Letter to Stockholders

REVIEW OF MACRO-ECONOMY AND FINANCIAL MARKET CONDITIONS

The strong reaction by the U.S. Federal Reserve and other Central Banks to both the September 11 events and to the further softening in the economy prevented a deflationary spiral in prices and sparked a swift rebound in stock markets during the last quarter of 2001. Historically, the very low interest rates around the world cause investors to reevaluate equities upward, factoring in "normalized earnings" such as those experienced during the last expanding economic cycle. This resulted in an increase in the price multiples investors were willing to pay for stocks and lower discount rates increasing the "present value" of future earnings.

Investors also started to shift their focus to corporate assets rather than earnings stream. They believed that companies with quality assets (which had become less expensive to carry due to lower interest rates) would generate strong acceleration in cash flow when the economy eventually rebounded. This shift also assumed that the upturn would occur relatively soon and that cost cutting would position firms to achieve a level of profitability in the next up cycle that would rival or exceed the profit levels achieved in the last up cycle. If these assumptions turn out to be too optimistic, markets will be vulnerable to earnings disappointments or could be hit by a rebound in short-term interest rates.

The Swiss market participated in the strong rebound experienced by most stock exchanges around the world during the last quarter, ending the year up nearly 25% from its September lows. The very sudden upswing was due to a strong recovery in the financial services sector (banks and insurance) of the Swiss Performance Index. This sector had suffered massively from the impact of the September 11th attack. However, the market quickly started to react to the positive impact of the liquidity put into the market by the different central banks and, in particular, its benefits for financial and economically sensitive stocks. In addition, there was a huge loss of capital linked to September 11th, which has provoked a massive reduction in capacity putting the insurance industry in a position to demand much higher premiums for new contracts. This new positive cycle for premiums is widely seen to be long lasting.

Currency changes had a slightly negative impact for U.S. dollar based investors. Despite a brief surge after the September 11th attack, the Swiss franc could not benefit from its status as a safe haven. The U.S. Federal Reserve Board's leadership in reinflating the economy convinced investors that growth in the U.S. economy would exceed growth in the European economies.

THE SWISS HELVETIA FUND PERFORMANCE:

Management had adopted a very cautious approach before September 11th and had concentrated on the lowest risk available (companies with volatility in line with or lower than the market rather than companies with high risk/return profile). Even though the interest rate environment is very supportive for equity prices, the economic situation suggests that there is still overcapacity in the economy. Many companies have yet to downsize their operations to put them more in line with the type of economic recovery we may have. Therefore, while capital markets are easier to tap due to the reduction in risk premium for corporate bonds over treasuries, it may be very difficult for players with weak balance sheets to generate the cash flow needed to maintain their current level of operations. More bankruptcies are expected in the maturing economies of the world. Rating agencies are expected to be quicker and more proactive in adjusting their "investment grades" in order to protect investors. This can be expected to eliminate opportunities for weak companies to get financing.

Management's cautious stance in redeploying cash has somewhat limited upside in the Fund's performance during the last quarter of 2001. However this was partially offset by good stock selection. All in all, the Fund performed in line with the Swiss Performance Index during the quarter and underperformed the index by less than 1% for the year. As far as the entire year is concerned, the Fund was penalized by its exposure to the mid and small capitalization sectors of the Swiss market and, particularly, the lack of trading volume in the stocks in these sectors. All through the year, Management reduced the breadth of its exposure to the sector, concentrating on companies with high earnings visibility and excellent balance sheets and companies that were most able to expand growth opportunities, consolidate their competitive position and quickly adapt their cost structure to current economic conditions. Management is confident that, at this stage in the market, performance will be driven by stock picking, as the diminishing dynamic of lower interest rates will cause investors to be much more selective. Concentration on stock selection and valuation should also reduce the risk of being penalized by wrong market timing.

SWISS ECONOMY

The Swiss economy has been producing mixed signals. While still unclear, these signals could mark the end of the recent decline, or perhaps the beginning of the end of this process.

