, following the merger, the rights of First Sentinel stockholders who become Provident stockholders in the merger will continue to be governed by the laws of the State of Delaware and will also then be governed by the Provident certificate of incorporation and the Provident bylaws. The Provident certificate of incorporation and bylaws will be unaltered by the merger. There are no material differences in the rights of First Sentinel and Provident stockholders.

Description of Capital Stock of Provident

Provident is authorized to issue 200,000,000 shares of common stock, par value $0.01 per share, and 50,000,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $0.01 per share. At April 30, 2004, there were 60,149,600 shares of Provident common stock issued and outstanding. Provident has no outstanding shares of preferred stock. Each share of Provident common stock has the same relative rights as, and is identical in all respects with, each other share of common stock.

The common stock of Provident represents nonwithdrawable capital, is not an account of an insurable type, and is not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency.

Common Stock

Dividends. Provident may pay dividends out of statutory surplus or from net earnings if, as and when declared by its board of directors. The payment of dividends by Provident is subject to limitations that are imposed by law and applicable regulation. The holders of common stock of Provident will be entitled to receive and share equally in dividends as may be declared by the board of directors of Provident out of funds legally available for the payment of dividends. If Provident issues shares of preferred stock, the holders thereof may have a priority over the holders of the common stock with respect to dividends.

Table of Contents

Voting Rights. The holders of common stock of Provident have exclusive voting rights in Provident. They elect Provident's board of directors and act on other matters as are required to be presented to them under Delaware law or as are otherwise presented to them by the board of directors. Generally, each holder of common stock is entitled to one vote per share and will not have any right to cumulate votes in the election of directors. If Provident issues shares of preferred stock, holders of the preferred stock may also possess voting rights. Certain matters require an 80% stockholder vote, which is calculated after giving effect to a provision in Provident's certificate of incorporation limiting voting rights. This provision provides that stockholders who beneficially own in excess of 10% of the then outstanding shares of common stock of Provident are not entitled to any vote with respect to the shares held in excess of the 10% limit. A person or entity is deemed to beneficially own shares that are owned by an affiliate as well as persons acting in concert with such person or entity.

Liquidation. In the event of any liquidation, dissolution or winding up of The Provident Bank, Provident, as the holder of 100% of The Provident Bank's capital stock, would be entitled to receive, after payment or provision for payment of all debts and liabilities of The Provident Bank, including all deposit accounts and accrued interest thereon, and after distribution of the balance in the special liquidation account to eligible account holders and supplemental eligible account holders, all assets of The Provident Bank available for distribution. In the event of a liquidation, dissolution or winding up of Provident, the holders of its common stock would be entitled to receive, after payment or provision for payment of all its debts and liabilities, all of the assets of Provident available for distribution. If preferred stock is issued, the holders thereof may have a priority over the holders of the common stock in the event of a liquidation or dissolution.

Preemptive Rights. Holders of the common stock of Provident are not entitled to preemptive rights with respect to any additional shares that may be issued. The common stock is not subject to redemption.

Preferred Stock

None of the shares of Provident's authorized preferred stock are outstanding. Preferred stock may be issued with preferences and designations as the board of directors may from time to time determine. Provident's board of directors may, without stockholder approval, issue shares of preferred stock with voting, dividend, liquidation and conversion rights that could dilute the voting strength of the holders of the common stock and may assist management in impeding an unfriendly takeover or attempted change in control.

Certain Provisions of the Provident Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws

The following discussion is a general summary of the material provisions of Provident's certificate of incorporation and bylaws and certain other regulatory provisions that may be deemed to have an "anti-takeover" effect, thereby possibly discouraging a third party from seeking control of Provident. The following description of certain of these provisions is necessarily general and, with respect to provisions contained in Provident's certificate of incorporation and bylaws, reference should be made in each case to the document in question.

Provident's certificate of incorporation and bylaws contain a number of provisions, relating to corporate governance and rights of stockholders, that might discourage future takeover attempts. As a result, stockholders who might desire to participate in such transactions may not have an opportunity to do so. In addition, these provisions will also render the removal of the board of directors or management of Provident more difficult.

The following description is a summary of the provisions of the certificate of incorporation and bylaws. See Where You Can Find More Information as to how to review a copy of these documents.

Directors. The board of directors is divided into three classes. The members of each class are elected for a term of three years and only one class of directors is elected annually. Thus, it would take at least two annual elections to replace a majority of Provident's board of directors. Further, the bylaws impose notice and information requirements in connection with the nomination by stockholders of candidates for election to the board of directors or a proposal by stockholders of business to be acted upon at an annual meeting of stockholders.

Table of Contents

Restrictions on Call of Special Meetings. The certificate of incorporation and bylaws provide that special meetings of stockholders can be called only by the board of directors pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the total number of authorized directorships. Stockholders are not authorized to call a special meeting of stockholders.

Prohibition of Cumulative Voting. The certificate of incorporation prohibits cumulative voting for the election of directors.

Limitation of Voting Rights. The certificate of incorporation provides that in no event will any record owner of any outstanding common stock which is beneficially owned, directly or indirectly, by a person who beneficially owns more than 10% of the then outstanding shares of common stock be entitled or permitted to vote any of the shares held in excess of the 10% limit.

Restrictions on Removing Directors from Office. The certificate of incorporation provides that directors may only be removed for cause, and only by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 80% of the voting power of all of Provident's then outstanding common stock entitled to vote (after giving effect to the limitation on voting rights discussed above in Limitation of Voting Rights).

Authorized but Unissued Shares. Provident has authorized but unissued shares of common and preferred stock. See Description of Capital Stock of Provident. The certificate of incorporation authorizes 50,000,000 shares of serial preferred stock. Provident is authorized to issue preferred stock from time to time in one or more series subject to applicable provisions of law, and the board of directors is authorized to fix the designations and relative preferences, limitations, voting rights, if any, including without limitation, offering rights of such shares (which could be multiple or as a separate class). In the event of a proposed merger, tender offer or other attempt to gain control of Provident that the board of directors does not approve, it might be possible for the board of directors to authorize the issuance of a series of preferred stock with rights and preferences that would impede the completion of the transaction. An effect of the possible issuance of preferred stock, therefore, may be to deter a future attempt to gain control of Provident. The board of directors has no present plan or understanding to issue any preferred stock.

Amendments to Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws. Amendments to the certificate of incorporation must be approved by Provident's board of directors and also by a majority of the outstanding shares of Provident's voting stock; provided, however, that approval by at least 80% of the outstanding voting stock is generally required to amend the following provisions:

- (i) The limitation on voting rights of persons who directly or indirectly offer to acquire or acquire the beneficial ownership of more than 10% of any class of equity security of Provident;
- (ii) The inability of stockholders to act by written consent;
- (iii) The inability of stockholders to call special meetings of stockholders;
- (iv) The division of the board of directors into three staggered classes;
- (v) The ability of the board of directors to fill vacancies on the board;
- (vi)

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

The inability to deviate from the manner prescribed in the bylaws by which stockholders nominate directors and bring other business before meetings of stockholders;

- (vii) The requirement that at least 80% of stockholders must vote to remove directors, and can only remove directors for cause;

Table of Contents

(viii) The ability of the board of directors to amend and repeal the bylaws; and

(ix) The ability of the board of directors to evaluate a variety of factors in evaluating offers to purchase or otherwise acquire Provident.

The bylaws may be amended by the affirmative vote of a majority of the total number of directors which Provident would have if there were no vacancies on the board of directors of Provident or the affirmative vote of at least 80% of the total votes eligible to be voted at a duly constituted meeting of stockholders (after giving effect to the limitation on voting rights discussed under the caption "Limitation of Voting Rights").

Business Combinations with Interested Stockholders

Provident's certificate of incorporation provides that any business combination (as defined below) involving Provident and an interested stockholder must be approved by the holders of at least 80% of the voting power of the outstanding shares of stock entitled to vote, unless either a majority of the disinterested directors (as defined in the certificate of incorporation) of Provident has approved the business combination or the terms of the proposed business combination satisfy certain minimum price and other standards. For purposes of these provisions, an interested stockholder includes:

any person (with certain exceptions) who is the beneficial owner (as defined in the certificate of incorporation) of more than 10% of Provident's outstanding common stock;

any affiliate of Provident which is the beneficial owner of more than 10% of Provident's outstanding common stock during the prior two years; or any transferee of any shares of Provident common stock that were beneficially owned by an interested stockholder during the prior two years.

For purposes of these provisions, a business combination is defined to include:

any merger or consolidation of Provident or any subsidiary with or into an interested stockholder or affiliate of an interested stockholder;

the disposition of the assets of Provident or any subsidiary having an aggregate value of 25% or more of the combined assets of Provident and its subsidiaries to or with any interested stockholder or affiliate of an interested stockholder;

the issuance or transfer by Provident or any subsidiary of any of its securities to any interested stockholder or affiliate of an interested stockholder in exchange for cash, securities or other property having an aggregate value of 25% or more of the outstanding common stock of Provident and its subsidiaries;

any reclassification of securities or recapitalization that would increase the proportionate share of any class of equity or convertible securities owned by an interested stockholder or affiliate of an interested stockholder; and the adoption of any plan for the liquidation or dissolution of Provident proposed by, or on behalf of, an interested stockholder or an affiliate of an interested stockholder.

This provision is intended to deter an acquiring party from utilizing two-tier pricing and similar coercive tactics in an attempt to acquire control of Provident. However, it is not intended to, and will not, prevent or deter all tender offers for shares of Provident.

Business Combination Statutes and Provisions

Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law prohibits business combinations, including mergers, sales and leases of assets, issuances of securities and similar transactions by a corporation or a subsidiary, with an interested stockholder, which is someone who beneficially owns 15% or more of a corporation's voting stock, within three years after the person or entity becomes an interested stockholder, unless:

the transaction that caused the person to become an interested stockholder was approved by the board of directors of the target prior to the transaction;

after the completion of the transaction in which the person becomes an interested stockholder, the interested stockholder holds at least 85% of the voting stock of the corporation not including (a) shares held by persons who are both officers and directors of the issuing corporation and (b) shares held by specified employee benefit plans;

the business combination is approved by the board of directors and holders of at least 66²/₃% of the outstanding voting stock, excluding shares held by the interested stockholder; or the transaction is one of certain business combinations that are proposed after the corporation had received other acquisition proposals and that are approved or not opposed by a majority of certain continuing members of the board of directors, as specified in the Delaware General Corporation Law.

Neither of Provident's certificate of incorporation or bylaws contains an election, as permitted by Delaware law, to be exempt from the requirements of Section 203.

PROVIDENT PROPOSAL II ELECTION OF PROVIDENT DIRECTORS (FOR CONSIDERATION AND VOTE BY PROVIDENT STOCKHOLDERS ONLY)

Provident's board of directors currently consists of eleven members and is divided into three classes, with one class of directors elected each year. Directors of Provident are generally elected to serve for a three-year term and until their respective successors shall have been elected and qualified. Four directors will be elected at the Provident annual meeting to serve for a three-year term and until their respective successors shall have been elected and shall qualify. On the recommendation of Provident's Governance/Nominating Committee, the board of directors has nominated John G. Collins, Frank L. Fekete, David Leff and Paul M. Pantozzi for election as directors at the Provident annual meeting.

The following table sets forth certain information, as of March 1, 2004, regarding the nominees for election as directors and the continuing directors, including the terms of office of each director, as well as information regarding the executive officers of Provident and its wholly-owned subsidiary, The Provident Bank. It is intended that the proxies solicited on behalf of the board of directors (other than proxies in which the vote is withheld as to the nominees) will be voted at the Provident annual meeting for the election of the nominees identified below. Unless authority to vote for the directors is withheld, it is intended that the shares represented by the enclosed proxy card, if executed and returned, will be voted FOR the election of all nominees. If the nominees are unable to serve, the shares represented by all such proxies will be voted for the election of such substitute nominee as the board of directors may recommend. At this time, the board of directors knows of no reason why any of the nominees would be unable to serve, if elected. The current bylaws of Provident provide that no director shall serve beyond the annual meeting of stockholders after attaining age 72. Mr. Leff will retire after serving the first two years of his three-year term if he is elected by Provident's stockholders. Provident's board of directors may appoint a successor to serve the balance of Mr. Leff's three-year term or may reduce the size of the board. Except as otherwise disclosed in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, there are no arrangements or understandings between the nominees and any other person pursuant to which such nominees were selected.

Board Meetings and Committees

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

The board of directors of Provident meets quarterly or more often as may be necessary. The board of directors maintains three standing committees: the Compensation Committee, Audit Committee and Governance/Nominating Committee. The Provident board of directors met eight times in 2003. All directors attended no fewer than 75% of the total number of meetings held by the Provident board of directors and all committees of the board on which they served (during the period they served) in 2003. When the Provident and The Provident Bank board of directors and committee meetings are aggregated, all directors attended no fewer than 75% of the aggregated total number of meetings in 2003. It is the policy of Provident that its directors shall attend each annual meeting of stockholders. All Provident directors attended the annual meeting of stockholders held on July 17, 2003.

The board of directors has adopted Corporate Governance Principles which are posted on The Provident Bank's website at www.providentnj.com and were appended to last year's proxy statement. The Corporate Governance Principles provide for the board of directors to meet in regularly scheduled executive sessions without management at least two times a year. Two executive sessions of the board of directors were conducted in 2003. The board of directors has designated William T. Jackson to preside over these executive sessions conducted by the non-employee directors.

The Compensation Committee

The Compensation Committee consists of directors Comey (Chairman), Fekete, and Sheenan. Each member of the Compensation Committee is considered independent as defined in the New York Stock Exchange corporate governance listing standards. The Compensation Committee reviews and administers compensation policy, including setting performance measures and goals, administering stock-based compensation plans, approving benefit programs, establishing compensation of the Chief Executive Officer and President and other senior executive officers and other matters of personnel policy and practice. The Compensation Committee's charter is posted on The Provident Bank's website at www.providentnj.com. The Compensation Committee met 10 times during 2003. The Compensation Committee's Report on Executive Compensation appears later in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

The Governance/Nominating Committee

The Governance/Nominating Committee consists of directors Leff (Chairman), Jackson and O'Donnell. Each member of the Governance/Nominating Committee is considered independent as defined in the New York Stock Exchange corporate governance listing standards. The Governance/Nominating Committee's charter is posted on The Provident Bank's website at www.providentnj.com. The Committee met nine times during 2003.

The functions of the Governance/Nominating include, among other things:

to evaluate and make recommendations to the board concerning the number of directors, committee assignments and committee membership rotation practices;

to establish the qualifications, desired background, and selection criteria for board members; to make recommendations to the board concerning board nominees;

to conduct evaluations of the effectiveness of the operation of the board;

to develop corporate governance principles applicable to Provident;

to recommend the adoption of a code of business conduct and ethics; to make recommendations to the board regarding director, compensation, orientation and continuing education; and

to evaluate the Governance/Nominating Committee's performance on an annual basis.

The Governance/Nominating Committee identifies nominees by first evaluating the current members of the board of directors willing to continue in service. Current members of the board with skills and experience that are relevant to Provident's business and who are willing to continue in service are first considered for re-nomination, balancing the value of continuity of service by existing members of the board with that of obtaining a new perspective. If any member of the board does not wish to continue in service, or if the Governance/Nominating Committee or the board decides not to re-nominate a member for re-election or if the size of the board is increased, the Governance/Nominating Committee will solicit suggestions for director candidates from all board members. In addition, the Governance/Nominating Committee is authorized by its charter to engage a third party to assist in the identification of director nominees. Candidates must have the highest personal and professional ethics and integrity. Additional criteria weighed by the Governance/Nominating Committee in the director identification and selection process include the relevance of a candidate's experience to the business of Provident, enhancement of the diversity of experience of the board, the needs of Provident and the board, the candidate's independence from conflict or direct economic relationship with Provident, and the candidate's ability and willingness to devote the proper time to prepare for and attend meetings. Retirement Plan for the Board of Directors of The Provident Bank. The Provident Bank maintains the Retirement Plan for the board of directors of The Provident Bank, a non-qualified plan which provides cash payments for up to ten years to eligible retired board members based on age and length of service requirements. The maximum payment under this plan to a board member who terminates service on or after the age of 72 with at least ten years of service on the board, is forty quarterly payments of $1,250. The Provident Bank may suspend payments under this plan if it does not meet Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or New Jersey Department of Banking and Insurance minimum capital requirements. The Provident Bank may terminate this plan at any time although such termination may not reduce or eliminate any benefit previously accrued to a board member without his or her consent. The plan has been amended to provide that, in the event of a change in control (as defined in the plan), the undistributed balance of a director's accrued benefit will be distributed to him or her within 60 days of the change in control. For the year ended December 31, 2003, The Provident Bank paid $9,000 to former board members under this plan.

Voluntary Fee Deferral Plan for Directors. Deferred fees are credited to an account established for the benefit of each participant which receives interest at the prevailing prime rate. A participating director may receive the deferred payments pursuant to the director's election in a lump sum or over a three-year period, except in the event of a change in control, death or disability, under which circumstances a lump sum payment shall be made. In connection with The Provident Bank's mutual-to-stock conversion effective January 15, 2003, The Provident Bank board of directors Voluntary Fee Deferral Plan was amended to allow participating directors a one-time election to invest their account balances in shares of Provident common stock. The amendment also provided that in the event of a change in control (as defined in the plan), the undistributed balance of a participant's separate account will be distributed within 60 days of the change in control. As of December 31, 2003, Provident's board of directors Voluntary Fee Deferral Plan had a balance of $8,670 on behalf of one present director and The Provident Bank board of directors Voluntary Fee Deferral Plan had accounts totaling $954,488 on behalf of two present directors and one former director who participate in this plan.

Compensation Committee Report on Executive Compensation

Pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission, this Compensation Committee Report shall not be deemed incorporated by reference to any general statement incorporating by reference this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus into any filing under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, except to the extent that Provident specifically incorporates this information by reference.

The following report was prepared by Provident's Compensation Committee regarding its overall approach to executive compensation.

The Provident Compensation Committee of the board of directors (the Provident Compensation Committee), which is comprised solely of independent directors, is responsible for administering the compensation programs for Provident's and The Provident Bank's executive officers, including the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. It is the Provident Compensation Committee's responsibility to evaluate executive officer base salary levels, annual incentive plan objectives and awards under existing compensation plans, and to administer long-term incentive awards.

The Provident Compensation Committee uses an independent compensation consultant to assist it in evaluating the competitiveness of Provident's executive compensation program. The consultant provides the Provident Compensation Committee with relevant competitive compensation program information of financial institutions that compete with Provident for business and executive talent.

Compensation Philosophy

The objectives of Provident's executive compensation program are to assist it in attracting, retaining, and motivating executive officer talent necessary to achieving Provident's operating and strategic objectives. The Provident Compensation Committee believes that a strong link between executive compensation levels and value delivered to stockholders should exist.

The Provident Compensation Committee uses a total compensation approach in establishing executive compensation opportunities, consisting of base salary, annual incentives, and long-term incentives. Provident has included stock options and stock awards as key elements in their total compensation package. This approach is designed such that the executive receives value when Provident's financial objectives are achieved and/or the stock performs.

The Provident Compensation Committee establishes target total executive compensation opportunities at the beginning of each year. Such opportunities are generally positioned at competitive median levels. The consultant assists the Provident Compensation Committee with regularly reviewing Provident's executive pay levels and Provident's performance. A peer group of 10 to 15 comparably sized financial institutions that compete with Provident in similar geographic markets and business lines are used for such purposes. It is anticipated that this peer group may be modified from year to year based on mergers and acquisitions within the industry or other relevant factors. The results of the competitive analysis, the consultant's recommendations and the Chief Executive Officer's recommendations are considered by the Provident Compensation Committee in making executive compensation program recommendations to the board of directors.

Base Salaries

Executive officer base salary levels are evaluated at the beginning of each year. In general, executive officer salary ranges are developed considering the competitive median base salary information furnished to the Provident Compensation Committee by the consultant. Executive officer base salary levels are set within these ranges considering the individual's performance and contribution, experience in the industry and other relevant factors.

Annual Incentives

Annual incentive opportunities are provided to Provident's executives to link the attainment of annual performance objectives with executive compensation. Under the annual incentive plan, at the beginning of each year, the Provident Compensation Committee assigns a target and range of annual incentive award opportunities to each Named Executive Officer. The award opportunities are linked with a specific target and range of performance results on one or more performance measures, which may include earnings per share, efficiency ratio and other company or area specific measures. Payouts under the plan are determined at the end of the year considering actual performance on the measures selected.

