Edgar Filing: CHINA PETROLEUM & CHEMICAL CORP - Form 6-K

Significant changes and explanations:

o Profit from Principal Operations

The percentage of profit from principal operations to the profit before taxation was 203.23%, representing a year on year increase of 18.28 percentage points. This was mainly due to the fact that the prices of crude oil rose continuously and the refining segment suffered a significant loss. As a result, the profit from principal operations fell by 4.52% over the quarterly average of the last year, while the profit before taxation witnessed a decrease of 13.11% over the quarterly average of the previous year. Therefore, the profit from principal operations dropped less than the profit before taxation.

o Periodical expenses

The percentage of the periodical expenses to the profit before taxation was 104.88%, representing an increase of 11.04 percentage points from 93.84% of the previous year. This was mainly due to the fact that the periodical expense of the first quarter dropped by 2.89% over the quarterly average value of the previous year, whereas the profit before taxation dropped by 13.11% over the quarterly average value of the previous year. So the decrease of the periodical expenses was less than that of the profit before taxation.

o Subsidy Income

The Company received a one-off government subsidy of RMB 9,415 million from central finance in 2005.