On the negative side, the index of leading economic indicators published by the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology (ETH) fell to minus 1.28 in November, the lowest level since August 1996. The Institute said that the index signaled a growth slowdown until mid-2002. Moreover, unemployment rose to 2.4% in December, from 1.7% in September. Unemployment is expected to increase over the next few months, potentially reaching 3% by UBS estimates. This expectation is reinforced by indications that finished goods inventories rose again in November according to an ETH monthly business survey.

In contrast, the business confidence indicator rebounded slightly in October and November, as did exports. Moreover, the Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) showed new strength in December. At 43.8, the PMI index is higher than it has been in six months, though still below the critical 50-point threshold. More recent PMI sub-index data suggests businesses whittled down some of their inventory buildup in December. In addition, retail sales increased for six months straight through November.

Inflation remains contained, with expectations for 2002 hovering near 1.2%, allowing the Central Bank some flexibility in monetary policy. Fourth quarter inflation was even lower, largely due to a decrease in oil prices.

Export volume stabilized in the fourth quarter after a precipitous drop in the third quarter. Imports were down 13.3% year-over-year in November, shifting the trade balance substantially. It is unclear at this point how the fourth quarter import and export figures were impacted by the events of September 11th, and what the long term results will be.

The relative strength of the Swiss franc certainly was a major factor in fourth quarter trade patterns. The Swiss economy is dependent on exports and quite sensitive to potential currency movements and to potential regulatory impediments as foreign governments address security concerns regarding their trade practices.

While these mixed signals alone do not suggest an imminent recovery, they do represent a departure from the previously steady stream of negative news about the Swiss economy. Consensus expectations of real GDP growth remain at 1.1% for 2002.

STRATEGY

Overall, Management will continue to focus on quality stocks that have a certain degree of sensitivity to the economic cycle and a reasonable valuation. Particular attention will be paid to the market assumptions that are built into stock prices, as investors have, to a certain extent, already anticipated economic recovery. A large pool of liquidity is providing market support. However, because operating margins could remain at current depressed levels for quite a while, stock selection will concentrate mainly on companies that have good track records at managing down cycles and generating strong cash flows. In times of economic uncertainty cash flow tends to be critical mainly for dividends and interest payments. In addition, the presence of strong cash flow allows a guaranteed source of funding growth by internal resources. Strong cash positions on balance sheets also open opportunities for companies with histories of promoting shareholder value. On the one hand it gives management the possibility to gain market share or improve product offerings by buying competitors. On the other hand it can offer some support to the share price if management decides to buy back shares, reduce the nominal value of shares or increase dividend payments. In the current environment of low asset returns a high dividend, the fixed element of total return, is especially important and tends to be a driver for out performance.

NESTLE: The Federal Trade Commission approved Nestle's acquisition of Ralston Purina for $10.3 billion financed primarily out of equity. Nestle will retain its AAA rating. Combined with Nestle's $3.7 billion (sales) pet care business, Ralston's $2.7 billion will make the combined company a leader in the industry. Combined annual savings of $260 million are expected to be fully achieved by the end of 2003.

ROCHE: Roche has announced a tender offer for the Japanese firm Chugai. Once completed, the combined operations will lift Roche from the 32nd place in the Japanese market to the top five, with a total Japanese sales force of 1,400. The cash deal will be financed with 80% debt. Roche will acquire 50.1% of Chugai before merging the two firms, which should be completed by the end of 2002 assuming approval by Japanese authorities. Roche will be among the first European companies to break into this sector in Japan, which has a rapidly growing elderly population. Recently, however, the annual growth rate of the Japanese pharmaceutical industry has lagged most other nations, at a 3% pace.

SWISS RE: Before the events of September 11th, the reinsurance firm planned to raise $2.6 billion in capital through an equity offering. However, the transaction was not consummated before September 11th. After the event, Swiss Re increased the scope of the offering, raising $3.3 billion from the sale of equities and convertible bonds in a market more receptive to securities in the insurance industry. The capital was raised primarily to finance the acquisition of Lincoln National Corp. for $2 billion in cash to bolster Swiss Re's life reinsurance business. In fiscal 2000, Lincoln Re reported premiums of $1.4 billion and invested assets totaling $4.3 billion.