Long-Term Incentives (Stock Option and Stock Award Program)

The Provident Compensation Committee believes that long-term incentives, specifically stock options and stock awards, should be a key element in the executive compensation program. These incentives strongly align the rewards provided to executives with the value created for stockholders through stock price appreciation.

Provident made initial stock option and stock award grants to executive officers and a broader employee population. The factors considered in determining eligibility and the number of shares to be granted were an individual's position and responsibilities, length of service and performance.

Chief Executive Officer

Provident entered into an employment agreement with Mr. Pantozzi upon completion of the conversion. This agreement has a term of thirty-six months. The agreement renews for an additional year beginning on the first anniversary date of the agreement and on each anniversary date thereafter, so that the remaining term is thirty-six months.

It was the decision of the Provident Compensation Committee that the Chief Executive Officer receive neither a base salary increase nor an annual incentive award for 2003.

Tax Deductibility of Executive Compensation

Under Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code, companies are subject to limits on the deductibility of executive compensation. Deductible compensation is limited to $1 million per year for each executive officer listed in the summary compensation table. Compensation that is performance-based under the Internal Revenue Code's definition is exempt from this limit. Stock option grants are intended to qualify as performance based compensation.

The Provident Compensation Committee does not believe the results of operations of Provident will be materially affected by the provisions of Section 162(m).

Table of ContentsEmployment Agreements

Provident entered into employment agreements with Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward and Shell, which became effective on January 15, 2003 upon completion of the mutual-to-stock conversion of The Provident Bank. Each of these agreements has a term of thirty-six months. The agreements renew for an additional year beginning on the first anniversary date of the agreement, and on each anniversary date thereafter, so that the remaining term is thirty-six months. However, if timely written notice of nonrenewal is provided to the executive, the employment under the agreement ceases at the end of thirty-six months following such anniversary date. On an annual basis, the board of directors of Provident shall conduct a performance review of the executive for purposes of determining whether to provide a notice of nonrenewal. The board of directors provided a notice of nonrenewal to Mr. Shell and Provident and Mr. Shell have agreed in principle to an amendment to his employment agreement as further described below. Under the agreements, the base salaries for Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward and Shell are $600,000, $290,000 and $245,500, respectively. In addition to the base salary, each agreement provides for, among other things, participation in bonus programs, and other employee pension benefit and fringe benefit plans applicable to executive employees. In addition, the agreements provide for reasonable vacation and sick leave, reimbursement of certain club membership fees incurred by each executive and the use of a company-owned automobile. The agreements provide for termination by Provident for cause at any time, in which event the executive would have no right to receive compensation or other benefits for any period after termination. In the event the executive's employment is terminated for reasons other than for cause, for retirement or for disability or following a change in control, the executive would be entitled to a lump sum payment equivalent to the greater of: the payments due for the remaining term of the employment agreement, or three times the sum of (i) the highest annual rate of base salary and (ii) the greater of (x) the average cash bonus paid over the last three years or (y) the cash bonus paid in the last year, as well as the continuation of life, medical, dental and disability insurance coverage for three years. The executive may resign from employment and receive the benefits described above as a result of (i) a material change in the nature or scope of the executive's function, duties or responsibilities, (ii) a material reduction in benefits and perquisites, including base salary, from those being provided as of the effective date of the employment agreement, (iii) a relocation where the executive is required to perform services at a location more than 25 miles from The Provident Bank's principal executive offices, (iv) a failure to elect or reelect or to appoint or reappoint the executive to certain position(s) at Provident or The Provident Bank, or, in the case of Mr. Pantozzi, to nominate or elect the executive to the board(s) of directors of Provident or The Provident Bank, (v) a liquidation or dissolution of The Provident Bank or Provident, or (vi) a material breach of the employment agreement by The Provident Bank or Provident. Each employment agreement generally provides that following a change in control (as defined in the agreement), the executive will receive the severance payments and insurance benefits described above if he resigns during the one-year period following the change in control or if he is terminated during the remaining term of the employment agreement following the change in control. Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward and Shell would receive an aggregate of $2,648,784, $1,066,343 and $913,344, respectively, pursuant to their employment agreements upon a change in control of Provident, based upon current levels of compensation.

Under each employment agreement, if an executive becomes disabled or incapacitated to the extent that the executive is unable to perform his duties, he will be entitled to 75% of his base salary and all comparable insurance benefits until the earlier of: (i) return to full-time employment; (ii) employment by another employer; (iii) age 65; or (iv) death. Upon retirement at age 65 or in accordance with any retirement policy established with his consent, the executive is entitled to benefits under such retirement policy and other plans to which he is a party but shall not be entitled to any benefit payments specifically as a result of the employment agreement.

Provident has reached an agreement in principle with Mr. Shell to amend his employment agreement. The amendment will provide that Mr. Shell's employment will terminate effective September 1, 2004. Until the date of termination, Mr. Shell will continue to serve as Executive Vice President of The Provident Bank, largely in the role of a new business producer. The Provident Bank paid Mr. Shell as compensation at a rate commensurate with an annual base salary of $245,500 through April 30, 2004. Until September 1, 2004, The Provident Bank will compensate Mr. Shell at the rate of $10,000 per month. Mr. Shell will be entitled to vest in stock options and restricted stock grants through September 1, 2004, at which time any unvested stock options and restricted stock awards will be forfeited. Upon termination of his employment, Mr. Shell will be entitled to the payments due to him under his employment agreement in the approximate amount of $913,000 plus life, medical, dental and disability coverage for the balance of the term of that agreement. He will also be paid a lump sum payment of $700,000 at the time of the termination of his employment. The amendment to the employment agreement also contains a release of any claims Mr. Shell may have against Provident arising out of his employment relationship with Provident and The Provident Bank.

Change in Control Agreements

Provident entered into change in control agreements with six other officers including Messrs. Blum, Kuntz, French and Haagensen, Ms. Niro and Ms. Hynes (First Vice President-Employee Relations, The Provident Bank), which provide certain benefits in the event of a change in control of Provident or The Provident Bank. Each of the change in control agreements provides for a term of 24 months. Commencing on the first anniversary date of the change in control agreement, and on each anniversary date thereafter, the term of the change in control agreement extends for an additional 12 months unless the board of directors of Provident provides the executive timely notice of nonrenewal. In the event notice of nonrenewal is provided to the executive, the change in control agreement terminates 24 months following the applicable anniversary date. On an annual basis the board of directors of Provident shall conduct a performance review of the executive for purposes of determining whether to provide a notice of nonrenewal. No notices of nonrenewal have been provided to any of the executives with change in control agreements. For these purposes, a change in control is defined generally to mean: (i) approval by stockholders of a plan of reorganization, merger or consolidation of The Provident Bank or Provident where The Provident Bank or Provident is not the surviving entity; (ii) changes to the board of directors of The Provident Bank or Provident whereby individuals who constitute the current board of directors cease to constitute a majority of the board of directors, subject to certain exceptions; (iii) the acquisition of all or substantially all of the assets of Provident or the beneficial ownership of 20% or more of the voting securities of Provident; or (iv) a complete liquidation or dissolution of Provident or The Provident Bank or approval by the stockholders of Provident of a plan for such dissolution or liquidation. Although the change in control agreements may have the effect of making a takeover more expensive to an acquiror, Provident believes that the benefits of enhancing Provident's ability to attract and retain qualified management persons by offering the change in control agreements outweigh any disadvantage of such agreements.

Following a change in control of Provident or The Provident Bank, an officer is entitled to a payment under the change in control agreement if the officer's employment is terminated during the term of such agreement by Provident or The Provident Bank, other than for cause, disability or retirement, as defined, or if the officer terminates employment during the term of such agreement for good reason. Good reason is generally defined to include the assignment of duties materially inconsistent with the officer's positions, duties or responsibilities as in effect prior to the change in control, a reduction in his or her annual compensation or benefits, or relocation of his or her principal place of employment by more than 25 miles from its location immediately prior to the change in control, or a failure of Provident to obtain an assumption of the agreement by its successor. In the event that an officer who is a party to a change in control agreement is entitled to receive severance payments pursuant to the agreement, he or she will receive a cash payment equal to two times the highest level of aggregate annualized base salary and other cash compensation paid to the officer during the calendar year in which he or she was terminated or either of the immediately preceding two calendar years. In addition to the severance payment, each covered officer is generally entitled to receive life, health, dental and disability coverage for the remaining term of the agreement. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the change in control agreement, payments under the change in control agreements are limited so that they will not constitute an excess parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code.

Benefit Plans

Pension Plan. The Provident Bank maintains The Provident Bank Pension Plan, a tax-qualified plan generally covering employees age 21 or older who have worked at The Provident Bank for at least one year in which they have accrued 1,000 or more hours of service. The Provident Bank froze the Pension Plan as of April 1, 2003. As of April 1, 2003, employees are not entitled to accrue additional benefits. In addition, employees hired after the freeze date are not eligible to enter the plan. Pension Plan participants generally become entitled to retirement benefits upon the later of attainment of age 65 or the fifth anniversary of participation in the plan, which is referred to as the normal retirement date. The normal retirement benefit is equal to 1.35% of the participant's average final compensation up to the average social security level plus 2% of the participant's average final compensation in excess of the average social security level multiplied by the participant's years of credited service to a maximum of 30 years.

Participants who have completed at least five years of vested service generally become 100% vested in their accrued retirement benefits. Vested retirement benefits generally will be paid beginning on the participant's normal retirement date. Participants with accrued benefits in the Pension Plan prior to April 1, 2003 will continue to vest in their pre-April 1, 2003 accrued benefit after April 1, 2003.

A participant may elect to retire prior to age 65 and receive early retirement benefits if retirement occurs after completion of at least five consecutive years of vested service and attainment of age 55. If such an early retirement election is made, retirement benefits will begin on the first day of any month during the ten-year period preceding his or her normal retirement date, as directed by the retiring participant. If a participant elects to retire prior to both attaining age 65 and completing five years of credited service, his or her accrued pension benefit will be reduced 3% per year for the first five years prior to age 65 and 5% per year thereafter to age 55. However, if a participant elects to retire early after both attaining age 60 and completing 25 years of credited service his or her accrued pension benefit will be unreduced. Any participant who terminated employment prior to January 1, 2002 will receive an early pension benefit equal to the actuarial equivalent of the annual amount of the normal pension that would otherwise have been payable to the participant had he or she not elected to receive an early pension. If the termination of service occurs after the normal retirement date, the participant's benefits will begin on the participant's postponed retirement date.

The standard form of benefit payment for a married participant is a 50% joint and survivor benefit that is reduced actuarially and the standard form of benefit payment for a non-married participant is a straight life benefit. A non-married participant or a participant who has complied with the spousal consent requirements may elect to receive payment of benefits in the following optional forms: (a) straight life benefit; (b) 100% joint and survivor benefit; (c) 50% joint and survivor benefit; or (d) period certain and life benefit.

In the event a participant who is married for at least one year and is vested in the Pension Plan dies prior to his or her termination of service and after age 55, his or her spouse will be entitled to one-half of the amount payable to the participant had the participant elected to retire the day before his or her death with the 50% joint and survivor benefit. If the participant dies prior to age 55, the retirement benefits payable to the participant's spouse will commence at the time the participant would have reached age 55.

In the event a non-married participant dies before his or her termination of service after both attaining age 55 and completing 20 years of service, a monthly pension shall be paid to his or her beneficiary. The non-married participant's beneficiary will be entitled to a monthly pension benefit equal to one-half of the amount payable to the participant as if the participant had retired on the first day of the month following his or her death, had been married, and the spouse had been born on the same day as the participant. Payments made to beneficiaries of non-married participants cease upon the earlier of the beneficiary's death or the receipt of the 120th monthly payment.

If the total value of a pension payable directly to a participant or to any other beneficiary under the Pension Plan is less than $5,000, as determined by the Pension Plan's actuary, payment of such value shall automatically be made in a single lump sum in lieu of such pension.

The following table indicates the annual retirement benefit that would have been payable under the Pension Plan and the Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan upon retirement at or after a participant's normal retirement date in calendar year 2003, considering the average annual earnings and credited service classifications specified below.

(1) Compensation earned after April 1, 2003 will not be considered in the average final earnings.

(2) The Pension Plan and the Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan do not count service in excess of 30 years in the benefit formula.

Average final earnings is the average base salary, as reported in the Salary column of the Summary Compensation Table, for the highest five consecutive years during the final ten years of employment. Tax laws impose a limit ($200,000 for individuals retiring in 2004) on average final earnings that may be counted in computing benefits under the Pension Plan and on the annual benefits ($160,000 in 2004). The Pension Plan may also pay benefits accrued as of January 1, 1994 based on tax law limits then in effect. For Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward, Shell, and Haagensen, benefits based on average final earnings in excess of this limit are payable under the Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan.

The benefits shown in the preceding table are annual benefits payable in the form of a single life annuity and are not subject to any deduction for Social Security benefits or other offset amounts. As of December 31, 2003, Mr. Pantozzi had 40 years of service; Mr. Ward had 31 years of service; Mr. Shell had 9 years of service; Mr. French had 2 years of service; and Mr. Haagensen had 23 years of service.

Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan. In January 1990, The Provident Bank established the Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan, a non-qualified retirement plan. Participation in the SERP is limited to executive management or highly compensated employees as designated by the board of directors and currently consists of Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward, Shell and Haagensen. The SERP pays to each participant an amount equal to the amount which would have been payable under the terms of the Pension Plan but for the limitations under Sections 401(a)(17) and 415 of the Internal Revenue Code, less the amount payable under the terms of the Pension Plan. The Provident Bank froze the SERP as of April 1, 2003, and as of that date employees are not entitled to accrue additional benefits. In addition, employees hired after April 1, 2003 are not eligible to participate in this plan. Amounts due from this plan will be paid on a monthly basis beginning within 90 days following termination of employment, but in no event before age 60, in the form of a qualified joint and 100% survivor annuity for married participants and a single life annuity for non-married participants. The plan has been amended to provide that in the event of a change in control (as defined in the plan), the undistributed balance of an employee's accrued benefit will be paid to him within 60 days of the change in control. For the year ended December 31, 2003, the net periodic pension cost was $633,952 in the aggregate to the SERP on behalf of Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward, Shell and Haagensen.

Supplemental Executive Savings Plan. In January 1990, The Provident Bank established the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan, a non-qualified plan that provides additional benefits to certain participants whose benefits under the Employee Savings Incentive Plan are limited by tax law limitations applicable to tax-qualified plans. Participation in the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan is limited to executive management or highly compensated employees as designated by the board of directors and currently consists of Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward, Shell and Haagensen. The Provident Bank contributes for each participant an amount equal to the amount which would have been contributed under the terms of the Employee Savings Incentive Plan but for the tax law limitations, less the amount actually contributed under the Employee Savings Incentive Plan. The Provident Bank established an investment fund to provide for payments due under this plan and allows participants employed on or after January 1, 1998 to choose, with the plan administrator's consent, from a variety of investment options. In connection with the mutual to stock conversion of The Provident Bank, the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan was amended to allow current employees a one-time election to invest their account balances in shares of Provident common stock. Any benefits payable under the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan are vested under the same terms and conditions as the Employee Savings Incentive Plan. If there is a change in control, as defined in the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan, the unpaid balance of the account shall become 100% vested and will be distributed within 60 days thereof. For the year ended December 31, 2003, The Provident Bank expensed $18,000, $4,050, $2,047 and $225 relating to the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan on behalf of Messrs. Pantozzi, Ward, Shell and Haagensen, respectively. The Supplemental Executive Savings Plan has also been amended to require a contribution for each participant who also participates in the Employee Stock Ownership Plan equal to the amount which would have been contributed under the terms of the Employee Stock Ownership Plan but for the tax law limitations, less the amount actually contributed under the Employee Stock Ownership Plan. The benefit payable under this portion of the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan may be calculated as if the contribution was applied to the repayment of a loan obtained to purchase shares in the stock offering, in substantially the same manner as under the Employee Stock Ownership Plan. The amendment also requires the distribution of shares equal to the value of a participant's account balance attributable to the Employee Stock Ownership Plan component of the plan at the same time and in the same manner as the participant receives a distribution from the Employee Stock Ownership Plan.

Effective December 31, 2003 the Supplemental Executive Savings Plan was frozen, because the Employee Savings Incentive Plan was converted to a 401(k) Plan. A final Supplemental Executive Savings Plan discretionary bank contribution was made for plan year ending December 31, 2003. In addition, a final supplemental Employee Stock Ownership Plan contribution was made for plan year ending December 31, 2003. The Supplemental Executive Savings Plan will be frozen with respect to all future contributions and remain open only to hold assets for distribution to plan participants. Provident intends to establish a new plan to supplement the 401(k) Plan and The Employee Stock Ownership Plan in 2004.

Voluntary Bonus Deferral Plan for the Chairman. The Provident Bank maintains the Voluntary Bonus Deferral Plan for Mr. Pantozzi, which is a non-qualified plan that provides for the deferral of his bonus payments. Mr. Pantozzi may defer one-quarter, one-half or all of his bonus award for a period of five years or until the attainment of age 65. The Provident Bank established an investment fund to provide for the payment of the deferred bonus awards due under this plan and allows Mr. Pantozzi to choose, with the plan administrator's consent, from a variety of investment options. Mr. Pantozzi will receive a lump sum payment upon a change in control, as defined in the plan, and is eligible to apply for a hardship distribution of some or all of his separate account, in the event of a financial hardship. Mr. Pantozzi has never deferred any bonus payments pursuant to this plan.

Voluntary Bonus Deferral Plan. The Provident Bank maintains the Voluntary Bonus Deferral Plan, which is a non-qualified plan that provides for the deferral of some or all of any bonus payments awarded under our management incentive bonus program. An eligible employee may defer either one-half or all of a bonus award for a period of 5 years or 10 years, or until the attainment of age 60 or 65, but in no event may any amount be deferred beyond the year in which such employee attains age 65. Deferred bonus awards are invested by The Provident Bank board, in its sole discretion, in a portfolio of assets consisting of any combination of obligations of the United States with maturities not exceeding five years in duration. An eligible employee will receive a lump sum payment upon a change in control, as defined in this plan, and is eligible to apply for a hardship distribution of some or all of his separate accounts. As of December 31, 2003, The Provident Bank had accounts totaling $358,049 on behalf of seven participants in this plan.

Employee Stock Ownership Plan and Trust. The Provident Bank implemented an employee stock ownership plan in connection with the mutual-to-stock conversion. This plan is a tax-qualified plan generally covering employees who are at least 21 years old, who have at least one year of employment with The Provident Bank or a designated affiliated corporation and who have completed at least 1,000 hours of service. As part of the conversion and offering, the employee stock ownership plan borrowed funds from Provident and used those funds to purchase a number of shares equal to up to 8% of the common stock sold in the stock offering. Collateral for the loan will be the common stock purchased by the employee stock ownership plan. The loan will be repaid principally from a participating employer's discretionary contributions to the employee stock ownership plan over a period of up to 30 years. The loan documents provide that the loan may be repaid over a shorter period, without penalty. Effective December 31, 2003 and for the remaining loan term, the interest rate shall be a fixed rate equal to the prime rate published in the Wall Street Journal on such date. Shares purchased by the employee stock ownership plan will be held in a suspense account for allocation among participants as the loan is repaid.

Contributions to the employee stock ownership plan and shares released from the suspense account in an amount proportional to the repayment of the employee stock ownership plan loan will be allocated among employee stock ownership plan participants on the basis of compensation in the year of allocation. Benefits under the plan will not vest at all in the first five years of credited service but will vest entirely upon completion of five years of credited service. In general, the employee stock ownership plan will credit participants with up to five years of service for employment prior to the adoption of a plan. A participant's interest in his account under the plan will also fully vest in the event of a termination of service due to a participant's early or normal retirement, death, disability, or upon a change in control (as defined in the plan). Vested benefits will be payable in the form of common stock and/or cash. Contributions to the employee stock ownership plan are discretionary, subject to the loan terms and tax law limits. Therefore, benefits payable under the employee stock ownership plan cannot be estimated. Under generally accepted accounting principles, a participating employer will be required to record compensation expense each year in an amount equal to the fair market value of the shares released from the suspense account. In the event of a change in control, the employee stock ownership plan will terminate and participants will become fully vested in their account balances.

Stock Benefit Plans

The board of directors of Provident has adopted the Provident Financial Services, Inc. 2003 Stock Option Plan for non-employee directors and employees and the Provident Financial Services, Inc. 2003 Stock Award Plan for non-employee directors and key employees. Provident's stockholders approved both plans at the 2003 annual meeting.

