Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

(a) On November 16, 2007, MannKind Corporation (the Company) entered into a Supply Agreement with N.V. Organon pursuant to which Organon will manufacture and supply specified quantities of recombinant human insulin to the Company. The initial term of the Supply Agreement will end on December 31, 2012 and will be automatically extended for consecutive two-year periods unless (i) the Company fails to provide to Organon at least 24 months before any automatic extension a forecast of its insulin requirements for the two-year extension period or (ii) either party provides 23-months advance written notice to the other party of its desire to terminate the agreement. The Company and Organon each have normal and customary termination rights, including (a) for material breach of the agreement by the other party, (b) due to the liquidation or bankruptcy of the other party or (c) upon 90-days advance written notice if the parties are unable to agree after mediation on the consequences of any changes to the product specifications required by any controlling regulatory authority. The Company may terminate the Supply Agreement upon 30-days advance written notice to Organon if certain regulatory authorities fail to approve or withdraw approval of the Company's insulin formulation. If the Company terminates the Supply Agreement following failure to obtain or maintain regulatory approval of its insulin formulation or either party terminates the agreement following the parties inability to agree after any regulatory authority-mandated changes to product specifications that relate specifically to the use of insulin in the Company's insulin formulation, the Company will be required to pay Organon a specified termination fee if Organon is unable to sell certain quantities of insulin to other parties.
