The revenue of the Deutsche Telekom Group increased by 5.7 percent, EUR 1.5 billion, compared with the same period last year to EUR 27.2 billion in the first half of 2003. The T-Mobile and T-Online divisions were the major contributors to revenue growth in the second quarter and the first half of 2003. Group revenue increased by 4.7 percent year-on-year to EUR 13.6 billion in the second quarter of 2003. The impact of the deconsolidation of the cable business, sold effective March 1, 2003, and the strength of the euro – against the U.S. dollar and the pound sterling in particular – which has the effect of reducing revenue figures when translated, should be taken into consideration.

Net income improved by EUR 5 billion year-on-year from approximately EUR –3.9 billion in the first half of 2002 to a positive EUR 1.1 billion, mainly as a consequence of favorable tax effects, recorded especially in the first quarter, as well as the improvement in results from ordinary business activities. Adjusted for the relevant special effects, in particular as a result of sales of interests, the adjustment of pension accruals, write-downs and tax effects, net income for the first half of 2003 amounted to EUR 275 million, as compared with a net loss of approximately EUR 3.1 billion in the same period last year.

Group EBITDA improved by 27.2 percent in the first half of 2003 to EUR 9.6 billion, compared with EUR 7.6 billion in the same period last year. Special factors amounting to a net total of around EUR 0.1 billion had a positive effect on EBITDA in the second quarter. These special factors were primarily a result of the income from the sale of financial assets (principally from T-Mobile's disposal of interests in MTS). This was offset by expenses from higher additions to pension accruals occasioned by changes in discount rates (additional minimum liability, AML), particularly at T-Com. Adjusted for the special factors listed above, and special influences from the first quarter of 2003, which amounted to EUR 0.4 billion (relating in particular to the sale of the remaining cable activities and Telecash), adjusted EBITDA improved year-on-year by 17 percent to EUR 9.1 billion. The adjusted EBITDA margin improved considerably from 30.1 percent to 33.3 percent at the same time. Group EBITDA in the second quarter of 2003 increased by almost 25 percent year-on-year to EUR 4.7 billion; adjusted for special influences, it increased by almost 16 percent to EUR 4.6 billion. Adjusted EBITDA also increased by approximately 2.7 percent compared with the first quarter of 2003 (EUR 4.5 billion).

Edgar Filing: DEUTSCHE TELEKOM AG - Form 6-K

Free cash flow before dividend amounted to EUR 4.0 billion in the first half of 2003, slightly more than 40 percent higher than in the first half of 2002 (EUR 2.8 billion). After dividend, free cash flow amounted to EUR 3.9 billion, compared with EUR 1.3 in the same period last year. Net debt decreased by around EUR 8.1 billion since December 31, 2002 to EUR 53.0 billion at June 30, 2003. With just half the year gone, therefore, the debt reduction target for the end of 2003 has almost been achieved.

Compared with EUR 64.3 billion at September 30, 2002, net debt has decreased by EUR 11.3 billion.

The Board of Management aims to reinstate the dividend for the 2004 financial year, payable in 2005.