Ownership Reports by Officers and Directors

Provident's common stock is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The executive officers and directors of Provident and The Provident Bank, and beneficial owners of greater than 10% of Provident's common stock are required to file reports on Forms 3, 4 and 5 with the Securities and Exchange Commission disclosing beneficial ownership and changes in beneficial ownership of Provident's common stock. The Securities and Exchange Commission rules require disclosure in Provident's Proxy Statement or Annual Report on Form 10-K of the failure of an executive officer, director or 10% beneficial owner of Provident's common stock to file a Form 3, 4, or 5 on a timely basis. Based on Provident's review of ownership reports and confirmations by executive officers and directors only, no executive officer or director failed to file ownership reports on a timely basis for the year ended December 31, 2003. Provident is not aware of any 10% beneficial owners of its common stock.

Transactions With Certain Related Persons

Federal laws and regulations generally require that all loans or extensions of credit to executive officers and directors must be made on substantially the same terms, including interest rates and collateral, as those prevailing at the time for comparable transactions with the general public and must not involve more than the normal risk of repayment or present other unfavorable features. However, regulations also permit executive officers and directors to receive the same terms through benefit or compensation plans that are widely available to other employees, as long as the director or executive officer is not given preferential treatment compared to the other participating employees. Pursuant to such a program, loans have been extended to executive officers, which loans are on substantially the same terms as those prevailing at the time for comparable transactions with the general public, except as to the interest rate charged, which rate is the same as available to all employees. These loans do not involve more than the normal risk of repayment or present other unfavorable features. As of December 31, 2003 The Provident Bank had loans and loan commitments totaling $584,291 to its executive officers. The Provident Bank does not make loans to members of the board of directors or for their immediate family members.

Section 402 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 generally prohibits an issuer from: (1) extending or maintaining credit; (2) arranging for the extension of credit; or (3) renewing an extension of credit in the form of a personal loan for an officer or director. There are several exceptions to this general prohibition, one of which is applicable to Provident. The provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 that prohibit loans do not apply to loans made by a depository institution, such as The Provident Bank, that is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and is subject to the insider lending restrictions of the Federal Reserve Act. All loans to Provident's and The Provident Bank's officers are made in conformity with the Federal Reserve Act and Regulation O.

The Provident Bank retains the law firm of Reed Smith LLP, a national law firm, to perform legal services from time to time. In 2003, Reed Smith LLP was paid $30,162 for services rendered to The Provident Bank. Director Connor is a partner at Reed Smith LLP.

PROVIDENT PROPOSAL III RATIFICATION OF THE APPOINTMENT OF INDEPENDENT AUDITORS OF PROVIDENT (FOR CONSIDERATION AND VOTE BY PROVIDENT STOCKHOLDERS ONLY)

Provident's independent auditors for the year ended December 31, 2003 were KPMG LLP. The Audit Committee has approved the engagement of KPMG LLP to be Provident's auditors for the year ending December 31, 2004, subject to the ratification of the engagement by Provident's stockholders at the annual meeting. Representatives of KPMG LLP are expected to attend the annual meeting, will have an opportunity to make a statement if they so desire, and will be available to respond to appropriate questions from stockholders at the annual meeting.

Table of Contents

Stockholder ratification of the appointment of KPMG LLP is not required by Provident's bylaws or otherwise. However, the board of directors is submitting the appointment of the independent auditors to the stockholders for ratification as a matter of good corporate practice. If the stockholders fail to ratify the appointment of KPMG LLP, the Audit Committee will reconsider whether or not to retain that firm. Even if the appointment is ratified, the Audit Committee in its discretion may direct the appointment of a different independent accounting firm at any time during the year if it determines that such change is in the best interests of Provident and its stockholders.

Audit Related Fees. The aggregate fees billed to the Provident by KPMG LLP for assurance and related services rendered by KPMG LLP that are reasonably related to the performance of the audit of and review of the financial statements and that are not already reported in Audit Fees, above, was $16,500 and $19,000 during the fiscal years ended December 31, 2003 and 2002, respectively. Tax Fees. The aggregate fees billed to Provident by KPMG LLP for professional services rendered by KPMG LLP for tax compliance, tax advice and tax planning was $87,000 and $95,000 during the fiscal years ended December 31, 2003 and 2002, respectively. These services included federal and state tax compliance services, including advisory services relating to a change in the New Jersey State Corporation Business Tax in 2002.

All Other Fees. No other fees were billed to Provident by KPMG LLP during the fiscal years ended December 31, 2003 and 2002, other than the fees described above.

The Audit Committee has considered whether the provision of non-audit services is compatible with maintaining the independence of KPMG LLP. The Audit Committee concluded that performing such services does not affect the independence of KPMG LLP in performing its function as auditor of Provident Financial Services, Inc.

The Audit Committee has delegated to the Chair of the Audit Committee the authority to pre-approve tax planning and tax advisory services not prohibited by law to be performed by the independent auditor and associated fees up to a maximum fee not to exceed $25,000 per service, provided the Chair reports any such decision to pre-approve such tax-related services to the full Audit Committee at its next regular meeting. The full Audit Committee pre-approves all other services to be performed by the independent auditor and the related fees.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS A VOTE FOR THE RATIFICATION OF THE APPOINTMENT OF KPMG LLP AS INDEPENDENT AUDITORS.

¹ Includes audit services rendered in connection with Provident's registration statement and prospectus, including the audited consolidated financial statements presented therein, prepared and filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with The Provident Bank's mutual-to-stock conversion and Provident's related stock offering and issuance of comfort letters to the board of directors and underwriters.

Compensation of Directors and Executive Officers

Directors Compensation

Directors Fees. Directors of First Sentinel received an annual retainer of $2,500 and special meeting attendance fees of $4,000 during 2003. Directors of First Savings Bank received a monthly retainer of $2,000. Directors who are not employees of First Savings Bank received $900 for each board meeting attended and $350 for each committee meeting attended. Committee chairmen received an additional $100 for each meeting attended.

Directors Deferred Fee Plan. First Savings Bank maintains the First Savings Bank Deferred Fee Plan. Under the Deferred Fee Plan, directors may elect to defer all or part of their fees and have them credited to a deferred money account. At the end of each fiscal quarter, the amount credited to the deferred money account is converted into shares of First Sentinel common stock according to the stock price at that time and credited to a stock account or the deferred money is used to purchase shares which are held in a trust account. Any balance credited to the stock account will be adjusted to reflect stock dividends or splits, and cash dividends will be credited to the stock account. First Savings Bank will distribute a participant's account in stock when the participant ceases to be a director, retires or attains age 65 (or some other age specifically elected by the director), unless First Savings Bank determines it serves its best interests or the best interests of the director to disburse these funds at an earlier date. The Deferred Fee Plan was amended, effective October 1, 2003, to require that all future distributions be made in First Sentinel common stock and that all cash dividends be reinvested in First Sentinel common stock. Prior to the amendment, participants were entitled to elect to receive distributions in the form of cash, First Sentinel common stock, or a combination thereof and to retain cash dividends in a deferred money account. The Deferred Fee Plan replaces the Agreement for Deferment of Directors' Fees and the First Savings Bank, SLA 1992 Deferred Fee Stock Unit Plan previously in effect.

Retirement Plan. First Savings Bank also maintains the First Savings Bank Non-employee Director Retirement Plan, a nonqualified, unfunded retirement plan for directors who are not employees, have served as a director for five (5) continuous years, and who retire from the board of directors at or after the age of 55. Benefits, in general, are either equal to all or a portion of the annual retainer received by a board member at the time of retirement, depending upon the director's age and length of service at retirement. A participant in the Director Retirement Plan who retires at or after the age of 70, or at or after the age of 55 with 10 years of continuous service, will receive the maximum benefit. Benefits are paid monthly, to the director or his or her surviving spouse, for the lesser of seven (7) years or the director's years of service on the board. Participation in the plan is limited to those non-employee directors serving on the board as of May 21, 2002.

In the event of a change in control, as defined in the Director Retirement Plan, however, each participant's benefit may be increased or accelerated. The merger will, upon its effective date, be considered a change in control for purposes of the Director Retirement Plan. Each participant who would not otherwise have satisfied the minimum requirements will be treated as meeting such requirements and will receive the minimum benefit. Each participant who has not yet begun receiving benefits may choose to receive a lump sum payment in lieu of installments. Each participant who is collecting his benefit may choose to receive the remainder of his benefit in a lump sum payment in lieu of installments.

Compensation Committee Report

General. The following is a report of the Compensation Committee of First Sentinel's board of directors regarding executive compensation. The First Sentinel Compensation Committee membership and duties are described on page 127.

Compensation Policies. The Compensation Committee generally seeks to provide competitive executive compensation packages with financial reward opportunities tied to performance. As a result, the Compensation Committee structures the executive compensation programs in a manner intended to generate total individual compensation levels approximating market average when financial results are comparable to average performance in the regional savings industry. First Sentinel emphasizes the use of performance-based cash incentives and equity compensation to raise overall executive compensation to that of First Sentinel's peers. This structure also allows the Compensation Committee to design the overall executive compensation program to allow for increases or decreases in compensation based on varying levels of performance. The Compensation Committee measures performance primarily based on return on equity and First Sentinel's success in maintaining capital strength while achieving strategic growth in target markets.

The basic elements of First Sentinel's executive compensation program include base salary, annual incentives, long-term equity-based incentives and certain other benefit arrangements, such as retirement programs.

Compensation Committee Considerations for Fiscal 2003. For 2003, the Compensation Committee utilized the results of a compensation review performed for First Sentinel in late 2002 by an independent, nationally recognized compensation consultant. The consulting firm evaluated First Sentinel's compensation levels for all officers relative to First Sentinel's peer group. The peer group selected by the consultant was comprised of stock banks and thrifts of comparable asset size located within the Mid-Atlantic region. The study reviewed officers' total compensation, cash compensation, equity compensation and long term incentives. Each component of compensation was benchmarked against the 50% percentile of the peer group for each individual officer. The results of the study were considered by the Compensation Committee in determining 2003 salary increases, annual incentive and equity compensation. Based on the consultant's recommendations, in 2003, the Compensation Committee approved, and First Sentinel implemented, a new annual incentive program for officers and adopted the First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc. 2003 Key Employee Equity Compensation Plan, both of which are described below.

Components of Executive Compensation

Base Salary. The Compensation Committee reviews the base salary of executive and non-executive officers on an annual basis. As part of its review, the Compensation Committee considered information prepared by the outside compensation consultant on practices of a peer group of comparably sized stock banks and thrifts in the same geographic area. The compensation study furnished by the compensation consulting firm in late 2002 indicated that First Sentinel's base salary levels for executive officers fell below median levels for its peer group. As a result, base salary increases for 2003 were designed both to reflect individual performance and raise general executive salary levels closer to median compensation levels for the peer group. The Compensation Committee determines annual salaries of executive officers relative to the ranges of salaries reflected in the peer group analysis, together with a subjective assessment of each executive officer's knowledge, experience and contribution to First Sentinel's performance. These factors are considered subjectively in the aggregate and none of the factors are accorded specific weight.

Annual Incentive Program. The Annual Incentive Program provides senior officers of First Savings Bank an opportunity to earn additional compensation upon the achievement of predetermined goals, including annual return on equity. The Annual Incentive Program was modified for 2003, based upon the compensation consultant's recommendations. The modified program awards incentives based on up to three different award objectives: overall company, department and individual performance. At the beginning of each year, the Compensation Committee establishes performance goals for First Sentinel, each department and individual officers. The three components are weighted differently, according to officer tiers, and together comprise a total target award level for each officer, expressed as a percentage of salary that also varies based on the officer's position. A maximum target award level is also established to recognize exceptional performance.

Individual awards are determined at year-end by measuring an officer's performance relative to the achievement of the goals of First Savings Bank and First Sentinel, the respective department, and the officer's individual goals. If any of the component award objectives are not achieved, an officer is not eligible to receive that portion of his or her target award level. The Compensation Committee certified the achievement of First Sentinel, department and individual performance goals at year-end.

Equity-Based Compensation. First Sentinel maintains the 1998 Stock-Based Incentive Plan under which executive officers may receive awards of common stock and grants of options to purchase common stock. The Compensation Committee believes that stock ownership by the executive officers provides a significant incentive in building stockholder value by further aligning the interests of management with stockholders. The value of this component of compensation increases if First Sentinel common stock appreciates in value. The Compensation Committee considers both outstanding and newly awarded equity-based incentives in determining annual compensation. Based on the compensation consultant's recommendations, in 2003, the Compensation Committee awarded stock options and restricted stock awards available for grant under the 1998 Stock-Based Incentive Plan to newly hired officers, persons promoted to officer and to certain officers based upon individual performance. The merger will, upon its effective date, be considered a change in control for purposes of the 1998 Stock-Based Incentive Plan.

In 2003, the Compensation Committee approved and First Sentinel adopted the First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc. 2003 Key Employee Equity Compensation Plan, which was subsequently approved by First Sentinel's stockholders. The Compensation Committee approved the 2003 Key Employee Equity Compensation Plan based upon the recommendations of the independent compensation consultant as an important component of First Sentinel's overall employee compensation philosophy. The Compensation Committee also considered that most of the restricted stock awards and stock options available under the 1998 Stock-Based Incentive Plan had been granted and vested. The 2003 Key Employee Equity Compensation Plan is similar to the 1998 Stock-Based Incentive Plan in that it allows First Sentinel to use stock options and restricted stock to reward performance and build the participants' equity interests in First Sentinel by providing long-term incentives and rewards to officers and employees who provide services to First Sentinel. In 2003, the Compensation Committee granted restricted stock awards to certain officers based upon individual performance. The Compensation Committee did not grant any stock options under the 2003 Key Employee Equity Compensation Plan in 2003. The merger will, upon its effective date, be considered a change in control for purposes of the 2003 Key Employee Equity Compensation Plan.

Compensation of the Chief Executive Officer. After taking into consideration the factors discussed in this report, including surveys, the overall qualitative performance of the Chief Executive Officer in managing First Sentinel and First Savings Bank during fiscal 2002, and the capital strength of First Sentinel and its return on equity, the Compensation Committee increased Mr. Martin's base salary by 16.7% to $350,000 for 2003. In addition to base salary, Mr. Martin received a cash bonus of $133,000 under the 2003 Annual Incentive Program due to the attainment of target performance levels and the Compensation Committee's evaluation of Mr. Martin's overall contribution toward this achievement.

Tax Deductibility of Executive Officer Compensation

Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code imposes a $1,000,000 annual limit, per executive officer, on First Sentinel's federal tax deduction for certain types of compensation paid to the executive officers named in the summary compensation table. It has been the Compensation Committee's practice to structure the compensation and benefit programs offered to the named executive officers with a view to maximizing the tax deductibility of amounts paid. However, in structuring compensation programs and making compensation decisions, the Compensation Committee considers a variety of factors, including First Sentinel's tax position, the materiality of the payments and tax deductions involved, and the need for flexibility to address unforeseen circumstances. After considering these factors, the Compensation Committee may decide to authorize payments all or part of which would be nondeductible for federal tax purposes. Certain payments were made to Mr. Martin in 2003 in settlement of First Sentinel's obligations under nonqualified deferred compensation plans. These payments were made for corporate tax planning purposes in anticipation of the merger and may be subject to this deduction limit.

Employment Agreements. First Sentinel and First Savings Bank have entered into employment agreements with Mr. Martin, effective as of November 15, 2000. The employment agreements are intended to ensure that First Sentinel and First Savings Bank will be able to maintain a stable and competent management base. The employment agreements have rolling three-year terms unless and until the executive, First Sentinel or First Savings Bank choose to convert to a fixed three-year term. These agreements provide for a minimum current annual salary of $425,000 for Mr. Martin as of 2004 and participation on generally applicable terms and conditions in other compensation and fringe benefit plans to the extent that First Savings Bank continues those plans. The base salary will be reviewed at least annually by the boards of directors of First Sentinel and First Savings Bank.

First Sentinel and First Savings Bank may discharge Mr. Martin, and Mr. Martin may resign, at any time, with or without cause. If First Sentinel or First Savings Bank terminates Mr. Martin's employment without cause, however, First Sentinel and First Savings Bank will owe Mr. Martin severance benefits generally equal to the value of the cash compensation and fringe benefits that he would have received if he had continued working for three years. The same severance benefits would be payable if he resigns during the term following: (i) failure to re-elect him to his current offices or board seats; (ii) a material change in his functions, duties or responsibilities; (iii) a relocation of his principal place of employment by more than 25 miles; (iv) liquidation or dissolution of First Sentinel or First Savings Bank; (v) nonrenewal of the agreement by First Sentinel or First Savings Bank; (vi) a material reduction in benefits, unless the reduction is general in nature and applicable on a nondiscriminatory basis; or (vii) a breach of the agreement by First Sentinel or First Savings Bank. First Sentinel and First Savings Bank would also continue, and pay for, Mr. Martin's life, health and disability coverage for the remaining term of the employment agreements.

Under the employment agreements, if Mr. Martin's service is terminated following a change in control of First Sentinel or First Savings Bank, he will be entitled to a severance payment equal to the greater of: (1) the payments due for the remaining term of the agreement; or (2) three times the average of the three preceding years' compensation. First Sentinel and First Savings Bank would also continue his life, health, and disability coverage for 36 months. Payments made to Mr. Martin upon a change in control may constitute excess parachute payments as defined under section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, which may result in the imposition of an excise tax on Mr. Martin and the denial of federal income tax deductions for such excess amounts for First Sentinel or First Savings Bank. Under the employment agreements, First Sentinel or First Savings Bank would reimburse Mr. Martin for the amount of this excise tax and would make an additional gross-up payment so that, after payment of the excise tax and all income and excise taxes imposed on the reimbursement and gross-up payments, Mr. Martin would retain approximately the same net after-tax amounts under the employment agreement that he would have retained if there was no excise tax.

In accordance with the merger agreement with Provident, First Sentinel and First Savings Bank have entered into an agreement with Mr. Martin, effective as of December 19, 2003, pursuant to which approximately $3,027,324 was paid to Mr. Martin in December 2003 in satisfaction of payments owed under the First Savings Bank Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan and the Amended and Restated First Savings Bank Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan II, and approximately $2,488,932 will be paid to Mr. Martin in satisfaction of other cash severance payments owed under the employment agreements upon completion of the merger with Provident. Under the agreement, Mr. Martin has waived his rights to receive a tax indemnity payment under the employment agreements. Mr. Martin has also agreed that if he has an excess parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code, he will reduce a portion of the cash severance payment payable to him in 2004 to an amount sufficient to avoid such excess parachute payment.

Payments under the employment agreement with First Savings Bank are guaranteed by First Sentinel in the event that First Savings Bank fails to make its payments. Payments under the employment agreement with First Sentinel will be made by First Sentinel. Payments or benefits arising out of similar provisions from the First Sentinel and First Savings Bank employment agreements will be counted only once for Mr. Martin. All reasonable costs and legal fees paid or incurred by Mr. Martin pursuant to any dispute or question of interpretation relating to the employment agreements will be paid by First Savings or First Sentinel, respectively, if Mr. Martin is successful on the merits pursuant to a legal judgment, arbitration or settlement. The employment agreements also provide that First Sentinel and First Savings Bank shall indemnify Mr. Martin to the fullest extent allowable under Delaware and New Jersey law, respectively.

Change in Control Agreements. First Savings Bank has also entered into three-year change in control agreements with Messrs. Richard Spengler, John F. Cerulo, Jr., Richard P. St. George and Thomas M. Lyons, and Ms. Ann C. Clancy, Ms. Nancy E. Graves and Ms. Karen Iacullo-Martino. The term of these agreements is perpetual until First Savings Bank gives notice of nonrenewal, at which time the term is fixed for three years. First Savings Bank generally may terminate any of these officers' employment, with or without cause, at any time prior to a change in control. If, however, one of these officers' employment is terminated following a change in control, without cause, whether by the officer, First Savings Bank or its successor, the officer will be entitled to receive severance benefits equal to three times the officer's average annual compensation for the three years preceding termination. Annual compensation will include base salary and any other taxable income paid by First Sentinel or First Savings Bank, including bonus, retirement benefits, director or committee fees and fringe benefits, as well as contributions made to, or benefits accrued under, any employee benefit plan. First Sentinel and First Savings Bank will also continue, and pay for, the officer's life, health and disability coverage for the severance term. Payments to the officers under the change in control agreements are guaranteed by First Sentinel if payments or benefits are not paid by First Savings Bank. Such payments will be capped at $1 less than the amount that would constitute an excess parachute payment under section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code, unless such amount, after employment and income taxes are imposed, is less than the severance payment amount after any excise, employment and income taxes are imposed.

