INVESTMENT OF CONTRIBUTIONS

The Delaware Large Cap Value Account SA #61, which currently invests in the Delaware Large Cap Value Fund (a registered investment company, or mutual fund), will be invested in the Delaware Value Fund (also a mutual fund) effective December 2, 2004.

The investment objective of the Delaware Value Fund is to seek long-term capital appreciation. The Fund invests primarily in large-capitalization companies that have long-term capital appreciation potential. The Fund's managers follows a value-oriented investment philosophy in selecting stocks using a research-intensive approach and considering such factors as:

- Security prices that reflect a market valuation that is judged to be below the estimated present or future value of the company;
- Favorable earnings growth prospects;
- Expected above-average return on equity and dividend yield;
- The financial condition of the issuer; and
- Various qualitative factors.

Before July 30, 2004, the Delaware Value Fund was named the Delaware Diversified Value Fund. The date of inception of the Delaware Diversified Value Fund was September 14, 1998. On July 30, 2004, the Delaware Value Fund's objective, strategy, and management changed. The new management team will continue to retain the Fund's large-cap value focus by investing primarily in investments of large-capitalization companies that they believe have long-term appreciation potential. The Fund will no longer seek current income as a secondary objective. Securities that they determine to no longer contribute to meeting the Fund's investment objective or to be inconsistent with the new team's investment strategies will be sold. This could result in significant turnover in the portfolio initially.

You do not need to make any changes to your account as a result of these changes. However, you may wish to review your allocations to ensure that this investment option fits your personal objectives, and make any changes that you think are necessary.
