Dear Valued Partner,

I wanted to take the opportunity to personally inform you that earlier today, Epicor announced that it has entered into a definitive agreement to be acquired by funds advised by Apax Partners, one of the world's leading private equity firms with over $40 billion in funds under advice and a strong heritage of technology investment success. You can view the press release by clicking on the following link: Epicor Apax Announcement.

In conjunction with our transaction, Apax also announced that it has entered into an agreement to acquire Activant Solutions, Inc., a leading provider of business management software solutions for small- and medium-sized retail and wholesale distribution businesses. Activant, privately owned by funds affiliated with investment firm Hellman & Friedman LLC, had revenues of approximately $370 million in 2010.

Apax has expressed their intent to merge Activant into Epicor to create one of the largest global providers of enterprise applications focused on the manufacturing, distribution, services and retail sectors. On completion of the proposed merger, the combined company will be Epicor Software Corporation and would have over 30,000 customers, 4,000 employees, and $825 million in annual revenues.

Due to the stringent rules that apply to the acquisition of any public company and because the acquisition is subject to antitrust review and other regulatory approvals, we are very limited in terms of what we can say regarding specific strategies for the combined company. Through closing, both Epicor and Activant must continue to operate independently, doing business as usual.

That said, the combination of Epicor and Activant is very compelling. Activant has built a tremendous reputation through its industry-specific focus and vertical expertise in wholesale distribution and hard goods retailing. Like Epicor, Activant puts its customers first and has an excellent reputation for deep industry functionality and expertise, and high levels of service and support. There is little overlap of the markets we serve given Activant's focus on verticals such as the automotive aftermarket, hardware, plumbing, lumber and building materials.

Apax shares our vision for growth and for the strategic importance of technology in business today. They have a long-term investment view and understand that success will be based on growing the business and delivering superior customer value. The transaction not only offers a solid return to our current shareholders; it is a clear endorsement of our vision and strategy and going forward, can position Epicor's customers, partners, products and employees as the foundation of a new, great company.

Over the next several weeks, we will be continuing to take the required steps towards finalizing the acquisition. As we move through this process, it is our top priority and my personal commitment that we will continue to work closely with you to provide our customers with the high levels of service and support that they are accustomed to receiving from Epicor and our partner community. More than ever, we are committed to being your strategic business partner, and we look forward to the tremendous opportunities the acquisition can provide.

Sincerely,

George Klaus

Chairman, President and CEO