In accordance with the merger agreement with Provident, First Sentinel and First Savings Bank have entered into agreements with Messrs. Richard Spengler, John F. Cerulo, Jr., Richard P. St. George and Thomas M. Lyons, and Ms. Ann C. Clancy, Ms. Nancy E. Graves and Ms. Karen Iacullo-Martino pursuant to which cash severance payments of approximately $1,119,517, $577,753, $583,609, $587,404, $729,717, $806,031 and $696,097 will be paid to each, respectively, in satisfaction of change in control payments owed under the change in control agreements upon completion of the merger with Provident.

All reasonable costs and legal fees incurred by an officer pursuant to any dispute or question of interpretation relating to the change in control agreements will be paid by First Savings Bank if the officer is successful with any legal judgment, arbitration or settlement. The change in control agreements also provide that First Savings Bank indemnify officers to the fullest extent allowable under New Jersey law.

Option Plans. First Sentinel maintains the 2003 Key Employee Equity Compensation Plan, the 1998 Stock-Based Incentive Plan and the 1996 Omnibus Incentive Plan, which provide discretionary awards to directors, officers and employees of First Savings Bank. All option awards are determined by the Compensation Committee.

The following table summarizes the grant of options during 2003 to the named executive officers. The table discloses the gain that would be realized if the stock options were exercised when the stock price had appreciated by the percentage rates indicated.

All options granted under the 1998 Stock-Based Incentive Plan had an exercise price of $9.00 per share, with the exception of 20,000 of Ms. Graves' options which were granted on March 31, 2003 with an exercise price of $13.85.

Pension Plan. First Savings Bank is a participant in the Financial Institutions Retirement Fund, a multi-employer defined benefit pension plan. All employees age 21 or older who have completed one year of service are eligible to participate in this pension plan. Retirement benefits are based upon a formula utilizing years of service and average compensation. Participants are vested 100% upon the completion of five years of service. Effective August 1, 2003, First Savings Bank amended its pension plan to reduce the retirement benefit and closed the plan to new participants hired on or after that date.

The Financial Institutions Retirement Fund does not segregate its assets by participating employer. Therefore, First Savings Bank cannot ascertain the accumulated benefit obligations, plan assets or the components of annual pension expense attributable to it. The following table indicates the annual retirement benefit that would be payable under the plan upon retirement at age 65 to a participant electing to receive his retirement benefit in the standard form of benefit, assuming various specified levels of plan compensation and various specified years of credited service.

- (1) As of December 31, 2003, Christopher Martin, Ann C. Clancy, Thomas M. Lyons and Richard Spengler had 20 years, 4 years, 3 years, and 20 years of credited service, respectively. Ms. Graves was not a participant in the pension plan as of December 31, 2003.
- (2) The compensation utilized to determine estimated benefits is the salary amount listed under Summary Compensation Table, minus any directors' fees. Effective August 1, 2003, the plan was amended from a 5-year Final Average Compensation Plan to a Career Average Plan. Therefore, on a prospective basis, career accruals will be added to the August 1, 2003 benefits. The pension plan does not provide a deduction for Social Security benefits and there are no other offsets to benefits.
- (3) Under Section 401(a)(17) of the Internal Revenue Code, a participant's annual compensation in excess of $200,000 (as adjusted to reflect cost-of-living increases) is disregarded for purposes of determining average annual compensation. For plan years 1997 through 1999, that limit was $160,000. For plan years 2000 and 2001, the limit increased to $170,000, and for 2002 and 2003, the limit increased to $200,000. Benefits are not reduced below the level of benefits accrued as of December 31, 1993. Under applicable law, the maximum annual benefit for a Ten Year Certain and Life Annuity is $152,091 for 2003.

Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan. Effective as of January 1, 1994, First Sentinel's board of directors revised a previously existing plan entitled the Retirement Benefit Maintenance Plan and restated it as the First Savings Bank Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan, or SERP. The SERP is a nonqualified employee benefit plan that provides a post-employment supplemental retirement benefit for certain participants designated by First Savings Bank's board of directors. A participant's benefit under the SERP is equal to (i) the excess of (A) seventy-five percent (75%) of the participant's base salary payments during the twelve consecutive months in which he received the greatest amount of such payments, over (B) the amount of the participant's Pension Plan Annual Benefit and Primary Social Security Benefit, as defined in the SERP, reduced by (ii) four percent (4%) for each year of benefit service less than twenty-five (25). Generally, if a participant retires at or after he attains the age of 65, his benefit would not be subject to any reduction based on years of benefit service. If a participant elects early payment of his benefit, unless he has attained age 60 and accrued 25 years of benefit service, his benefit would be reduced according to actuarial considerations. Upon a change in control, as defined in the SERP, a participant's benefit would not be subject to any reduction based on years of benefit service or early payment. Under the terms of the merger agreement with Provident and the SERP, all benefits under the SERP were paid in full to the plan's two participants, Mr. Mulkerin and Mr. Martin, as of December 31, 2003. Mr. Mulkerin received a payment of $1,318,362 and Mr. Martin received $2,560,807, each in satisfaction of all unpaid benefits due under the SERP, and the SERP was terminated.

Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan II. On November 15, 2000, First Savings Bank's board of directors approved the Amended and Restated First Savings Bank Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan II, or SERP II. Anyone who participates in the First Savings Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan, or the Incentive Savings Plan for Employees of First Savings Bank is eligible for selection as a participant in the SERP II. Participants in the SERP II are determined by First Savings Bank's board of directors from a select group of management or highly compensated employees. Generally, the SERP II provides a participant the benefits that he would have received under the First Savings Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan and the Incentive Savings Plan for Employees of First Savings Bank if certain Internal Revenue Code benefit limitations did not apply. The participant also would receive any benefits he would have received under the First Savings Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan had he remained in service throughout the term of the First Savings Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan loan and all unallocated First Savings Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan shares were allocated to participants. Vesting under the SERP II is subject to a five-year graded vesting schedule. Upon a change in control, as defined in the SERP II, however, the participant's portion of the unallocated First Savings Bank Employee Stock Ownership Plan shares would immediately vest. Under the terms of the merger agreement with Provident and the SERP II, all benefits under the SERP II were paid in full to the plan's only participant, Mr. Martin, as of December 31, 2003. Mr. Martin received $466,517 in satisfaction of all unpaid benefits due under the SERP II, and the SERP II was terminated.

First Sentinel's board of directors held 18 regular and special meetings in 2003. The committee acts under a written charter, a copy of which can be viewed on First Sentinel's website at www.firstsentinelbancorp.com. The Corporate Governance Committee met three times in 2003. The purpose of the Corporate Governance Committee is to assist the board in managing the affairs and operations of First Sentinel and its subsidiaries, including evaluating the composition, structure, responsibilities and performance of the board of directors and its committees. accordance with certain procedural and informational requirements set forth in First Sentinel's bylaws. The Nominating Committee selected the nominees for election as directors at the 2004 annual meeting. Nominations by stockholders for the election of directors must comply with certain procedural and informational requirements set forth in First Sentinel's bylaws. See Advance Notice of Business to be Conducted at an Annual Meeting.

Director Qualifications

First Sentinel's Corporate Governance Policy contains criteria considered by the Nominating Committee in evaluating nominees for a position on First Sentinel's board. Directors should possess the highest personal and professional ethics and integrity. They should have broad experience at the policy-making level in business, government, education, technology, public interest or in other areas relevant to First Sentinel's business. Directors should have sufficient time to carry out their duties and responsibilities. They shall be limited to service on the boards of three other public companies and may not serve on the board or as a member of senior management of another unaffiliated financial institution or financial holding company within First Sentinel's market area while serving as a director of First Sentinel.

Identifying and Evaluating Nominees for Directors

The Nominating Committee employs a variety of methods for identifying and evaluating nominees for director. The Nominating Committee will review the performance of First Sentinel's current board members to determine if they should stand for reelection. If a determination is made that a current board member will not be recommended by the Nominating Committee for reelection, due to no longer satisfying the minimum qualifications, retirement or otherwise, the Nominating Committee will conduct a search for individuals qualified to become members of First Sentinel's board of directors. In addition, the Nominating Committee is authorized by its charter to retain an independent search firm to assist the Nominating Committee in identifying candidates for director. The Nominating Committee will also evaluate nominations by stockholders for election as director that are submitted in accordance with the procedural and informational requirements set forth in First Sentinel's bylaws. All potential candidates are screened the same way, regardless of the source of the recommendation.

PROPOSAL IV AUTHORIZATION TO VOTE ON ADJOURNMENT OR OTHER MATTERS (FOR CONSIDERATION AND VOTE BY PROVIDENT AND FIRST SENTINEL STOCKHOLDERS)

As of the date of this document, neither the First Sentinel nor Provident boards of directors know of any matters that will be presented for consideration at their respective annual meeting other than as described in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. However, if any other matter shall properly come before their respective annual meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof and shall be voted upon, the Provident and First Sentinel boards of directors intend that properly completed proxies will be deemed to confer authority to the individuals named as authorized therein to vote the shares represented by the proxy on any matters that fall within the purposes set forth in their respective notice of annual meeting. In particular, in the event that there are not sufficient votes to constitute a quorum or approve the adoption of the merger agreement at the time of either the Provident or First Sentinel annual meeting, the merger agreement may not be approved unless such annual meeting is adjourned to a later date or dates in order to permit further solicitation of proxies. In order to allow proxies that have been received by First Sentinel or Provident at the time of their respective annual meetings to be voted for an adjournment, if necessary, First Sentinel and Provident have each submitted the question of adjournment to its stockholders as a separate matter for their consideration. If it is necessary to adjourn either the Provident or First Sentinel annual meeting, no notice of the adjourned annual meeting is required to be given to that company's stockholders (unless the adjournment is for more than 30 days or if a new record date is fixed), other than an announcement at the annual meeting of the hour, date and place to which the annual meeting is adjourned. However, no proxy that is voted against the merger agreement will be voted in favor of any adjournment or postponement.

THE BOARDS OF DIRECTORS OF FIRST SENTINEL AND PROVIDENT UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMEND THAT THEIR RESPECTIVE STOCKHOLDERS VOTE FOR THIS PROPOSAL.

From and after the date of this Agreement and until the Closing, each party hereto shall use its reasonable best efforts to cause the Merger to qualify, and will not knowingly take any action, cause any action to be taken, fail to take any action or cause any action to fail to be taken which action or failure to act could prevent the Merger from qualifying as a reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Code. Following the Closing, neither PFS, FSBI nor any of their affiliates shall knowingly take any action, cause any action to be taken, fail to take any action or cause any action to fail to be taken, which action or failure to act could cause the Merger to fail to qualify as a reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Code. The parties hereto agree to appropriately amend this Agreement and any related documents in order to reflect any such revised structure.

If, at any time after the Effective Time, PFS shall consider or be advised that any further deeds, assignments or assurances in law or any other acts are necessary or desirable to (i) vest, perfect or confirm, of record or otherwise, in PFS its right, title or interest in, to or under any of the rights, properties or assets of FSBI or First Savings Bank, or (ii) otherwise carry out the purposes of this Agreement, FSBI and its officers and directors shall be deemed to have granted to PFS an irrevocable power of attorney to execute and deliver all such deeds, assignments or assurances in law or any other acts as are necessary or desirable to (a) vest, perfect or confirm, of record or otherwise, in PFS its right, title or interest in, to or under any of the rights, properties or assets of FSBI or (b) otherwise carry out the purposes of this Agreement, and the officers and directors of the PFS are authorized in the name of FSBI or otherwise to take any and all such action.

ARTICLE III

CONVERSION OF SHARES

3.1. Conversion of FSBI Common Stock; Merger Consideration.

At the Effective Time, by virtue of the Merger and without any action on the part of PFS, FSBI or the holders of any of the shares of FSBI Common Stock, the Merger shall be effected in accordance with the following terms:

3.1.1. Each share of PFS Common Stock that is issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time shall remain issued and outstanding following the Effective Time and shall be unchanged by the Merger.

3.1.2. All shares of FSBI Common Stock held in the treasury of FSBI and each share of FSBI Common Stock owned by PFS or any direct or indirect wholly owned subsidiary of PFS or of FSBI immediately prior to the Effective Time (other than shares held in a fiduciary capacity or in connection with debts previously contracted) (Treasury Stock), shall, at the Effective Time, cease to exist, and the certificates for such shares shall be canceled as promptly as practicable thereafter, and no payment or distribution shall be made in consideration therefor.

3.1.3. Each share of FSBI Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time (other than Treasury Stock and Dissenting Shares) shall become and be converted into, as provided in and subject to the limitations set forth in this Agreement, the right to receive at the election of the holder thereof as provided in Section 3.2 either (i) $22.25 in cash (the Cash Consideration); (ii) 1.0920 shares (the Exchange Ratio) of PFS Common Stock (the Stock Consideration); or (iii) a combination of the Cash Consideration and the Stock Consideration, as provided in Section 3.2 (the Cash/Stock Consideration). The Cash Consideration and the Stock Consideration are sometimes referred to herein collectively as the Merger Consideration.

3.1.4. Each outstanding share of FSBI Common Stock the holder of which has perfected his right to dissent under the DGCL and has not effectively withdrawn or lost such right as of the Effective Time (the Dissenting Shares) shall not be converted into or represent a right to receive the Merger Consideration hereunder, and the holder thereof shall be entitled only to such rights as are granted by the DGCL. FSBI shall give PFS prompt notice upon receipt by FSBI of any such demands for payment of the fair value of such shares of FSBI Common Stock and of withdrawals of such notice and any other instruments provided pursuant to applicable law (any stockholder duly making such demand being hereinafter called a Dissenting Stockholder), and PFS shall have the right to participate in all negotiations and proceedings with respect to any such demands. FSBI shall not, except with the prior written consent of PFS, voluntarily make any payment with respect to, or settle or offer to settle, any such demand for payment, or waive any failure to timely deliver a written demand for appraisal or the taking of any other action by such Dissenting Stockholder as may be necessary to perfect appraisal rights under the DGCL. Any payments made in respect of Dissenting Shares shall be made by the Surviving Company.

3.1.5. If any Dissenting Stockholder shall effectively withdraw or lose (through failure to perfect or otherwise) his right to such payment at or prior to the Effective Time, such holder's shares of FSBI Common Stock shall be converted into a right to receive the Merger Consideration in accordance with the applicable provisions of this Agreement. If such holder shall effectively withdraw or lose (through failure to perfect or otherwise) his right to such payment after the Effective Time (or the Election Deadline, as defined below), each share of FSBI Common Stock of such holder shall be treated as a Non-Election Share.

3.1.6. After the Effective Time, shares of FSBI Common Stock shall no longer be outstanding and shall automatically be canceled and shall cease to exist, and shall thereafter by operation of this section be the right to receive the Merger Consideration.

3.1.7. In the event PFS changes (or establishes a record date for changing) the number of, or provides for the exchange of, shares of PFS Common Stock issued and outstanding prior to the Effective Time as a result of a stock split, stock dividend, recapitalization, reclassification, or similar transaction with respect to the outstanding PFS Common Stock and the record date therefor shall be prior to the Effective Time, the Exchange Ratio shall be proportionately and appropriately adjusted; provided, that no such adjustment shall be made with regard to PFS Common Stock if PFS issues additional shares of PFS Common Stock and receives fair market value consideration for such shares.

3.2. Election Procedures.

3.2.1. Holders of FSBI Common Stock may elect to receive shares of PFS Common Stock or cash (in either case without interest) in exchange for their shares of FSBI Common Stock in accordance with the following procedures, provided that, in the aggregate, and subject to the provisions of Section 3.2.6, 60% of the total number of shares of FSBI Common Stock issued and outstanding at the Effective Time, including any Dissenting Shares but excluding any Treasury Stock (the Stock Conversion Number), shall be converted into the Stock Consideration and the remaining outstanding shares of FSBI Common Stock shall be converted into the Cash Consideration. Shares of FSBI Common Stock as to which a Cash Election (including, pursuant to a Mixed Election) has been made are referred to herein as Cash Election Shares. Shares of FSBI Common Stock as to which a Stock Election has been made (including, pursuant to a Mixed Election) are referred to as Stock Election Shares. Shares of FSBI Common Stock as to which no election has been made (or as to which an Election Form is not returned properly completed) are referred to herein as Non-Election Shares. The aggregate number of shares of FSBI Common Stock with respect to which a Stock Election has been made is referred to herein as the Stock Election Number. Any Dissenting Shares shall be deemed to be Cash Election Shares, and the holders thereof shall in no event receive consideration comprised of PFS Common Stock with respect to such shares.

3.2.2. An election form and other appropriate and customary transmittal materials (which shall specify that delivery shall be effected, and risk of loss and title to the Certificates shall pass, only upon proper delivery of such Certificates to the Exchange Agent), in such form as FSBI and PFS shall mutually agree (Election Form), shall be mailed 40 days prior to the anticipated Effective Time or on such earlier date as PFS and FSBI shall mutually agree (the Mailing Date) to each holder of record of FSBI Common Stock as of five business days prior to the Mailing Date (the Election Form Record Date). Each Election Form shall permit such holder, subject to the allocation and election procedures set forth in this Section 3.2, (i) to elect to receive the Cash Consideration for all of the shares of FSBI Common Stock held by such holder (a Cash Election), in accordance with Section 3.1.3, (ii) to elect to receive the Stock Consideration for all of such shares (a Stock Election), in accordance with Section 3.1.3, (iii) elect to receive the Stock Consideration for a part of such holder's FSBI Common Stock and the Cash consideration for the remaining part of such holder's FSBI Common Stock (a Mixed Election), or (iv) to indicate that such record holder has no preference as to the receipt of cash or PFS Common Stock for such shares (a Non-Election). A holder of record of shares of FSBI Common Stock who holds such shares as nominee, trustee or in another representative capacity (a Representative) may submit multiple Election Forms, provided that each such Election Form covers all the shares of FSBI Common Stock held by such Representative for a particular beneficial owner. Any shares of FSBI Common Stock with respect to which the holder thereof shall not, as of the Election Deadline, have made an election by submission to the Exchange Agent of an effective, properly completed Election Form shall be deemed Non-Election Shares. All Dissenting Shares shall be deemed shares subject to a Cash Election, and with respect to such shares the holders thereof shall in no event receive consideration comprised of PFS Common Stock, subject to Section 3.1.5 hereof.

3.2.3. To be effective, a properly completed Election Form shall be submitted to the Exchange Agent on or before 5:00 p.m., New York City time, on the 20th day following the Mailing Date (or such other time and date as PFS and FSBI may mutually agree) (the Election Deadline); provided, however, that the Election Deadline may not occur on or after the Closing Date; and provided further that the Election Deadline may not occur prior to the seventh business day after receipt of all Regulatory Approvals (excluding the expiration of any applicable waiting periods). FSBI shall make available up to two separate Election Forms, or such additional Election Forms as PFS may permit, to all persons who become holders (or beneficial owners) of FSBI Common Stock between the Election Form Record Date and the close of business on the business day prior to the Election Deadline. FSBI shall provide to the Exchange Agent all information reasonably necessary for it to perform as specified herein. An election shall have been properly made only if the Exchange Agent shall have actually received a properly completed Election Form by the Election Deadline. An Election Form shall be deemed properly completed only if accompanied by one or more Certificates (or customary affidavits and indemnification regarding the loss or destruction of such Certificates or the guaranteed delivery of such Certificates) representing all shares of FSBI Common Stock covered by such Election Form, together with duly executed transmittal materials included with the Election Form. If an FSBI stockholder either (i) does not submit a properly completed Election Form in a timely fashion or (ii) revokes its Election Form prior to the Election Deadline, the shares of FSBI Common Stock held by such stockholder shall be designated as Non-Election Shares. Any Election Form may be revoked or changed by the person submitting such Election Form to the Exchange Agent by written notice to the Exchange Agent only if such notice of revocation or change is actually received by the Exchange Agent at or prior to the Election Deadline. PFS shall cause the Certificate or Certificates relating to any revoked Election Form to be promptly returned without charge to the person submitting the Election Form to the Exchange Agent. Subject to the terms of this Agreement and of the Election Form, the Exchange Agent shall have discretion to determine when any election, modification or revocation is received and whether any such election, modification or revocation has been properly made.

3.2.4. If the Stock Election Number exceeds the Stock Conversion Number, then all Cash Election Shares and all Non-Election Shares shall be converted into the right to receive the Cash Consideration, and, subject to Section 3.2.7 hereof, each holder of Stock Election Shares will be entitled to receive the Stock Consideration only with respect to that number of Stock Election Shares held by such holder equal to the product obtained by multiplying (x) the number of Stock Election Shares held by such holder by (y) a fraction, the numerator of which is the Stock Conversion Number and the denominator of which is the Stock Election Number, with the remaining number of such holder's Stock Election Shares being converted into the right to receive the Cash Consideration.