SWISS ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Management considers a further Swiss interest rate cut likely in the first quarter of 2002. Recent evidence indicates that the Swiss economy has followed the cyclical patterns of the now weakening euro-zone. Switzerland's nearly flat real GDP growth of 0.1% from the second to the third quarters was sustained only by private consumption, as foreign trade and investment contracted for two consecutive quarters. That, combined with expectations of low inflation, suggests the Swiss Central Bank will likely lower rates again to avoid, or at least moderate, a potential recession.

CURRENCY

Despite the aggressive U.S. Federal Reserve Board's ("Fed") decisions to reduce interest rates, the U.S. economy may rebound very gradually or endure some false starts. There is no pent-up demand and the savings rate of the U.S.

Edgar Filing: SWISS HELVETIA FUND INC - Form N-30D

consumer, while being slowly restored, is still very low. As a result, private spending will not help the economy a great deal. On the positive side, while the Fed may have finished lowering rates, at least for the present, fiscal policy in the U.S. will likely maintain the process of bringing the economy back to life. This, in turn, could put a cap on the U.S. dollar, a situation that will be greatly influenced at least in the short run by the pace of the recovery in Europe and the speed with which the Japanese economy stabilizes.

Japan's Ministry of Finance has adopted a weak yen policy as a remedy for economic growth, but this policy is facing harsh criticism from China and the other Asian countries. In Europe, a weak currency is a comfortable way of delaying structural reform that would improve competitiveness and drive growth through increased exports to the U.S. On the other hand the United States will have to attract more and more foreign capital to finance its current account deficit. It should be able to do this as long as Japanese and European assets produce relatively low returns and fail to adapt quickly to fluctuations in the economic cycles. However, unless U.S. domestic demand is reduced, at some point the need to recycle the U.S. dollars generated by the ballooning U.S. current account deficit will open the door for a much weaker U.S. currency.

ECONOMY

European economies will most likely lag the U.S. economy. This would be mainly due to constraints that limit the ability for fiscal policy to spur activity but also because the European Central Bank has a less accommodative policy stance than the U.S. Federal Reserve. The case for both European and Swiss equities rests largely on relative valuation with prices at an average multiple of around 17 times trailing earnings.

INTEREST RATES

Information technology and integrated global supply chain management have made international borders more porous for financial and economic forces that were previously geographically isolated. Capital is rapidly shifted to the most efficient or lowest cost nations. Manufacturers increasingly produce on a sufficient scale to serve the entire world market, and price competition simultaneously occurs globally. With increasingly intense price competition in both input and output markets, the net effect of globalization could reduce corporate pricing power and dampen corporate earnings. Decreased pricing power could help contain inflation, which could stabilize long-term interest rates and lower the risk premium for debt.

EQUITY MARKETS

Companies with growing earnings and product innovation in this environment could be rewarded with high valuations. While competition may grow fiercer and more responsive, the blurring of international boundaries creates growth opportunities that were previously unavailable. Industry leaders and upstart innovators can more readily capture a share of the entire global market and are not limited to domestic growth prospects. Moreover, with more tightly integrated global markets for both production and consumption, national economic cycles will be increasingly affected by international conditions. The result will likely be more synchronized economic cycles among the world's major economies. On the one hand, this makes geographical diversification a more difficult task for portfolio managers. On the other hand, this potentially creates more diversification opportunities inside a single geographic market, since investment managers increasingly tend to do their asset allocations by sectors as opposed to geographically. This last element is expected to be particularly visible once the euro currency is introduced. Management believes a fair number of Swiss companies have the requisite traits to succeed in such an environment, being truly global and innovative. Swiss companies are forced to expand internationally early in their history because they are limited by a small domestic market. In addition, the high cost of labor and the decentralization of production have stimulated a focus on research and development in order to create higher value added goods and services.