3.2.5. If the Stock Election Number is less than the Stock Conversion Number (the amount by which the Stock Conversion Number exceeds the Stock Election Number being referred to herein as the Shortfall Number), then all Stock Election Shares shall be converted into the right to receive the Stock Consideration and the Non-Election Shares and Cash Election Shares shall be treated in the following manner:

(A) if the Shortfall Number is less than or equal to the number of Non-Election Shares, then all Cash Election Shares shall be converted into the right to receive the Cash Consideration and, subject to Section 3.2.7 hereof, each holder of Non-Election Shares shall receive the Stock Consideration in respect of that number of Non-Election Shares held by such holder equal to the product obtained by multiplying (x) the number of Non-Election Shares held by such holder by (y) a fraction, the numerator of which is the Shortfall Number and the denominator of which is the total number of Non-Election Shares, with the remaining number of such holder's Non-Election Shares being converted into the right to receive the Cash Consideration; or

(B) if the Shortfall Number exceeds the number of Non-Election Shares, then all Non-Election Shares shall be converted into the right to receive the Stock Consideration, and, subject to Section 3.2.7 hereof, each holder of Cash Election Shares shall receive the Stock Consideration in respect of that number of Cash Election Shares held by such holder equal to the product obtained by multiplying (x) the number of Cash Election Shares held by such holder by (y) a fraction, the numerator of which is the amount by which (1) the Shortfall Number exceeds (2) the total number of Non-Election Shares and the denominator of which is the total number of Cash Election Shares, with the remaining number of such holder's Cash Election Shares being converted into the right to receive the Cash Consideration.

3.2.6. Notwithstanding anything in this Article III to the contrary, if the aggregate value of the Stock Consideration to be delivered as of the Effective Time less the amount of cash paid in lieu of fractional shares of PFS Common Stock pursuant to Section 3.2.7 (the Stock Value) is less than 42.5% of the sum of (i) the aggregate value of the Merger Consideration to be delivered as of the Effective Time, plus (ii) the value of any consideration described in Treasury Regulations Section 1.368-1(e)(1)(ii), plus (iii) cash paid to holders of Dissenting Shares, plus (iv) the value of any consideration paid by PFS or any of its Subsidiaries (or any related person to PFS or any of its Subsidiaries within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.368-1(e)(3)) to acquire shares of FSBI Common Stock prior to the Effective Time (such sum, the Aggregate Value), then PFS shall reduce the number of shares of outstanding FSBI Common Stock entitled to receive the Cash Consideration and correspondingly increase the number of shares of FSBI Common Stock entitled to receive the Stock Consideration by the minimum amount necessary to cause the Stock Value to equal 42.5% of the Aggregate Value.

3.2.7. No Fractional Shares. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, no certificates or scrip representing fractional shares of PFS Common Stock shall be issued upon the surrender for exchange of Certificates, no dividend or distribution with respect to PFS Common Stock shall be payable on or with respect to any fractional share interest, and such fractional share interests shall not entitle the owner thereof to vote or to any other rights of a stockholder of PFS. In lieu of the issuance of any such fractional share, PFS shall pay to each former holder of FSBI Common Stock who otherwise would be entitled to receive a fractional share of PFS Common Stock, an amount in cash, rounded to the nearest cent and without interest, equal to the product of (i) the fraction of a share to which such holder would otherwise have been entitled and (ii) the average of the daily closing sales prices of a share of PFS Common Stock as reported on the NYSE for the five consecutive trading days immediately preceding the Closing Date. For purposes of determining any fractional share interest, all shares of FSBI Common Stock owned by a FSBI stockholder shall be combined so as to calculate the maximum number of whole shares of PFS Common Stock issuable to such FSBI stockholder.

3.3. Procedures for Exchange of FSBI Common Stock.

3.3.1. PFS to Make Merger Consideration Available. After the Election Deadline and no later than the Closing Date, PFS shall deposit, or shall cause to be deposited, with the Exchange Agent for the benefit of the holders of FSBI Common Stock, for exchange in accordance with this Section 3.3, certificates representing the shares of PFS Common Stock and an aggregate amount of cash sufficient to pay the aggregate amount of cash payable pursuant to this Article III (including the estimated amount of cash to be paid in lieu of fractional shares of FSBI Common Stock) (such cash and certificates for shares of PFS Common Stock, together with any dividends or distributions with respect thereto (without any interest thereon) being hereinafter referred to as the Exchange Fund).

3.3.2. Exchange of Certificates. PFS shall take all steps necessary to cause the Exchange Agent, within five (5) business days after the Effective Time, to mail to each holder of a Certificate or Certificates who has not previously surrendered such certificates with an Election Form, a form letter of transmittal for return to the Exchange Agent and instructions for use in effecting the surrender of the Certificates in exchange for the Merger Consideration and cash in lieu of fractional shares into which the FSBI Common Stock represented by such Certificates shall have been converted as a result of the Merger if any. The letter of transmittal (which shall be subject to the reasonable approval of FSBI) shall specify that delivery shall be effected, and risk of loss and title to the Certificates shall pass, only upon delivery of the Certificates to the Exchange Agent. Upon proper surrender of a Certificate for exchange and cancellation to the Exchange Agent, together with a properly completed letter of transmittal, duly executed, the holder of such Certificate shall be entitled to receive in exchange therefor the Merger Consideration to which such holder of FSBI common stock shall have become entitled pursuant to Section 3.1.3 hereof, and the Certificate so surrendered shall forthwith be cancelled. No interest will be paid or accrued on any Cash Consideration or any cash payable in lieu of fractional shares or any unpaid dividends and distributions, if any, payable to holders of Certificates.

3.3.3. Rights of Certificate Holders after the Effective Time. The holder of a Certificate that prior to the Merger represented issued and outstanding FSBI Common Stock shall have no rights, after the Effective Time, with respect to such FSBI Common Stock except to surrender the Certificate in exchange for the Merger Consideration as provided in this Agreement. No dividends or other distributions declared after the Effective Time with respect to PFS Common Stock shall be paid to the holder of any unsurrendered Certificate until the holder thereof shall surrender such Certificate in accordance with this Section 3.3. After the surrender of a Certificate in accordance with this Section 3.3, the record holder thereof shall be entitled to receive any such dividends or other distributions, without any interest thereon, which theretofore had become payable with respect to shares of PFS Common Stock represented by such Certificate.

3.3.4. Surrender by Persons Other than Record Holders. If the Person surrendering a Certificate and signing the accompanying letter of transmittal is not the record holder thereof, then it shall be a condition of the payment of the Merger Consideration that: (i) such Certificate is properly endorsed to such Person or is accompanied by appropriate stock powers, in either case signed exactly as the name of the record holder appears on such Certificate, and is otherwise in proper form for transfer, or is accompanied by appropriate evidence of the authority of the Person surrendering such Certificate and signing the letter of transmittal to do so on behalf of the record holder; and (ii) the person requesting such exchange shall pay to the Exchange Agent in advance any transfer or other taxes required by reason of the payment to a Person other than the registered holder of the Certificate surrendered, or required for any other reason, or shall establish to the satisfaction of the Exchange Agent that such tax has been paid or is not payable.

3.3.6. Return of Exchange Fund. At any time following the six (6) month period after the Effective Time, PFS shall be entitled to require the Exchange Agent to deliver to it any portions of the Exchange Fund which had been made available to the Exchange Agent and not disbursed to holders of Certificates (including, without limitation, all interest and other income received by the Exchange Agent in respect of all funds made available to it), and thereafter such holders shall be entitled to look to PFS (subject to abandoned property, escheat and other similar laws) with respect to any Merger Consideration that may be payable upon due surrender of the Certificates held by them. Notwithstanding the foregoing, neither PFS nor the Exchange Agent shall be liable to any holder of a Certificate for any Merger Consideration delivered in respect of such Certificate to a public official pursuant to any abandoned property, escheat or other similar law.

3.3.7. Lost, Stolen or Destroyed Certificates. In the event any Certificate shall have been lost, stolen or destroyed, upon the making of an affidavit of that fact by the person claiming such Certificate to be lost, stolen or destroyed and, if required by PFS, the posting by such person of a bond in such amount as PFS may reasonably direct as indemnity against any claim that may be made against it with respect to such Certificate, the Exchange Agent will issue in exchange for such lost, stolen or destroyed Certificate the Merger Consideration deliverable in respect thereof.

3.3.8. Withholding. PFS or the Exchange Agent will be entitled to deduct and withhold from the consideration otherwise payable pursuant to this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby to any holder of FSBI Common Stock such amounts as PFS (or any Affiliate thereof) or FSBI agrees to take or to cause to be taken all actions necessary to provide for such payment at or prior to the Effective Time, and shall use its reasonable best efforts to obtain the written acknowledgement of each holder of a then outstanding FSBI Option with regard to the termination of such FSBI Option and the full payment therefor in accordance with the terms of this Agreement.

3.5. Bank Merger.

Each Compensation and Benefit Plan which is an employee pension benefit plan within the meaning of Section 3(2) of ERISA (a Pension Plan) and which is intended to be qualified under Section 401(a) of the Code has received a favorable determination letter from the IRS, and FSBI is not aware of any circumstances which are reasonably likely to result in revocation of any such favorable determination letter. There is no material pending or, to the Knowledge of FSBI, threatened action, suit or claim relating to any of the Compensation and Benefit Plans (other than routine claims for benefits). Neither FSBI nor any FSBI Subsidiary has engaged in a transaction, or omitted to take any action, with respect to any Compensation and Benefit Plan that would reasonably be expected to subject FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary to an unpaid tax or penalty imposed by either Section 4975 of the Code or Section 502 of ERISA.

4.13.3. Except as set forth in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.3, no liability, other than PBGC premiums arising in the ordinary course of business, has been or is expected by FSBI or any of its Subsidiaries to be incurred with respect to any FSBI Compensation and Benefit Plan which is a defined benefit plan subject to Title IV of ERISA (FSBI Defined Benefit Plan), or with respect to any single-employer plan (as defined in Section 4001(a) of ERISA) currently or formerly maintained by FSBI or any entity which is considered one employer with FSBI under Section 4001(b)(1) of ERISA or Section 414 of the Code (an ERISA Affiliate) (such plan hereinafter referred to as an ERISA Affiliate Plan). To the Knowledge of FSBI and any FSBI Subsidiary, except as set forth in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.3, no FSBI Defined Benefit Plan had an accumulated funding deficiency (as defined in Section 302 of ERISA), whether or not waived, as of the last day of the end of the most recent plan year ending prior to the date hereof. Except as set forth in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.3, the fair market value of the assets of each FSBI Defined Benefit Plan exceeds the present value of the benefits guaranteed under Section 4022 of ERISA under such FSBI Defined Benefit Plan as of the end of the most recent plan year with respect to the respective FSBI Defined Benefit Plan ending prior to the date hereof, calculated on the basis of the actuarial assumptions used in the most recent actuarial valuation for such FSBI Defined Benefit Plan as of the date hereof; and no notice of a reportable event (as defined in Section 4043 of ERISA) for which the 30-day reporting requirement has not been waived has been required to be filed for any FSBI Defined Benefit Plan within the 12-month period ending on the date hereof. To the Knowledge of FSBI, and except as set forth in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.3, there is no pending investigation or enforcement action by any Bank Regulator with respect to any Compensation and Benefit Plan or any ERISA Affiliate Plan. has any contingent liability under section 4204 of ERISA and no circumstances exist that present a material risk that any such plan will go into reorganization. FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.4 lists FSBI's best estimate of the amount of withdrawal liability that would be incurred if FSBI and each ERISA Affiliate were to make a complete withdrawal from such plan as of the Effective Time and the aggregate withdrawal liability of FSBI and the ERISA Affiliates, computed as if a complete withdrawal had occurred under each such multi-employer plan on the date hereof would not exceed $3.0 million. FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.4 further sets forth for each such multi-employer plan the amount of unfunded vested benefits (within the meaning of section 4211 of ERISA) as of the end of the most recently completed plan year and as of the date of this Agreement.

Except as disclosed in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.10, neither FSBI nor any FSBI Subsidiary maintains any compensation plans, programs or arrangements under which any payment is reasonably likely to become non-deductible, in whole or in part, for tax reporting purposes as a result of the limitations under Section 162(m) of the Code and the regulations issued thereunder.

4.13.11. To the Knowledge of FSBI, the consummation of the Merger and/or the Bank Merger will not, directly or indirectly (including without limitation, as a result of any termination of employment or service at any time prior to or following the Effective Time), entitle any current or former employee, director or independent contractor of FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary to any actual or deemed payment (or benefit)

(Q) make any change in policies in existence on the date of this Agreement with regard to: the extension of credit, or the establishment of reserves with respect to the possible loss thereon or the charge off of losses incurred thereon; investments; asset/liability management; or other material banking policies in any material respect except as may be required by changes in applicable law or regulations or by a Bank Regulator;

(X) agree to do any of the foregoing.

6.2.1. During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, FSBI will cause one or more of its representatives to confer with representatives of PFS and report the general status of its ongoing operations at such times as PFS may reasonably request. FSBI will promptly notify PFS of any material change in the normal course of its business or in the operation of its properties and, to the extent permitted by applicable law, of any governmental complaints, investigations or hearings (or communications indicating that the same may be contemplated), or the institution or the threat of material litigation involving FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary.

6.2.2. First Savings Bank and The Provident Bank shall meet on a regular basis to discuss and plan for the conversion of First Savings Bank's data processing and related electronic informational systems to those used by The Provident Bank, which planning shall include, but not be limited to, discussion of the possible termination by First Savings Bank of third-party service provider arrangements effective at the Effective Time or at a date thereafter, non-renewal of personal property leases and software licenses used by First Savings Bank in connection with its systems operations, retention of outside consultants and additional employees to assist with the conversion, and outsourcing, as appropriate, of proprietary or self-provided system services, it being understood that First Savings Bank shall not be obligated to take any such action prior to the Effective Time and, unless First Savings Bank otherwise agrees, no conversion shall take place prior to the Effective Time. In the event that First Savings Bank takes, at the request of The Provident Bank, any action relative to third parties to facilitate the conversion that results in the imposition of any termination fees or charges, The Provident Bank shall indemnify First Savings Bank for any such fees and charges, and the costs of reversing the conversion process, if for any reason the Merger is not consummated for any reason other than a breach of this Agreement by FSBI, or a termination of this Agreement under Section 11.1.8 or 11.1.9.

6.2.3. FSBI shall provide PFS, within fifteen (15) business days of the end of each calendar month, a written list of nonperforming assets (the term nonperforming assets, for purposes of this subsection, means (i) loans that are troubled debt restructuring as defined in Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 15, Accounting by Debtors and Creditors for Troubled Debt Restructuring, (ii) loans on nonaccrual, (iii) real estate owned, (iv) all loans ninety (90) days or more past due) as of the end of such month and (v) impaired loans. On a monthly basis, FSBI shall provide PFS with a schedule of all loan approvals, which schedule shall indicate the loan amount, loan type and other material features of the loan.

6.2.4. FSBI shall promptly inform PFS upon receiving notice of any legal, administrative, arbitration or other proceedings, demands, notices, audits or investigations (by any federal, state or local commission, agency or board) relating to the alleged liability of FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary under any labor or employment law.

6.3. Access to Properties and Records.

Subject to Section 12.1 hereof, FSBI shall permit PFS reasonable access upon reasonable notice to its properties and those of the FSBI Subsidiaries, and shall disclose and make available to PFS during normal business hours all of its books, papers and records relating to the assets, properties, operations, obligations and liabilities, including, but not limited to, all books of account (including the general ledger), tax records, minute books of directors (other than minutes that discuss any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or any other subject matter FSBI reasonably determines should be treated as confidential) and stockholders meetings, organizational documents, Bylaws, material contracts and agreements, filings with any regulatory authority, litigation files, plans affecting employees, and any other business activities or prospects in which PFS may have a reasonable interest; provided, however, that FSBI shall not be required to take any action that would provide access to or to disclose information where such access or disclosure, in FSBI's reasonable judgment, would interfere with the normal conduct of FSBI's business or would violate or prejudice the rights or business interests or confidences of any customer or other person or would result in the waiver by it of the privilege protecting communications between it and any of its counsel. FSBI shall provide and shall request its auditors to provide PFS with such historical financial information regarding it (and related audit reports and consents) as PFS may reasonably request for securities disclosure purposes. PFS shall use commercially reasonable efforts to minimize any interference with FSBI's regular business operations during any such access to FSBI's property, books and records. FSBI and each FSBI Subsidiary shall permit PFS, at its expense, to cause a phase I environmental audit and a phase II environmental audit to be performed at any physical location owned or occupied by FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary.

6.4. Financial and Other Statements.

6.4.1. Promptly upon receipt thereof, FSBI will furnish to PFS copies of each annual, interim or special audit of the books of FSBI and the FSBI Subsidiaries made by its independent accountants and copies of all internal control reports submitted to FSBI by such accountants in connection with each annual, interim or special audit of the books of FSBI and the FSBI Subsidiaries made by such accountants.

6.4.2. Within 25 days after the end of each month, FSBI will deliver to PFS a consolidated balance sheet and a consolidated statement of operations, without related notes, for such month prepared in accordance with current financial reporting practices.

6.4.3. FSBI will advise PFS promptly of the receipt of any examination report of any Bank Regulator with respect to the condition or activities of FSBI or any of the FSBI Subsidiaries.

6.6. Disclosure Supplements.

From time to time prior to the Effective Time, FSBI will promptly supplement or amend the FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE delivered in connection herewith with respect to any matter hereafter arising which, if existing, occurring or known at the date of this Agreement, would have been required to be set forth or described in such FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE or which is necessary to correct any information in such FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE which has been rendered materially inaccurate thereby. No supplement or amendment to such FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE shall have any effect for the purpose of determining satisfaction of the conditions set forth in Article IX.

6.7. Consents and Approvals of Third Parties.

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, FSBI shall utilize the services of a professional proxy soliciting firm to provide assistance in obtaining the stockholder vote required to be obtained by it hereunder.

Subject to the terms and conditions herein provided, FSBI agrees to use, and agrees to cause First Savings Bank to use, all commercially reasonable efforts to take, or cause to be taken, all action and to do, or cause to be done, all things necessary, proper or advisable under applicable laws and regulations to consummate and make effective the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. Prior to the Effective Time, the Board of Directors of FSBI will amend the FSBI Rights Agreement to provide for its termination effective upon the Effective Time.

6.9. Failure to Fulfill Conditions.

In the event that FSBI or First Savings Bank determines that a condition to its obligation to complete the Merger cannot be fulfilled and that it will not waive that condition, it will promptly notify PFS.

6.10. No Solicitation.

From and after the date hereof until the termination of this Agreement, neither FSBI, nor any FSBI Subsidiary, nor any of their respective officers, directors, employees, representatives, agents and affiliates (including, without limitation, any investment banker, attorney or accountant retained by FSBI or any of the FSBI Subsidiaries), will, directly or indirectly, initiate, solicit or knowingly encourage (including by way of furnishing non-public information or assistance) any inquiries or the making of any proposal that constitutes, or may reasonably be expected to lead to, any Acquisition Proposal (as defined below), or enter into or maintain or continue discussions or negotiate with any Person in furtherance of such inquiries or to obtain an Acquisition Proposal or agree to or endorse any Acquisition Proposal, or authorize or permit any of its officers, directors, or employees or any of its Subsidiaries or any investment banker, financial advisor, attorney, accountant or other representative retained by any of its Subsidiaries to take any such action, and FSBI shall notify PFS orally (within one business day) and in writing (as promptly as practicable) of all of the relevant details relating to all inquiries and proposals which it or any of its Subsidiaries or any such officer, director or employee, or, to FSBI's Knowledge, investment banker, financial advisor, attorney, accountant or other representative of FSBI may receive relating to any of such matters, provided, however, that nothing contained in this Section 6.10 shall prohibit the Board of Directors of FSBI from (i) complying with its disclosure obligations under federal or state law; or (ii) furnishing information to, or entering into discussions or negotiations with, any person or entity that makes an unsolicited Acquisition Proposal, if, and only to the extent that, (A) the Board of Directors of FSBI determines in good faith (after consultation with its financial and legal advisors), taking into account all legal, financial and regulatory aspects of the proposal and the Person making the proposal, that such proposal, if consummated, is reasonably likely to result in a transaction more favorable to FSBI's stockholders from a financial point of view than the Merger; (B) the Board of Directors of FSBI determines in good faith (after consultation with its financial and legal advisors) that the failure to furnish information to or enter into discussions with such Person would likely cause the Board of Directors to breach its fiduciary duties to stockholders under applicable law (such proposal that satisfies clauses (A) and (B) being referred to herein as a Superior Proposal); (C) FSBI promptly notifies PFS of such inquiries, proposals or offers received by, any such information requested from, or any such discussions or negotiations sought to be initiated or continued with FSBI or any of its representatives indicating, in connection with such notice, the name of such Person and the material terms and conditions of any inquiries, proposals or offers, and receives from such Person an executed confidentiality agreement in form and substance identical in all material respects to the confidentiality agreements that FSBI and PFS entered into; and (D) the FSBI Stockholders Meeting has not occurred. For purposes of this Agreement, Acquisition Proposal shall mean any proposal or offer as to any of the following (other than the transactions contemplated hereunder) involving FSBI or any of its Subsidiaries: (i) any merger, consolidation, share exchange, business combination, or other similar transactions; (ii) any sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, transfer or other disposition of 25% or more of the assets of FSBI and the FSBI Subsidiaries, taken as a whole, in a single transaction or series of transactions; (iii) any tender offer or exchange offer for 25% or more of the outstanding shares of capital stock of FSBI or the filing of a registration statement under the Securities Act in connection therewith; or (iv) any public announcement of a proposal, plan or intention to do any of the foregoing or any agreement to engage in any of the foregoing.