After an extremely difficult and volatile year in 2001, the prospects for 2002 are better now that the systemic risk of global deflation seems to have been avoided. Equity returns should revert to historical averages and restructuring, cost cutting and acquisitions should be drivers for performance. The downside risk is limited by continued low short term interest rates.

STOCK REPURCHASE PROGRAM

During the full year 2001, the Fund repurchased and retired 463,600 shares of its common stock at an average repurchase price of $13.39 at a weighted average discount of 17.81%. These repurchases have enhanced stockholders value by $1,327,945. During the same period, the discount rate was between 12.95% and 19.76% finishing the year at 16.29%.

FUND EXPENSES

We were disappointed to see the Fund's expense ratio rise to 1.39% during 2001. While this remains below the average of 1.56% for other U.S. closed-end funds investing in European securities, it is considerably higher than the prior four years when the Fund's ratio did not exceed 1.17%. The increase was primarily attributable to two factors. First, the ratio is calculated by dividing the Fund's expenses by its average net assets. While the Fund's assets declined due to the adverse markets in 2001, its fixed expenses did not. Secondly, the Fund experienced significant additional expenses this year as a result of a stockholder's unsuccessful proxy contest for the election of directors last May and the defense of an ongoing lawsuit against the Fund and its directors and termination of the management contract. We are hopeful that the Fund will not have additional expenses in the upcoming year and that its expenses will return to more normal levels in 2002.

Notes to Financial Statements

NOTE 1--ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

A. ORGANIZATION

The Swiss Helvetia Fund, Inc. (the 'Fund') is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the 'Act'), as amended, as a non-diversified, closed-end investment management company. The Fund is organized as a corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware.

The investment objective of the Fund is to seek long-term growth of capital through investment in equity and equity-linked securities of Swiss companies.

B. VALUATION OF SECURITIES

The Fund values its investments at market value.

When valuing listed equity securities, the Fund uses the last sale price prior to the calculation of the Fund's net asset value. When valuing equity securities that are not listed or that are listed but have not traded, the Fund uses the mean between the bid and asked prices for that day.

When valuing fixed income securities, the Fund uses the last bid price prior to the calculation of the Fund's net asset value. If a current bid price is not available, the Fund uses the mean between the latest quoted bid and asked prices. When valuing fixed income securities that mature within sixty days, the Fund uses amortized cost.

When valuing securities for which market quotations are not readily available or for which the market quotations that are available are considered unreliable, the Fund determines a fair value in good faith under procedures established by and under the general supervision of the Fund's Board of Directors. The Fund may use these procedures to establish the fair value of securities when, for example, a significant event occurs between the time the market closes and the time the Fund values its investments. After consideration of various factors, the Fund may value the securities at their last reported price or at some other value. On December 31, 2001, there were no fair valued securities.

C. SECURITIES TRANSACTIONS AND INVESTMENT INCOME

Securities transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized gains and losses are determined by comparing the proceeds of a sale or the cost of a purchase with a specific offsetting transaction.

Dividend income, net of any foreign taxes withheld, is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income, including amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts, is accrued daily. Estimated expenses are also accrued daily.

The Fund records Swiss withholding tax as an expense, net of any amount receivable from Swiss tax authorities in accordance with the tax treaty between the United States and Switzerland.

D. DISTRIBUTIONS

The Fund pays annual dividends from its net investment income and makes annual distributions of any net realized capital gains to the extent they exceed capital loss carryforwards, if any. The Fund records dividends and distributions on its books on the ex-dividend date.

E. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

The Fund's policy is to continue to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code that are applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute all its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no federal income tax provision is required.

F. SECURITIES LENDING

The Fund may lend securities to financial institutions. The Fund retains beneficial ownership of the securities it has loaned and continues to receive amounts equivalent to the dividends paid on these securities and to participate in any changes in their market value. The Fund requires the borrowers of the securities to maintain collateral with the Fund in the form of cash and/or government securities equal to 102% of the value of the securities loaned. The Fund receives fees as compensation for lending its securities. Either the Fund or the borrower may terminate the securities loan.

G. FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION

The Fund maintains its accounting records in U.S. dollars. The Fund determines the U.S. dollar value of foreign currency denominated assets, liabilities and transactions by using prevailing exchange rates. In valuing assets and liabilities, the Fund uses the prevailing exchange rate on the valuation date. In valuing securities transactions, the receipt of income and the payment of expenses, the Fund uses the prevailing exchange rate on the transaction date.

Net realized and unrealized gains and losses on foreign currency translation shown on the Fund's financial statements result from the sale of foreign currencies, currency gains or losses realized between the trade and settlement dates on securities transactions, and the difference between the amounts of dividends, interest, and foreign withholding taxes recorded on the Fund's books and the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts actually received or paid.

When calculating realized and unrealized gains or losses on investments in equity securities, the Fund does not separate the gain or loss attributable to changes in the foreign currency price of the security from the gain or loss attributable to the change in the U.S. dollar value of the foreign currency.

H. ESTIMATES

In preparing its financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States, management makes estimates and assumptions. Actual results may be different.

NOTE 5--FEDERAL INCOME TAX AND INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS

Edgar Filing: SWISS HELVETIA FUND INC - Form N-30D

At December 31, 2001, capital contributions, accumulated undistributed net investment income, and accumulated net realized gain/(loss) from investments and foreign currency transactions have been adjusted for current period permanent book/tax differences which arose principally from differing book/tax treatments of foreign currency transactions.

Undistributed NII	Undistributed Net Realized Gain/ Loss	Paid-in Capital
$2,326,637	$(2,326,637)	$--

At December 31, 2001, the net unrealized appreciation from investments for those securities having an excess of value over cost and net unrealized depreciation from investments for those securities having an excess of cost over value (based on cost for federal income tax purposes) was $142,272,884 and $1,645,345, respectively. The difference between book basis and tax-basis unrealized appreciation is attributable primarily to the tax deferral of losses on wash sales.

Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP.

Distributions during the year ended December 31, 2001 were characterized as follows for tax purposes:

Long-term capital gains	$7,360,963
-------------------------	-------------

At December 31, 2001, the components of distributable earnings on a tax basis were as follows:

Undistributed ordinary income	$1,695,514
Long-term capital gains	$344,779
Unrealized appreciation/(depreciation)	$140,627,539

The aggregate cost of purchases and proceeds from sales of investments, other than short-term obligations, for the year ended December 31, 2001, were $104,612,444 and $111,511,469, respectively.

NOTE 6--STOCK REPURCHASE PROGRAM

Pursuant to authorization by the Board of Directors, the Fund began open market purchases of its common stock on the New York Stock Exchange in 1999 and continued purchases in 2000 and 2001. The Board has authorized the purchase of up to one million shares in 2002. During the year ended December 31, 2001 the Fund repurchased and retired 463,600 shares at an average price of $13.39 per share (including broker commissions) and a weighted average discount of 17.81%. The total cost of these repurchases was $6,209,492.

Edgar Filing: SWISS HELVETIA FUND INC - Form N-30D

NOTE 7--LITIGATION

On April 2, 2001 and May 8, 2001 two complaints were filed in purported class actions on behalf of stockholders of the Fund in the Court of Chancery of the state of Delaware by individuals claiming to be Fund stockholders against the Fund, each of its Directors and Hottinger Capital Corp., the Fund's Investment Advisor (collectively, the "defendants"). The complaints in these cases, entitled Kimberly Kahn vs. Paul Hottinguer et al. and Charles Miller vs. Paul Hottinguer et al., allege that the defendants have: (A) breached fiduciary duties to stockholders and violated Section 109(a) of the Delaware General Corporation Law by adopting amendments to the Fund's Bylaws requiring a vote of 75% of the Fund's outstanding shares to alter, amend or repeal the Bylaws or to adopt other bylaws; (B) breached fiduciary duties to stockholders by adopting amendments to the Fund's Bylaws requiring nominees for election as directors to satisfy certain qualifications; and (C) breached fiduciary and contractual duties through the manner in which the Fund effected a capital gains distribution in December 2000. The complaints seek as relief among other things: (i) a declaration that the defendants have breached their fiduciary duties to stockholders and that the amendments to the Bylaws are null and void; (ii) an injunction in connection with any meeting of stockholders preventing the defendants from enforcing the Bylaw amendments; and (iii) certain unspecified damages. The defendants believe that the allegations relating to the Bylaws have been mooted by the board's decision to put those Bylaws to a vote of stockholders at the Fund's 2002 annual meeting and have moved to dismiss the capital gains distribution claims because they believe that they fail to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