6.11. Reserves and Merger-Related Costs.

On or before the Effective Time, and to the extent consistent with GAAP, the rules and regulations of the SEC and applicable banking laws and regulations, FSBI shall establish such additional accruals and reserves as may be necessary to conform the accounting reserve practices and methods (including credit loss practices and methods) of FSBI to those of PFS (as such practices and methods are to be applied to FSBI from and after the Closing Date) and PFS's plans with respect to the conduct of the business of FSBI following the Merger and otherwise to reflect Merger-related expenses and costs incurred by FSBI, provided, however, that FSBI shall not be required to take such action unless PFS agrees in writing that all conditions to closing set forth in Article IX have been satisfied or waived (except for the expiration of any applicable waiting periods); prior to the delivery by PFS of the writing referred to in the preceding clause, FSBI shall provide PFS a written statement, certified without personal liability by the chief executive officer of FSBI and dated the date of such writing, that the representation made in Section 4.16.1 hereof is true as of such date or, alternatively, setting forth in detail the circumstances that prevent such representation from being true as of such date; and no accrual or reserve made by FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary pursuant to this subsection, or any litigation or regulatory proceeding arising out of any such accrual or reserve, shall constitute or be deemed to be a breach or violation of any representation, warranty, covenant, condition or other provision of this Agreement or to constitute a termination event within the meaning of Section 11.1.2 hereof. No action shall be required to be taken by FSBI pursuant to this Section 6.11 if, in the opinion of FSBI's independent auditors, such action would contravene GAAP.

ARTICLE VII

COVENANTS OF PFS

7.1. Conduct of Business.

During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, except with the written consent of FSBI, which consent will not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed, PFS will, and it will cause each PFS Subsidiary to: conduct its business only in the usual, regular and ordinary course consistent with past practices; use reasonable efforts to preserve intact its business organization and assets and maintain its rights and franchises; and voluntarily take no action that would: (i) adversely affect the ability of the parties to obtain the Regulatory Approvals or materially increase the period of time necessary to obtain such approvals; (ii) adversely affect its ability to perform its covenants and agreements under this Agreement; (iii) result in the representations and warranties contained in Article V of this Agreement not being true and correct on the date of this Agreement or at any future date on or prior to the Closing Date or in any of the conditions set forth in Article IX hereof not being satisfied; (iv) change or waive any provision of its Certificate of Incorporation or Charter, except as required by law; or (v) change any method, practice or principle of accounting, except as may be required from time to time by GAAP (without regard to any optional early adoption date) or any Bank Regulator responsible for regulating PFS or The Provident Bank.

7.2. Current Information and Consultation.

During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, PFS will cause one or more of its representatives to confer with representatives of FSBI and report the general status of its financial condition, operations and business and matters relating to the completion of the transactions contemplated hereby, at such times as FSBI may reasonably request. PFS will promptly notify FSBI, to the extent permitted by applicable law, of any governmental complaints, investigations or hearings (or communications indicating that the same may be contemplated), or the institution or the threat of material litigation involving PFS and any PFS Subsidiary. PFS will consult with FSBI in advance with respect to any proposed material change in the business or operations of PFS and with respect to any material strategic activities of PFS.

7.3. Financial and Other Statements.

As soon as reasonably available, but in no event later than the date such documents are filed with the SEC, PFS will deliver to FSBI the Securities Documents filed by it with the SEC under the Securities Laws. PFS will advise FSBI promptly of the receipt of any examination report of any Bank Regulator with respect to the condition or activities of PFS or any of the PFS Subsidiaries.

7.4. Disclosure Supplements.

From time to time prior to the Effective Time, PFS will promptly supplement or amend the PFS DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE delivered in connection herewith with respect to any matter hereafter arising which, if existing, occurring or known at the date of this Agreement, would have been required to be set forth or described in such PFS DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE or which is necessary to correct any information in such PFS DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE which has been rendered inaccurate thereby. No supplement or amendment to such PFS DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE shall have any effect for the purpose of determining satisfaction of the conditions set forth in Article IX.

7.5. Consents and Approvals of Third Parties.

PFS and The Provident Bank shall use all commercially reasonable efforts to obtain as soon as practicable all consents and approvals of any other Persons necessary or desirable for the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

7.6. All Reasonable Efforts.

Subject to the terms and conditions herein provided, PFS agrees to use and agrees to cause The Provident Bank to use all commercially reasonable efforts to take, or cause to be taken, all action and to do, or cause to be done, all things necessary, proper or advisable under applicable laws and regulations to consummate and make effective the transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

7.7. Failure to Fulfill Conditions.

In the event that PFS or The Provident Bank determines that a condition to its obligation to complete the Merger cannot be fulfilled and that it will not waive that condition, it will promptly notify FSBI.

7.8. Employee Benefits; Advisory Board.

7.8.1 PFS will review all other FSBI Compensation and Benefit Plans to determine whether to maintain, terminate or continue such plans. In the event employee compensation and/or benefits as currently provided by FSBI or First Savings Bank are changed or terminated by PFS, in whole or in part, PFS shall provide Continuing Employees (as defined below in Section 7.8.8) with compensation and benefits that are, in the aggregate, substantially similar to the compensation and benefits provided to similarly situated PFS employees (as of the date any such compensation or benefit is provided). All FSBI Employees who become participants in an PFS Compensation and Benefit Plan shall, for purposes of determining eligibility for and for any applicable vesting periods of such employee benefits only (and not for benefit accrual purposes) be given credit for meeting eligibility and vesting requirements in such plans for service as an employee of FSBI or First Savings Bank or any predecessor thereto prior to the Effective Time, provided, however, that credit for prior service shall not be given under the PFS

Edgar Filing: PROVIDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES INC - Form 424B3

ESOP or under the PFS retiree health plan. This Agreement shall not be construed to limit the ability of PFS or The Provident Bank to terminate the employment of any employee or to review employee benefits programs from time to time and to make such changes as they deem appropriate.

7.8.2 The FSBI Employee Stock Ownership Plan (the FSBI ESOP) shall be terminated as of, or prior to, the Effective Time (all shares held by the ESOP shall be converted into the right to receive the Merger Consideration, as elected by the ESOP participants), all outstanding FSBI ESOP indebtedness shall be repaid, and the balance of the shares and any other assets remaining in the Loan Suspense Account (as such term is defined in the FSBI ESOP) shall be allocated and distributed to FSBI ESOP participants (subject to the receipt of a favorable determination letter from the IRS), as provided for in the FSBI ESOP and unless otherwise required by applicable law. Prior to the Effective Time, FSBI, and following the Effective Time, PFS shall use their respective best efforts in good faith to obtain such favorable determination letter (including, but not limited to, making such changes to the ESOP and the proposed allocations as may be requested by the IRS as a condition to its issuance of a favorable determination letter). FSBI and following the Effective Time, PFS, will adopt such amendments to the FSBI ESOP as may be reasonably required by the IRS as a condition to granting such favorable determination letter on termination. Neither FSBI, nor following the Effective Time, PFS shall make any distribution from the FSBI ESOP except as may be required by applicable law until receipt of such favorable determination letter. In the case of a conflict between the terms of this Section and the terms of the FSBI ESOP, the terms of the FSBI ESOP shall control, however, in the event of any such conflict, FSBI before the Merger, and PFS, after the Merger, shall use their best efforts to cause the ESOP to be amended to conform to the requirements of this Section.

7.8.3 PFS shall assume and honor in accordance with their terms and the methodology for determining the benefits and payments due thereunder that is set forth in PFS DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 7.8.3, the employment and change in control agreements between FSBI or First Savings Bank and any officer or employee thereof which are listed in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.13. Each of the officers and employees referenced in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.13 who may be entitled to a payment under an employment agreement or change in control agreement, together with First Savings Bank, FSBI, The Provident Bank and PFS, shall sign an acknowledgment in connection with the execution of this Agreement, which shall be included in PFS DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 7.8.3, agreeing to the methodology set forth therein. At the time of payment of the amounts set forth in Sections 5(c) and 5(d) of the employment agreements and Sections 3 and 3(b) of the change in control agreements, each officer or employee receiving payment thereunder shall enter into an acknowledgment and release, satisfactory in form to PFS, acknowledging that no further payments are due under such sections and releasing FSBI, First Savings Bank, PFS and The Provident Bank and their respective officers, directors and employees from any and all claims arising thereunder.

7.8.4 FSBI shall cause First Savings Bank to terminate the First Savings Bank Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan, restated effective as of January 1, 1997 (SERP I), and the First Savings Bank Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan II (SERP II), prior to December 31, 2003, and to distribute prior to December 31, 2003, the present value of the benefits to which the participants therein are entitled. Contemporaneously with the execution of this Agreement, Christopher Martin shall enter into an acknowledgment, satisfactory in form to PFS, agreeing to the methodology for payments of the amount(s) to which he is entitled under SERP I and SERP II and upon payment of such amounts, releasing First Savings Bank, FSBI, PFS and The Provident Bank from any and all claims arising thereunder. Further, Mr. Martin's acknowledgment shall specifically acknowledge that the income recognized under this Section shall not be included in the calculation of the amounts payable under paragraph 5(c) or (d) of either employment agreement.

7.8.5 Contemporaneously with the execution of this Agreement, Christopher Martin shall enter into an acknowledgment attached to FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 7.8.3 whereby he agrees to exercise all vested options previously granted to him on or before December 31, 2003, as set forth on FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 3.4. Further such acknowledgment and release shall specifically acknowledge that the income recognized pursuant to the exercises contemplated by this Section shall not be included in the calculation of the amounts payable under paragraph 5(c) or (d) of either employment agreement.

7.8.6 FSBI agrees to cause First Savings Bank to terminate the FSB Non-Employee Director Retirement Plan (Director Retirement Plan) as of, or prior to, the Effective Time, and to distribute the present value of the amounts payable thereunder, which present value is set forth in FSBI DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE 4.13.13, in a lump sum to participants on or before the Closing Date. Participants in the Director Retirement Plan who are entitled to benefits in connection with the termination of the Director Retirement Plan shall agree to enter into a unanimous written consent to terminate such plan contemporaneously with the execution of this Agreement. PFS and The Provident Bank shall, as of the Effective Time, assume the First Savings Bank Deferred Fee Plan (Deferred Fee Plan). Prior to the Effective Time, FSBI shall cause First Savings Bank to amend the Deferred Fee Plan: (i) to prohibit the deferral of additional fee amounts on or after the Effective Time; (ii) to require that amounts that are invested in FSBI stock continue to be invested in stock of FSBI (or stock of its successor,) and be distributed to participants in the form of stock of the FSBI or its successor; and (iii) to prohibit the termination of the Deferred Fee Plan without the unanimous written consent of the participants with unpaid benefits thereunder; provided however, that no such amendment will be made if it results in variable accounting for the Deferred Fee Plan.

7.8.7 PFS shall honor in accordance with its terms the First Savings Bank Employee Severance Plan, provided, however that prior to the Closing Date, FSBI shall cause First Savings Bank to amend the First Savings Bank Employee Severance Compensation Plan to require any employee receiving a severance benefit thereunder to execute an acknowledgement and release of employment-related claims (excluding claims for employee benefits due and payable after the date of execution of the release), in a form satisfactory to PFS and The Provident Bank.

7.8.8 In the event of any termination of any FSBI or First Savings Bank health plan or consolidation of any such plan with any PFS or The Provident Bank health plan, PFS shall make available to employees of FSBI or First Savings Bank who continue employment with PFS or a PFS Subsidiary (Continuing Employees) and their dependents employer-provided health coverage on the same basis as it provides such coverage to PFS employees. Unless a Continuing Employee affirmatively terminates coverage under a FSBI health plan prior to the time that such Continuing Employee becomes eligible to participate in the PFS health plan, no coverage of any of the Continuing Employees or their dependents shall terminate under any of the FSBI health plans prior to the time such Continuing Employees and their dependents become eligible to participate in the health plans, programs and benefits common to all employees of PFS and their dependents. In the event of a termination or consolidation of any FSBI health plan, terminated FSBI employees and qualified beneficiaries will have the right to continued coverage under group health plans of PFS in accordance with Code Section 4980B(f), consistent with the provisions below. In the event of any termination of any FSBI health plan, or consolidation of any FSBI health plan with any PFS health plan, any coverage limitation under the PFS health plan due to any pre-existing condition shall be waived by the PFS health plan to the degree that such condition was covered by the FSBI health plan and such condition would otherwise have been covered by the PFS health plan in the absence of such coverage limitation. All FSBI Employees who cease participating in an FSBI health plan and become participants in a comparable PFS health plan shall receive credit for any co-payment and deductibles paid under FSBI s health plan for purposes of satisfying any applicable deductible or out-of-pocket requirements under the PFS health plan, upon substantiation, in a form satisfactory to PFS that such co-payment and/or deductible has been satisfied. PFS shall assume the retiree health plan of FSBI and First Savings and shall have the same rights and obligations thereunder.

7.8.9 Effective as of the Closing Date, PFS shall establish an Advisory Board (the Advisory Board). Each person who serves on the Board of Directors of FSBI or First Savings Bank (except for the directors who join the PFS Board of Directors pursuant to Section 2.5 of this Agreement) both on the date of this Agreement and immediately prior to the Effective Time, shall be appointed to the Advisory Board effective immediately following the Effective Time. The Advisory Board shall meet quarterly, and each advisory board member shall receive health insurance coverage and an annual advisory board fee, the aggregate cost of which shall not exceed $24,000 per year per advisory board member. The advisory board fee shall be paid quarterly for each meeting attended. The Advisory Board shall be continued for a period of three (3) years.

7.9. Directors and Officers Indemnification and Insurance.

7.9.1. PFS shall maintain, or shall cause The Provident Bank to maintain, in effect for six years following the Effective Time, the current directors and officers liability insurance policies maintained by FSBI (provided, that PFS may substitute therefor policies of at least the same coverage containing terms and conditions which are not materially less favorable) with respect to matters occurring prior to the Effective Time; provided, however, that in no event shall PFS be required to expend pursuant to this Section 7.9.1 more than 150% of the annual cost currently expended by FSBI with respect to such insurance (the Maximum Amount); provided, further, that if the amount of the annual premiums necessary to maintain or procure such insurance coverage exceeds the Maximum Amount, PFS shall maintain the most advantageous policies of directors and officers insurance obtainable for an annual premium equal to the Maximum Amount. In connection with the foregoing, FSBI agrees in order for PFS to fulfill its agreement to provide directors and officers liability insurance policies for six years to provide such insurer or substitute insurer with such representations as such insurer may request with respect to the reporting of any prior claims.

7.9.2. In addition to Section 7.9.1, for a period of six years after the Effective Time, PFS shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless each person who is now, or who has been at any time before the date hereof or who becomes before the Effective Time, an officer or director of FSBI or an FSBI Subsidiary (the Indemnified Parties) against all losses, claims, damages, costs, expenses (including attorneys' fees), liabilities or judgments or amounts that are paid in settlement (which settlement shall require the prior written consent of PFS, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed) of or in connection with any claim, action, suit, proceeding or investigation, whether civil, criminal, or administrative (each a Claim), in which an Indemnified Party is, or is threatened to be made, a party or witness in whole or in part on or arising in whole or in part out of the fact that such person is or was a director, officer or employee of FSBI or a FSBI Subsidiary if such Claim pertains to any matter of fact arising, existing or occurring before the Effective Time (including, without limitation, the Merger and the other transactions contemplated hereby), regardless of whether such Claim is asserted or claimed before, or after, the Effective Time (the Indemnified Liabilities), to the fullest extent permitted under Delaware (to the extent not prohibited by federal law), PFS's Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws, and under FSBI's Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws. PFS shall pay expenses in advance of the final disposition of any such action or proceeding to each Indemnified Party to the fullest extent permitted by Delaware (to the extent not prohibited by federal law) upon receipt of an undertaking to repay such advance payments if the Indemnified Party shall be adjudicated or determined to be not entitled to indemnification in the manner set forth below. Any Indemnified Party wishing to claim indemnification under this Section 7.9.2 upon learning of any Claim, shall notify PFS (but the failure so to notify PFS shall not relieve it from any liability which it may have under this Section 7.9.2, except to the extent such failure materially prejudices PFS) and shall deliver to PFS the undertaking referred to in the previous sentence. In the event of any such Claim (whether arising before or after the Effective Time) (1) PFS shall have the right to assume the defense thereof (in which event the Indemnified Parties will cooperate in the defense of any such matter) and upon such assumption PFS shall not be liable to any Indemnified Party for any legal expenses of other counsel or any other expenses subsequently incurred by any Indemnified Party in connection with the defense thereof, except that if PFS elects not to assume such defense, or counsel for the Indemnified Parties reasonably advises the Indemnified Parties that there are or may be (whether or not any have yet actually arisen) issues which raise conflicts of interest between PFS and the Indemnified Parties, the Indemnified Parties may retain counsel reasonably satisfactory to them, and PFS shall pay the reasonable fees and expenses of such counsel for the Indemnified Parties, (2) except to the extent otherwise required due to conflicts of interest, PFS shall be obligated pursuant to this paragraph to pay for only one firm of counsel for all Indemnified Parties whose reasonable fees and expenses shall be paid promptly as statements are received unless there is a conflict of interest that necessitates more than one law firm, (3) PFS shall not be liable for any settlement effected without its prior written consent (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed), and (4) no Indemnified Party shall be entitled to indemnification hereunder with respect to a matter as to which (x) he shall have been adjudicated in any proceeding not to have acted in good faith and in a manner he reasonably believed to be in, or not opposed to, the best interests of FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary, or (y) in the event that a proceeding is compromised or settled so as to impose any liability or obligation upon an Indemnified Party, if there is a determination that with respect to said matter said Indemnified Party did not act in good faith and in a manner he reasonably believed to be in, or not opposed to, the best interests of FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary. Such determination shall be made in accordance with the DGCL.

7.9.3. In the event that either PFS or any of its successors or assigns (i) consolidates with or merges into any other person and shall not be the continuing or surviving bank or entity of such consolidation or merger or (ii) transfers all or substantially all of its properties and assets to any person, then, and in each such case, proper provision shall be made so that the successors and assigns of PFS shall assume the obligations set forth in this Section 7.9.

7.9.4. The obligations of PFS provided under this Section 7.9 are intended to be enforceable against PFS directly by the Indemnified Parties and shall be binding on all respective successors and permitted assigns of PFS. PFS shall pay all reasonable costs, including attorneys' fees, that may be incurred by any Indemnified Party in successfully enforcing the indemnity and other obligations provided for in this Section 7.9 to the fullest extent permitted under applicable law. The rights of each Indemnified Party hereunder shall be in addition to any other rights such Indemnified Party may have under applicable law.

7.10. Stock Listing.

PFS agrees to list on the NYSE (or such other national securities exchange on which the shares of the PFS Common Stock shall be listed as of the Closing Date), subject to official notice of issuance, the shares of PFS Common Stock to be issued in the Merger.

7.11. Stock and Cash Reserve.

PFS agrees at all times from the date of this Agreement until the Merger Consideration has been paid in full to reserve a sufficient number of shares of PFS Common Stock and to maintain sufficient liquid accounts or borrowing capacity to fulfill its obligations under this Agreement.