THE PLAN

The Swiss Helvetia Fund's (the "Fund") Dividend Reinvestment Plan offers you a convenient way to invest your income dividends and capital gains distributions in additional shares of the Fund's common stock thereby increasing your holdings of the Fund's shares. Participation in the Plan does not alter the normal federal, state and local income tax consequences associated with income dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Plan is designed to allow all stockholders an opportunity to participate. Some of the Plan features are:

1. Dividend reinvestment automatically increases the number of shares you own.
2. Dividends and distributions are reinvested in additional shares at the lower of net asset value or market price.
3. Shares purchased through the Plan are recorded in your account providing protection against theft or destruction of share certificates.
4. You may terminate your Plan account at any time.

Not all brokerage firms holding shares in brokerage accounts permit participation in dividend reinvestment plans such as the Plan, and even if your brokerage firm does permit such participation, you may not be able to transfer such shares to another broker who does not permit such participation. You are encouraged to contact your brokerage firm to determine any restrictions upon participation.

HOW DO I ENROLL IN THE PLAN?

To participate in the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment Plan, please contact your broker or PFPC, Inc.

To start the Plan with a specific dividend, please forward the required form to your broker or PFPC 10 days prior to the record date for that dividend or distribution.

HOW DOES THE PLAN WORK?

When a dividend or distribution is declared, non-participants in the Plan will receive cash. Plan participants will receive the equivalent in shares of the Fund valued at the lower of the market price or net asset value as described below.

1. Whenever net asset value is equal to or less than market price by no more than 5% at the time of valuation, you will be issued shares at net asset value.
2. If the net asset value is less than 95% of the market price on the valuation date, you will be issued shares at 95% of the market price of shares.
3. If net asset value exceeds the market price of shares on the valuation date, PFPC, as agent for the participants, will buy shares on the open market on the New York Stock Exchange or elsewhere, for your account.

If, before PFPC has completed its purchase, the market price exceeds the net asset value of shares, the average per share purchase price paid by PFPC may exceed the net asset value of shares, resulting in the acquisition of fewer shares than if the dividend or distribution had been paid in shares issued by the Fund.

WILL THE ENTIRE AMOUNT OF MY DISTRIBUTION BE REINVESTED?

As a Plan participant, the entire amount of your distribution will be reinvested. For any balance that is insufficient to purchase a whole share, the amount will be credited to your account in fractional shares.

WILL STOCK CERTIFICATES BE ISSUED FOR TRANSACTIONS IN THE PLAN?

You will be issued a stock certificate upon request.

Edgar Filing: SWISS HELVETIA FUND INC - Form N-30D

IS THERE ANY CHARGE TO PARTICIPATE IN THE PLAN?

There is no charge to participants for reinvesting dividends or distributions. PFPC's fee for handling the reinvestment of dividends and distributions will be paid by the Fund. There will be no brokerage charge to stockholders for shares issued directly by the Fund as a result of dividends or distributions payable either in stock or cash. Each participant, however, will pay a pro rata share of brokerage commissions incurred with respect to PFPC's open market purchases in connection with the reinvestment of dividends or distributions.

HOW CAN I DISCONTINUE MY PARTICIPATION IN THE PLAN?

You may terminate your account under the Plan by notifying your broker or PFPC in writing. Upon termination, you will receive a certificate for the number of shares held in the Plan.

WHERE CAN I DIRECT MY QUESTIONS AND CORRESPONDENCE?