7.12. Section 16(b) Exemption.

PFS and FSBI agree that, in order to most effectively compensate and retain FSBI Insiders (as defined below) in connection with the Merger, both prior to and after the Effective Time, it is desirable that FSBI Insiders not be subject to a risk of liability under Section 16(b) of the Exchange Act to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law in connection with the conversion of shares of FSBI Common Stock into shares of PFS in the Merger, and for that compensatory and retentive purpose agree to the provisions of this Section 7.12. Assuming that FSBI delivers to PFS the FSBI Section 16 Information (as defined below) in a timely fashion prior to the Effective Time, the Board of Directors of PFS, or a committee of non-employee directors thereof (as such term is defined for purposes of Rule 16b-3(d) under the Exchange Act), shall reasonably promptly thereafter and in any event prior to the Effective Time adopt a resolution providing in substance that the receipt by the FSBI Insiders (as defined below) of PFS Common Stock in exchange for shares of FSBI Common Stock, pursuant to the transactions contemplated hereby and to the extent such securities are listed in the FSBI Section 16 Information, are intended to be exempt from liability pursuant to Section 16(b) under the Exchange Act to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law. FSBI Section 16 Information shall mean information accurate in all material respects regarding the FSBI Insiders, the number of shares of FSBI Common Stock held by each such FSBI Insider and expected to be exchanged for PFS Common Stock in the Merger. FSBI Insiders shall mean those officers and directors of FSBI who are subject to the reporting requirements of Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act and who are expected to be subject to Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act with respect to PFS Common Stock subsequent to the Effective Time.

REGULATORY AND OTHER MATTERS

8.1. Meetings of Stockholders.

8.1.1. FSBI will (i) as promptly as practicable after the Merger Registration Statement is declared effective by the SEC, take all steps necessary to duly call, give notice of, convene and hold a meeting of its stockholders, which may be an annual meeting, for the purpose of considering this Agreement and the Merger, and for such other purposes as may be, in FSBI's reasonable judgment, necessary or desirable (the FSBI Stockholders Meeting), (ii) in connection with the solicitation of proxies with respect to the FSBI Stockholders Meeting, have its Board of Directors recommend approval of this Agreement to the FSBI stockholders; and (iii) cooperate and consult with PFS with respect to each of the foregoing matters. The Board of Directors of FSBI may fail to make such a recommendation referred to in clause (ii) above, or withdraw, modify or change any such recommendation only if such Board of Directors, after having consulted with and considered the advice of its outside financial and legal advisors, has determined that the making of such recommendation, or the failure so to withdraw, modify or change its recommendation, would constitute a breach of the fiduciary duties of such directors under applicable law.

8.1.2. PFS will (i) as promptly as practicable after the Merger Registration Statement is declared effective by the SEC, take all steps necessary to duly call, give notice of, convene and hold a meeting of its stockholders, which may be an annual meeting, for the purpose of considering this Agreement and the Merger, and for such other purposes as may be, in PFS's reasonable judgment, necessary or desirable (the PFS Stockholders Meeting), (ii) in connection with the solicitation of proxies with respect to the PFS Stockholders Meeting, have its Board of Directors recommend approval of this Agreement to the PFS stockholders; and (iii) cooperate and consult with FSBI with respect to each of the foregoing matters. The Board of Directors of PFS may fail to make such a recommendation, or withdraw, modify or change any such recommendation only if such Board of Directors, after having consulted with and considered the advice of its outside financial and legal advisors, has determined that the making of such recommendation, or the failure so to withdraw, modify or change its recommendation, would constitute a breach of the fiduciary duties of such directors under applicable law.

8.2. Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus; Merger Registration Statement.

8.2.1. For the purposes (x) of registering PFS Common Stock to be offered to holders of FSBI Common Stock in connection with the Merger with the SEC under the Securities Act and (y) of holding the FSBI and PFS Stockholders Meetings, PFS shall draft and prepare, and FSBI shall cooperate in the preparation of, the Merger Registration Statement, including a combined proxy statement and prospectus satisfying all applicable requirements of applicable state securities and banking laws, and of the Securities Act and the Exchange Act, and the rules and regulations thereunder (such proxy statement/prospectus in the form mailed by FSBI to the FSBI stockholders, together with any and all amendments or supplements thereto, being herein referred to as the Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus). PFS shall provide FSBI and its counsel with appropriate opportunity to review and comment on the Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus prior to the time it is initially filed with the SEC or any amendments are filed with the SEC. PFS shall file the Merger Registration Statement, including the Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus, with the SEC. Each of PFS and FSBI shall use their best efforts to have the Merger Registration Statement declared effective under the Securities Act as promptly as practicable after such filing, and each of FSBI and PFS shall thereafter promptly mail the Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus to its stockholders. PFS shall also use its best efforts to obtain all necessary state securities law or Blue Sky permits and approvals required to carry out the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, and FSBI shall furnish all information concerning FSBI and the holders of FSBI Common Stock as may be reasonably requested in connection with any such action.

8.2.2. PFS shall, no later than March 22, 2004, or as soon thereafter as is practicable, file the Merger Registration Statement with the SEC under the Securities Act in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. Each party acknowledges that time is of the essence in connection with the preparation and filing of the Merger Registration Statement. PFS will advise FSBI promptly after PFS receives notice of the time when the Merger Registration Statement has become effective or any supplement or amendment has been filed, of the issuance of any stop order or the suspension of the qualifications of the shares of PFS Common Stock issuable pursuant to the Merger Registration Statement, or the initiation or threat of any proceeding for any such purpose, or of any request by the SEC for the amendment or supplement of the Merger Registration Statement, or for additional information, and PFS will provide FSBI with as many copies of such Merger Registration Statement and all amendments thereto promptly upon the filing thereof as FSBI may reasonably request.

Table of Contents

8.2.3. FSBI and PFS shall promptly notify the other party if at any time it becomes aware that the Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus or the Merger Registration Statement contains any untrue statement of a material fact or omits to state a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements contained therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. In such event, FSBI shall cooperate with PFS in the preparation of a supplement or amendment to such Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus that corrects such misstatement or omission, and PFS shall file an amended Merger Registration Statement with the SEC, and each of FSBI and PFS shall mail an amended Joint Proxy Statement-Prospectus to FSBI's stockholders.

8.3. Regulatory Approvals.

Each of FSBI and PFS will cooperate with the other and use all reasonable efforts to promptly prepare and, within 60 days after the date hereof or as soon thereafter as practicable, file all necessary documentation to obtain all necessary permits, consents, waivers, approvals and authorizations of the OTS, the FRB, FDIC and the Department and any other third parties (including the SBA) and governmental bodies necessary to consummate the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. FSBI and PFS will furnish each other and each other's counsel with all information concerning themselves, their Subsidiaries, directors, officers and stockholders and such other matters as may be necessary or advisable in connection with any application, petition or other statement made by or on behalf of FSBI or PFS to any Bank Regulator or governmental body in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement. Each party acknowledges that time is of the essence in connection with the preparation and filing of the documentation referred to above. FSBI shall have the right to review and approve in advance all characterizations of the information relating to FSBI and any of its Subsidiaries which appear in any filing made in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement with any governmental body. In addition, FSBI and PFS shall each furnish to the other for review a copy of each such filing made in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement with any governmental body prior to its filing.

8.4. Affiliates.

8.4.1. FSBI shall use all reasonable efforts to cause each director, executive officer and other person who is an affiliate (for purposes of Rule 145 under the Securities Act) of FSBI to deliver to PFS, as soon as practicable after the date of this Agreement, and at least thirty (30) days prior to the date of the FSBI Stockholders Meeting, a written agreement, in the form of Exhibit C hereto, providing that such person will not sell, pledge, transfer or otherwise dispose of any shares of PFS Common Stock to be received by such affiliate as a result of the Merger otherwise than in compliance with the applicable provisions of the Securities Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

TERMINATION, AMENDMENT AND WAIVER

11.1. Termination.

This Agreement may be terminated at any time prior to the Closing Date, whether before or after approval of the Merger by the stockholders of FSBI:

11.1.1. At any time by the mutual written agreement of PFS and FSBI;

11.1.2. By either party (provided, that the terminating party is not then in material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained herein) if there shall have been a material breach of any of the representations or warranties set forth in this Agreement on the part of the other party, which breach by its nature cannot be cured prior to the Termination Date or shall not have been cured within 30 days after written notice of such breach by the terminating party to the other party;

11.1.3. By either party (provided, that the terminating party is not then in material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained herein) if there shall have been a material failure to perform or comply with any of the covenants or agreements set forth in this Agreement on the part of the other party, which failure by its nature cannot be cured prior to the Termination Date or shall not have been cured within 30 days after written notice of such failure by the terminating party to the other party;

11.1.4. At the election of either party, if the Closing shall not have occurred by the Termination Date, or such later date as shall have been agreed to in writing by PFS and FSBI; provided, that no party may terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 11.1.4 if the failure of the Closing to have occurred on or before said date was due to such party's material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained in this Agreement;

11.1.5. By either party, if the stockholders of FSBI or PFS shall have voted at the FSBI or PFS Stockholders Meeting on the transactions contemplated by this Agreement and such vote shall not have been sufficient to approve such transactions;

11.1.6. By either party if (i) final action has been taken by a Bank Regulator whose approval is required in connection with this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, which final action (x) has become unappealable and (y) does not approve this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby, (ii) any Bank Regulator whose approval or nonobjection is required in connection with this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby has stated in writing that it will not issue the required approval or nonobjection, or (iii) any court of competent jurisdiction or other governmental authority shall have issued an order, decree, ruling or taken any other action restraining, enjoining or otherwise prohibiting the Merger and such order, decree, ruling or other action shall have become final and unappealable;

11.1.7. By the Board of Directors of either party (provided, that the terminating party is not then in material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained herein) in the event that any of the conditions precedent to the obligations of such party to consummate the Merger cannot be satisfied or fulfilled by the date specified in Section 11.1.4 of this Agreement.

11.1.8. By the Board of Directors of PFS if FSBI has received a Superior Proposal and the Board of Directors of FSBI has entered into an acquisition agreement with respect to the Superior Proposal, terminated this Agreement, withdrawn its recommendation of this Agreement, has failed to make such recommendation or has modified or qualified its recommendation in a manner adverse to PFS.

11.1.9. By the Board of Directors of FSBI if FSBI has received a Superior Proposal and the Board of Directors of FSBI has made a determination to accept such Superior Proposal; provided that FSBI shall not terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 11.1.9 and enter in a definitive agreement with respect to the Superior Proposal until the expiration of five (5) business days following PFS's receipt of written notice advising PFS that FSBI has received a Superior Proposal, specifying the material terms and conditions of such Superior Proposal (and including a copy thereof with all accompanying documentation, if in writing) identifying the person making the Superior Proposal and stating whether FSBI intends to enter into a definitive agreement with respect to the Superior Proposal. After providing such notice, FSBI shall provide a reasonable opportunity to PFS during the five-day period to make such adjustments in the terms and conditions of this Agreement as would enable FSBI to proceed with the Merger on such adjusted terms.

11.1.10. By FSBI, if its Board of Directors so determines by a majority vote of the members of its entire Board, at any time during the five business-day period commencing on the Determination Date if both of the following conditions are satisfied:

- (i) The PFS Market Value on the Determination Date is less than $16.30, adjusted as indicated on the last sentence of this Section 11.1.10; and
- (ii) the number obtained by dividing the PFS Market Value on the Determination Date by the Initial PFS Market Value (PFS Ratio) shall be less than the quotient obtained by dividing the Final Index Price by the Initial Index Price, minus 0.175; subject, however, to the following three sentences. If FSBI elects to exercise its termination right pursuant to this Section 11.1.10, it shall give prompt written notice thereof to PFS. During the fifth business day period commencing with its receipt of such notice, PFS shall have the option to increase the consideration to be received by the holders of FSBI Common Stock who elect to receive PFS Common Stock hereunder by adjusting the Exchange Ratio to one of the following quotients at its sole discretion: (i) a quotient, the numerator of which is equal to the product of the Initial PFS Market Value, the Exchange Ratio (as then in effect), and the Index Ratio minus 0.175, and the denominator of which is equal to PFS Market Value on the Determination Date; or (ii) the quotient determined by dividing the Initial PFS Market Value by the PFS Market Value on the Determination Date, and multiplying the quotient by the product of the Exchange Ratio (as then in effect) and 0.80. If PFS so elects, it shall give, within such five business-day period, written notice to FSBI of such election and the revised Exchange Ratio, whereupon no termination shall be deemed to have occurred pursuant to this Section 11.1.10 and this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect in accordance with its terms (except as the Exchange Ratio shall have been so modified).

For purposes of this Section 11.1.10, the following terms shall have the meanings indicated below:

Acquisition Transaction shall mean (i) a merger or consolidation, or any similar transaction, involving the relevant companies, (ii) a purchase, lease or other acquisition of all or substantially all of the assets of the relevant companies, (iii) a purchase or other acquisition (including by way of merger, consolidation, share exchange or otherwise) of securities representing 10% or more of the voting power of the relevant companies; or (iv) an agreement or commitment by the relevant companies to take any action referenced above.

Determination Date shall mean the first date on which all Regulatory Approvals (and waivers, if applicable) necessary for consummation of the Merger have been received (disregarding any waiting period).

11.2. Effect of Termination.

11.2.1. In the event of termination of this Agreement pursuant to any provision of Section 11.1, this Agreement shall forthwith become void and have no further force, except that (i) the provisions of Sections 11.2, 12.1, 12.2, 12.6, 12.9, 12.10, and any other Section which, by its terms, relates to post-termination rights or obligations, shall survive such termination of this Agreement and remain in full force and effect.

11.2.2. If this Agreement is terminated, expenses and damages of the parties hereto shall be determined as follows:

(A) Except as provided below, whether or not the Merger is consummated, all costs and expenses incurred in connection with this Agreement and the transactions contemplated by this Agreement shall be paid by the party incurring such expenses.

(B) In the event of a termination of this Agreement because of a willful breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement contained in this Agreement, the breaching party shall remain liable for any and all damages, costs and expenses, including all reasonable attorneys' fees, sustained or incurred by the non-breaching party as a result thereof or in connection therewith or with respect to the enforcement of its rights hereunder.

(C) As a condition of PFS's willingness, and in order to induce PFS to enter into this Agreement, and to reimburse PFS for incurring the costs and expenses related to entering into this Agreement and consummating the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, FSBI hereby agrees to pay PFS, and PFS shall be entitled to payment of, a fee of $24,000,000 (the "Fee"), within three business days after written demand for payment is made by PFS, following the occurrence of any of the events set forth below:

(i) FSBI terminates this Agreement pursuant to Section 11.1.9 or PFS terminates this Agreement pursuant to Section 11.1.8; or

(ii) The entering into a definitive agreement by FSBI relating to an Acquisition Proposal or the consummation of an Acquisition Proposal involving FSBI within twelve months after the occurrence of any of the following: (i) the termination of the Agreement by PFS pursuant to Section 11.1.2 or 11.1.3 because of a willful breach by FSBI or any FSBI Subsidiary; or (ii) the failure of the stockholders of FSBI to approve this Agreement after the occurrence of an Acquisition Proposal.

(D) If demand for payment of the Fee is made pursuant to Section 11.2.2(C) and payment is timely made, then PFS will not have any other rights or claims against FSBI or its Subsidiaries, or their respective officers and directors, under this Agreement, it being agreed that the acceptance of the Fee under Section 11.2.2(C) will constitute the sole and exclusive remedy of PFS against FSBI and its Subsidiaries and their respective officers and directors.

11.3. Amendment, Extension and Waiver.

Subject to applicable law, at any time prior to the Effective Time (whether before or after approval thereof by the stockholders of FSBI), the parties hereto by action of their respective Boards of Directors, may (a) amend this Agreement, (b) extend the time for the performance of any of the obligations or other acts of any other party hereto, (c) waive any inaccuracies in the representations and warranties contained herein or in any document delivered pursuant hereto, or (d) waive compliance with any of the agreements or conditions contained herein; provided, however, that after any approval of this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby by the stockholders of FSBI, there may not be, without further approval of such stockholders, any amendment of this Agreement which reduces the amount or value, or changes the form of, the Merger Consideration to be delivered to FSBI's stockholders pursuant to this Agreement. This Agreement may not be amended except by an instrument in writing signed on behalf of each of the parties hereto. Any agreement on the part of a party hereto to any extension or waiver shall be valid only if set forth in an instrument in writing signed on behalf of such party, but such waiver or failure to insist on strict compliance with such obligation, covenant, agreement or condition shall not operate as a waiver of, or estoppel with respect to, any subsequent or other failure. Any termination of this Agreement pursuant to Article XI may only be effected upon a vote of a majority of the entire Board of Directors of the terminating party.

Board of Directors

Provident Financial Services, Inc.

830 Bergen Avenue

Jersey City, NJ 07306

Members of the Board:

We understand that Provident Financial Services, Inc. (PFS or the Company) intends to enter into an Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of December 19, 2003 (the Agreement), by and between the Company and First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc. (FSBI), pursuant to which FSBI will merge with and into the Company (the Merger or the Proposed Transaction). We further understand that upon the effectiveness of the Merger, each outstanding share of common stock of FSBI (the FSBI Common Stock) will be converted into the right to receive, at the election of the holder thereof, either (i) $22.25 in cash (the Cash Consideration); (ii) 1.092 shares (the Exchange Ratio) of common stock of the Company (PFS Common Stock) (the Stock Consideration); or (iii) a combination of Cash Consideration and Stock Consideration, in each case subject to certain election and pro-rata procedures and adjustments with respect to the final allocation of Stock Consideration and Cash Consideration to be received by the holders of FSBI Common Stock. We further understand that the aggregate Consideration (as defined below) will be adjusted so that approximately 60% of the FSBI Common Stock will be exchanged for Stock Consideration, and approximately 40% of FSBI Common Stock will be exchanged for Cash Consideration, subject to further adjustment to ensure that at least 42.5% of the value of the aggregate Consideration paid will consist of PFS Common Stock. We further understand that, under certain circumstances based upon the future trading prices of PFS Common Stock and the trading prices of a specified index of other stocks, FSBI may exercise a right to terminate the Agreement, which exercise is effective unless the Company elects to adjust the Exchange Ratio as described in the Agreement (the Top-Up). As used herein, Consideration means the aggregate amount of Stock Consideration and Cash Consideration to be paid by the Company in the Proposed Transaction pursuant to the Agreement. The terms and conditions of the Proposed Transaction are set forth in more detail in the Agreement.

We have been requested by the Board of Directors of the Company to render our opinion with respect to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the Company of the Consideration to be paid by the Company in the Proposed Transaction. We have not been requested to opine as to, and our opinion does not in any manner address, the Company's underlying business decision to proceed with or effect the Proposed Transaction, or any potential adjustment to the Exchange Ratio pursuant to the Top-Up.

In arriving at our opinion, we reviewed and analyzed: (1) the Agreement and the specific terms of the Proposed Transaction, (2) publicly available information concerning the Company that we believe to be relevant to our analysis, including the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002 and Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended March 31, 2003, June 30, 2003

and September 30, 2003, (3) publicly available information concerning FSBI that we believe to be relevant to our analysis, including FSBI's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2002 and Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended March 31, 2003, June 30, 2003 and September 30, 2003, (4) financial and operating information with respect to the business, operations and prospects of FSBI furnished to us by FSBI, including financial projections of FSBI prepared by management of FSBI (the "FSBI Projections"), (5) independent research analysts' estimates of the future financial performance of FSBI published by I/B/E/S ("FSBI Research Estimates"), (6) financial and operating information with respect to the business, operations and prospects of the Company furnished to us by the Company, (7) independent research analysts' estimates of the future financial performance of the Company published by I/B/E/S (Company Research Estimates), (8) a trading history of FSBI Common Stock from December 18, 1998 to the present and a comparison of that trading history with those of other companies that we deemed relevant, (9) a trading history of the PFS Common Stock from January 16, 2003 to the present and a comparison of that trading history with those of other companies that we deemed relevant, (10) a comparison of the historical financial results and present financial condition of the Company with those of other companies that we deemed relevant, (11) a comparison of the historical financial results and present financial condition of FSBI with those of other companies that we deemed relevant, (12) the potential pro forma impact on the Company of the Proposed Transaction, including (x) the cost savings (the Expected Savings) which management of the Company expects to result from a combination of the businesses of PFS and FSBI and (y) the effect on the Company's pro forma earnings per share and (13) a comparison of the financial terms of the Proposed Transaction with the financial terms of certain other recent transactions that we deemed relevant. In addition, we have (i) had discussions with the managements of the Company and FSBI concerning their respective businesses, operations, assets, liabilities, financial conditions and prospects and the strategic benefits expected by the managements of the Company and FSBI to result from a combination of the businesses of the Company and FSBI and (ii) undertaken such other studies, analyses and investigations as we deemed appropriate.

In arriving at our opinion, we have assumed and relied upon the accuracy and completeness of the financial and other information used by us without assuming any responsibility for independent verification of such information and have further relied upon the assurances of management of the Company and FSBI that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make such information inaccurate or misleading. With respect to the FSBI Projections, upon advice of FSBI, we have assumed that such projections have been reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of FSBI's management as to the future performance of FSBI, and following discussions with the management of the Company, we have further assumed that FSBI will perform substantially in accordance with these projections. We have not been provided with, and did not have any access to, any financial projections of the Company prepared by management of the Company. Accordingly, upon advice of the Company, we have assumed that the Company Research Estimates are a reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the future financial performance of the Company and that the Company will perform substantially in accordance with such estimates. Upon advice of the Company, we also have assumed that the Expected Savings will be realized substantially in accordance with the Company's expectations. In arriving at our opinion, we have not conducted a physical inspection of the properties and facilities of the Company or FSBI and have not made or obtained any evaluations or appraisals of the assets or liabilities of the Company or FSBI. In addition, we are not experts in the evaluation of loan portfolios or allowances for loan losses and, upon advice of the Company, we have assumed that FSBI's current allowances for loan losses will be in the aggregate adequate to cover all such losses. Our opinion necessarily is based upon market, economic and other conditions as they exist on, and can be evaluated as of, the date of this letter.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, we are of the opinion as of the date hereof that, from a financial point of view, the Consideration to be paid by the Company in the Proposed Transaction is fair to the Company.

We have acted as financial advisor to the Company in connection with the Proposed Transaction and will receive a fee for our services, a portion of which is contingent upon the consummation of the Proposed Transaction. In addition, the Company has agreed to indemnify us for certain liabilities that may arise out of the rendering of this opinion. We also have performed various investment banking services for FSBI in the past and have received customary fees for such services. In the ordinary course of our business, we actively trade in the debt and equity securities of the Company and FSBI for our own account and for the accounts of our customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

Table of Contents

This opinion is for the use and benefit of the Board of Directors of the Company and is rendered to the Board of Directors in connection with its consideration of the Proposed Transaction. This opinion is not intended to be and does not constitute a recommendation to any stockholder of the Company as to how such stockholder should vote with respect to the Proposed Transaction.

Very truly yours,

First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc.

1000 Woodbridge Center Drive

Woodbridge, New Jersey 07905

Ladies and Gentlemen:

First Sentinel Bancorp, Inc. ("First Sentinel") and Provident Financial Services, Inc. ("Provident") have entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of December 19, 2003 (the "Agreement"), pursuant to which First Sentinel will be merged with and into Provident (the "Merger"). Under the terms of the Agreement, upon consummation of the Merger, each share of First Sentinel common stock, par value $.01 per share, issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Merger (the "First Sentinel Shares"), other than certain shares specified in the Agreement, will be converted into the right to receive, at the election of the holder thereof, either (a) 1.092 shares of common stock, par value $.01 per share, of Provident or (b) $22.25 in cash without interest, subject to the election and proration procedures set forth in the Agreement which provide generally, among other things, that 60% of the total number of First Sentinel Shares shall be converted into Provident common stock and 40% shall be converted into cash (the "Merger Consideration"). The terms and conditions of the Merger are more fully set forth in the Agreement. You have requested our opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Merger Consideration to the holders of First Sentinel Shares.

Sandler O'Neill & Partners, L.P., as part of its investment banking business, is regularly engaged in the valuation of financial institutions and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions and other corporate transactions. In connection with this opinion, we have reviewed, among other things: (i) the Agreement; (ii) certain publicly available financial statements and other historical financial information of First Sentinel that we deemed relevant; (iii) certain publicly available financial statements and other historical financial information of Provident that we deemed relevant; (iv) internal financial projections for First Sentinel for the year ending December 31, 2004 prepared by management of First Sentinel; (v) internal financial projections for Provident for the year ending December 31, 2004 prepared by management of Provident and earnings per share estimates for Provident for the year ending December 31, 2004 published by I/B/E/S; (vi) the pro forma financial impact of the Merger on Provident, based on assumptions relating to transaction expenses and cost savings determined by senior management of Provident; (vii) the publicly reported historical price and trading activity for First Sentinel's and Provident's common stock, including a comparison of certain financial and stock market information for First Sentinel and Provident with similar publicly available information for certain other companies the securities of which are publicly traded; (viii) the financial terms of certain recent business combinations in the savings institutions industry, to the extent publicly available; (ix) the current market environment generally and the banking environment in particular; and (x) such other information, financial studies, analyses and investigations and financial, economic and market criteria as we considered relevant. We also discussed with certain members of senior management of First Sentinel the business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects of First Sentinel and held similar discussions with certain members of senior management of Provident regarding the business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects of Provident. In connection with our engagement, we were not asked to, and did not, solicit indications of interest in a potential transaction from other third parties.

In performing our review, we have relied upon the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial and other information that was available to us from public sources, that was provided to us by First Sentinel or Provident or their respective representatives or that was otherwise reviewed by us and have assumed such accuracy and completeness for purposes of rendering this opinion. We have further relied on the assurances of management of First Sentinel and Provident that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make any of such information inaccurate or misleading. We have not been asked to and have not undertaken an independent verification of any of such information and we do not assume any responsibility or liability for the accuracy or completeness thereof. We did not make an independent evaluation or appraisal of the specific assets, the collateral securing assets or the liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of First Sentinel or Provident or any of their subsidiaries, or the collectibility of any such assets, nor have we been furnished with any such evaluations or appraisals. We did not make an independent evaluation of the adequacy of the allowance for loan losses of First Sentinel or Provident nor have we reviewed any individual credit files relating to First Sentinel or Provident. We have assumed, with your consent, that the respective allowances for loan losses for both First Sentinel and Provident are adequate to cover such losses and will be adequate on a pro forma basis for the combined entity. With respect to the financial projections for First Sentinel and Provident and all projections of transaction costs and expected cost savings used by Sandler O'Neill in its analyses, the managements of First Sentinel and Provident confirmed to us that they reflected the best currently available estimates and judgments of the respective managements of the respective future financial performances of First Sentinel and Provident and we assumed that such performances would be achieved. We express no opinion as to such financial projections or the assumptions on which they are based. We have also assumed that there has been no material change in First Sentinel's or Provident's assets, financial condition, results of operations, business or prospects since the date of the most recent financial statements made available to us. We have assumed in all respects material to our analysis that First Sentinel and Provident will remain as going concerns for all periods relevant to our analyses, that all of the representations and warranties contained in the Agreement and all related agreements are true and correct, that each party to such agreements will perform all of the covenants required to be performed by such party under such agreements, that the conditions precedent in the Agreement are not waived and that the Merger will qualify as a tax-free reorganization for federal income tax purposes. Finally, with your consent, we have relied upon the advice First Sentinel has received from its legal, accounting and tax advisors as to all legal, accounting and tax matters relating to the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by the Agreement.

Our opinion is necessarily based on financial, economic, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof. Events occurring after the date hereof could materially affect this opinion. We have not undertaken to update, revise, reaffirm or withdraw this opinion or otherwise comment upon events occurring after the date hereof. We are expressing no opinion herein as to what the value of Provident's common stock will be when issued to First Sentinel's shareholders pursuant to the Agreement or the prices at which First Sentinel's or Provident's common stock may trade at any time.

We have acted as First Sentinel's financial advisor in connection with the Merger and will receive a fee for our services, a substantial portion of which is contingent upon consummation of the Merger, and First Sentinel has agreed to indemnify us against certain liabilities arising out of our engagement. In addition, as we have previously advised you, we have in the past provided certain investment banking services to Provident, including managing Provident's conversion to stock form and related public offering completed in January 2003, and have received compensation for such services and we may provide, and receive compensation for, such services in the future, including during the period prior to the closing of the Merger.

In the ordinary course of our business as a broker-dealer, we may purchase securities from and sell securities to First Sentinel and Provident and their affiliates. We may also actively trade the debt and/or equity securities of First Sentinel and Provident and their affiliates for our own account and for the accounts of our customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

Our opinion is directed to the Board of Directors of First Sentinel in connection with its consideration of the Merger and does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder of First Sentinel as to how such shareholder should vote at any meeting of shareholders called to consider and vote upon the Merger or the form of consideration such shareholder should elect in the Merger. Our opinion is directed only to the fairness of the Merger Consideration to First Sentinel shareholders from a financial point of view and does not address the underlying business decision of First Sentinel to engage in the Merger, the relative merits of the Merger as compared to any other alternative business strategies that might exist for First Sentinel or the effect of any other transaction in which First Sentinel might engage. Our opinion is not to be quoted or referred to, in whole or in part, in a registration statement, prospectus, proxy statement or in any other document, nor shall this opinion be used for any other purposes, without Sandler O'Neill's prior written consent; provided, however, that we hereby consent to the inclusion of this opinion as an appendix to the joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus of First Sentinel and Provident dated the date hereof and to the references to this opinion therein.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion, as of the date hereof, that the Merger Consideration to be received by the holders of First Sentinel Shares is fair to such shareholders from a financial point of view.

Very truly yours,

Delaware General Corporation Law

Section 262

§ 262. Appraisal rights. (a) Any stockholder of a corporation of this State who holds shares of stock on the date of the making of a demand pursuant to subsection (d) of this section with respect to such shares, who continuously holds such shares through the effective date of the merger or consolidation, who has otherwise complied with subsection (d) of this section and who has neither voted in favor of the merger or consolidation nor consented thereto in writing pursuant to § 228 of this title shall be entitled to an appraisal by the Court of Chancery of the fair value of the stockholder's shares of stock under the circumstances described in subsections (b) and (c) of this section. As used in this section, the word "stockholder" means a holder of record of stock in a stock corporation and also a member of record of a nonstock corporation; the words "stock" and "share" mean and include what is ordinarily meant by those words and also membership or membership interest of a member of a nonstock corporation; and the words "depository receipt" mean a receipt or other instrument issued by a depository representing an interest in one or more shares, or fractions thereof, solely of stock of a corporation, which stock is deposited with the depository.

(b) Appraisal rights shall be available for the shares of any class or series of stock of a constituent corporation in a merger or consolidation to be effected pursuant to § 251 (other than a merger effected pursuant to § 251(g) of this title), § 252, § 254, § 257, § 258, § 263 or § 264 of this title:

(1) Provided, however, that no appraisal rights under this section shall be available for the shares of any class or series of stock, which stock, or depository receipts in respect thereof, at the record date fixed to determine the stockholders entitled to receive notice of and to vote at the meeting of stockholders to act upon the agreement of merger or consolidation, were either (i) listed on a national securities exchange or designated as a national market system security on an interdealer quotation system by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. or (ii) held of record by more than 2,000 holders; and further provided that no appraisal rights shall be available for any shares of stock of the constituent corporation surviving a merger if the merger did not require for its approval the vote of the stockholders of the surviving corporation as provided in subsection (f) of § 251 of this title.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1) of this subsection, appraisal rights under this section shall be available for the shares of any class or series of stock of a constituent corporation if the holders thereof are required by the terms of an agreement of merger or consolidation pursuant to §§ 251, 252, 254, 257, 258, 263 and 264 of this title to accept for such stock anything except:

a. Shares of stock of the corporation surviving or resulting from such merger or consolidation, or depository receipts in respect thereof;

b. Shares of stock of any other corporation, or depository receipts in respect thereof, which shares of stock (or depository receipts in respect thereof) or depository receipts at the effective date of the merger or consolidation will be either listed on a national securities exchange or designated as a national market system security on an interdealer quotation system by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. or held of record by more than 2,000 holders;

c. Cash in lieu of fractional shares or fractional depository receipts described in the foregoing subparagraphs a. and b. of this paragraph; or

d. Any combination of the shares of stock, depository receipts and cash in lieu of fractional shares or fractional depository receipts described in the foregoing subparagraphs a., b. and c. of this paragraph.

(3) In the event all of the stock of a subsidiary Delaware corporation party to a merger effected under § 253 of this title is not owned by the parent corporation immediately prior to the merger, appraisal rights shall be available for the shares of the subsidiary Delaware corporation.

(c) Any corporation may provide in its certificate of incorporation that appraisal rights under this section shall be available for the shares of any class or series of its stock as a result of an amendment to its certificate of incorporation, any merger or consolidation in which the corporation is a constituent corporation or the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the corporation. If the certificate of incorporation contains such a provision, the procedures of this section, including those set forth in subsections (d) and (e) of this section, shall apply as nearly as is practicable.

(d) Appraisal rights shall be perfected as follows:

(1) If a proposed merger or consolidation for which appraisal rights are provided under this section is to be submitted for approval at a meeting of stockholders, the corporation, not less than 20 days prior to the meeting, shall notify each of its stockholders who was such on the record date for such meeting with respect to shares for which appraisal rights are available pursuant to subsection (b) or (c) hereof that appraisal rights are available for any or all of the shares of the constituent corporations, and shall include in such notice a copy of this section. Each stockholder electing to demand the appraisal of such stockholder's shares shall deliver to the corporation, before the taking of the vote on the merger or consolidation, a written demand for appraisal of such stockholder's shares. Such demand will be sufficient if it reasonably informs the corporation of the identity of the stockholder and that the stockholder intends thereby to demand the appraisal of such stockholder's shares. A proxy or vote against the merger or consolidation shall not constitute such a demand. A stockholder electing to take such action must do so by a separate written demand as herein provided. Within 10 days after the effective date of such merger or consolidation, the surviving or resulting corporation shall notify each stockholder of each constituent corporation who has complied with this subsection and has not voted in favor of or consented to the merger or consolidation of the date that the merger or consolidation has become effective; or

(2) If the merger or consolidation was approved pursuant to § 228 or § 253 of this title, then, either a constituent corporation before the effective date of the merger or consolidation, or the surviving or resulting corporation within 10 days thereafter, shall notify each of the holders of any class or series of stock of such constituent corporation who are entitled to appraisal rights of the approval of the merger or consolidation and that appraisal rights are available for any or all shares of such class or series of stock of such constituent corporation, and shall include in such notice a copy of this section. Such notice may, and, if given on or after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, shall, also notify such stockholders of the effective date of the merger or consolidation. Any stockholder entitled to appraisal rights may, within 20 days after the date of mailing of such notice, demand in writing from the surviving or resulting corporation the appraisal of such holder's shares. Such demand will be sufficient if it reasonably informs the corporation of the identity of the stockholder and that the stockholder intends thereby to demand the appraisal of such holder's shares. If such notice did not notify stockholders of the effective date of the merger or consolidation, either (i) each such constituent corporation shall send a second notice before the effective date of the merger or consolidation notifying each of the holders of any class or series of stock of such constituent corporation that are entitled to appraisal rights of the effective date of the merger or consolidation or (ii) the surviving or resulting corporation shall send such a second notice to all such holders on or within 10 days after such effective date; provided, however, that if such second notice is sent more than 20 days following the sending of the first notice, such second notice need only be sent to each stockholder who is entitled to appraisal rights and who has demanded appraisal of such holder's shares in accordance with this subsection. An affidavit of the secretary or assistant secretary or of the transfer agent of the corporation that is required to give either notice that such notice has been given shall, in the absence of fraud, be prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein. For purposes of determining the stockholders entitled to receive either notice, each constituent corporation may fix, in advance, a record date that shall be not more than 10 days prior to the date the notice is given, provided, that if the notice is given on or after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, the record date shall be such effective date. If no record date is fixed and the notice is given prior to the effective date, the record date shall be the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which the notice is given.

(e) Within 120 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, the surviving or resulting corporation or any stockholder who has complied with subsections (a) and (d) hereof and who is otherwise entitled to appraisal rights, may file a petition in the Court of Chancery demanding a determination of the value of the stock of all such stockholders. Notwithstanding the foregoing, at any time within 60 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, any stockholder shall have the right to withdraw such stockholder's demand for appraisal and to accept the terms offered upon the merger or consolidation. Within 120 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, any stockholder who has complied with the requirements of subsections (a) and (d) hereof, upon written request, shall be entitled to receive from the corporation surviving the merger or resulting from the consolidation a statement setting forth the aggregate number of shares not voted in favor of the merger or consolidation and with respect to which demands for appraisal have been received and the aggregate number of holders of such shares. Such written statement shall be mailed to the stockholder within 10 days after such stockholder's written request for such a statement is received by the surviving or resulting corporation or within 10 days after expiration of the period for delivery of demands for appraisal under subsection (d) hereof, whichever is later.

(f) Upon the filing of any such petition by a stockholder, service of a copy thereof shall be made upon the surviving or resulting corporation, which shall within 20 days after such service file in the office of the Register in Chancery in which the petition was filed a duly verified list containing the names and addresses of all stockholders who have demanded payment for their shares and with whom agreements as to the value of their shares have not been reached by the surviving or resulting corporation. If the petition shall be filed by the surviving or resulting corporation, the petition shall be accompanied by such a duly verified list. The Register in Chancery, if so ordered by the Court, shall give notice of the time and place fixed for the hearing of such petition by registered or certified mail to the surviving or resulting corporation and to the stockholders shown on the list at the addresses therein stated. Such notice shall also be given by 1 or more publications at least 1 week before the day of the hearing, in a newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Wilmington, Delaware or such publication as the Court deems advisable. The forms of the notices by mail and by publication shall be approved by the Court, and the costs thereof shall be borne by the surviving or resulting corporation.

(g) At the hearing on such petition, the Court shall determine the stockholders who have complied with this section and who have become entitled to appraisal rights. The Court may require the stockholders who have demanded an appraisal for their shares and who hold stock represented by certificates to submit their certificates of stock to the Register in Chancery for notation thereon of the pendency of the appraisal proceedings; and if any stockholder fails to comply with such direction, the Court may dismiss the proceedings as to such stockholder.

(h) After determining the stockholders entitled to an appraisal, the Court shall appraise the shares, determining their fair value exclusive of any element of value arising from the accomplishment or expectation of the merger or consolidation, together with a fair rate of interest, if any, to be paid upon the amount determined to be the fair value. In determining such fair value, the Court shall take into account all relevant factors. In determining the fair rate of interest, the Court may consider all relevant factors, including the rate of interest which the surviving or resulting corporation would have had to pay to borrow money during the pendency of the proceeding. Upon application by the surviving or resulting corporation or by any stockholder entitled to participate in the appraisal proceeding, the Court may, in its discretion, permit discovery or other pretrial proceedings and may proceed to trial upon the appraisal prior to the final determination of the stockholder entitled to an appraisal. Any stockholder whose name appears on the list filed by the surviving or resulting corporation pursuant to subsection (f) of this section and who has submitted such stockholder's certificates of stock to the Register in Chancery, if such is required, may participate fully in all proceedings until it is finally determined that such stockholder is not entitled to appraisal rights under this section.

(i) The Court shall direct the payment of the fair value of the shares, together with interest, if any, by the surviving or resulting corporation to the stockholders entitled thereto. Interest may be simple or compound, as the Court may direct. Payment shall be so made to each such stockholder, in the case of holders of uncertificated stock forthwith, and the case of holders of shares represented by certificates upon the surrender to the corporation of the certificates representing such stock. The Court's decree may be enforced as other decrees in the Court of Chancery may be enforced, whether such surviving or resulting corporation be a corporation of this State or of any state.

(j) The costs of the proceeding may be determined by the Court and taxed upon the parties as the Court deems equitable in the circumstances. Upon application of a stockholder, the Court may order all or a portion of the expenses incurred by any stockholder in connection with the appraisal proceeding, including, without limitation, reasonable attorney's fees and the fees and expenses of experts, to be charged pro rata against the value of all the shares entitled to an appraisal.

(k) From and after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, no stockholder who has demanded appraisal rights as provided in subsection (d) of this section shall be entitled to vote such stock for any purpose or to receive payment of dividends or other distributions on the stock (except dividends or other distributions payable to stockholders of record at a date which is prior to the effective date of the merger or consolidation); provided, however, that if no petition for an appraisal shall be filed within the time provided in subsection (e) of this section, or if such stockholder shall deliver to the surviving or resulting corporation a written withdrawal of such stockholder's demand for an appraisal and an acceptance of the merger or consolidation, either within 60 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation as provided in subsection (e) of this section or thereafter with the written approval of the corporation, then the right of such stockholder to an appraisal shall cease. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no appraisal proceeding in the Court of Chancery shall be dismissed as to any stockholder without the approval of the Court, and such approval may be conditioned upon such terms as the Court deems just.

(l) The shares of the surviving or resulting corporation to which the shares of such objecting stockholders would have been converted had they assented to the merger or consolidation shall have the status of authorized and unissued shares of the surviving or resulting corporation.
